24-Hour Orbital Quest Scheduled For Next April

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., a dedicated flier who handled the controls of a plane at the age of 6, will be the pilot for the next U.S. manned space flight—a 24-hour orbital mission scheduled for next April.

The 35-year-old Air Force major was named Tuesday to carry the banner on America's next big step toward its target of landing men on the moon in this decade. The full day flight will swing him 18 times around the globe, triple the six-orbit ride made last month by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Cooper, Wife Pleased
Informed of his selection while working at Cape Canaveral, Cooper said he was "very delighted that I have been chosen. I've been working toward this goal for a long time."

At their Houston, Tex., home, Cooper's wife, Trudy—whom he taught to fly soon after they were married—said she was happy and pleased with the choice.

She said Cooper called her from the Cape and broke the news shortly after their two daughters, Camala, 13, and Janita, 12, returned from school.

The astronaut's mother, Mrs. Leroy G. Cooper Sr., who lives near the tiny mountain town of Carbondale, Colo., reported she was very happy with the selection. Her husband, the spark behind Gordon's early flying interest, died two years ago.

Cooper, a native of Shawnee, Okla., is the only eligible member of the seven-man Mercury astronaut team who has not rocketed into space. He was backup pilot for Schirra's flight.

Alan B. Shepard Jr.—named Cooper's backup—blazed the trail with a 15-minute suborbital space flight.

India Acts to Finance War With Chinese

Parliament Asked For $199.5 Million To Fight Invasion

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government asked Parliament for more money today to fight the border war against Red China.

Finance Minister Morarji Desai submitted a request for an additional $199.5 million to meet increased defense costs caused by the Chinese invasion.

He put in the request as Prime Minister Nehru, 73 today, prepared to close a six-day debate in the lower house on a resolution dedicating the Indian people "to drive out the aggressor from the sacred soil of India, however long and hard the struggle may be."

The upper house gave overwhelming approval Tuesday to both the resolution and an accompanying authorization of a state of emergency.

Reds Mass on Border
Closing the debate in the upper house, Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said Red China had "flooded the entire border of India with soldiers."

He announced plans for expansion of the armed forces, with military training to be given every able-bodied man. Home guard units will be set up and village armed in border districts.

Only patrol activity was reported in the 3-mile-high wastes of Ladakh on the western front and from the jungled mountain slopes of India's northeast frontier. Both sides are building up, however, with expectations of more battles to come.

Chinese diplomats are leaving India for Peking. Some 24 Chinese officials and members of their families flew to Rangoon, Tuesday en route to the Chinese capital. Other Chinese left earlier and their consulates in Calcutta and Bombay are reported to have burned secret documents.

Nehru has said India will continue to have diplomatic relations with China as long as it is considered advantageous.

Union Feuding With NAACP on Rights Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are at loggerheads over how to handle racial discrimination in unions.

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO said Tuesday that his organization's Executive Council had decided it cannot work with the NAACP as long as the latter's labor secretary, Herbert Hill, continues filing discrimination suits against unions.

Meany said the AFL-CIO has suspended its financial contributions to the NAACP. "We want to work with them but we can't subscribe to the actions of the labor secretary," Meany said.

NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins replied from New York that while individual unions contribute to the NAACP, the AFL-CIO does not.

Adenauer, Kennedy Start Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP)—German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to the White House today for a ceremonial welcome and conferences with President Kennedy.

Kennedy reportedly wanted to sound Adenauer out on the possibility of new Western overtures for settlement of the troublesome Berlin issue. The impact of the Cuban crisis is a factor.

Adenauer made the short trip from Blair House, the U.S. guest house just across the street, in a black limousine with American and German flags on the fenders.

A band was playing and several hundred spectators waved a salute.

Tax Reduction Plan Periled by Probable $7.8 Billion Deficit

Proxmire Doubts Advisability Of Voting Cut Kennedy Requests

BY FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials are forecasting a federal budget deficit this year of $7.8 billion. This could be big enough, perhaps, to imperil President Kennedy's plans for a 1963 tax cut.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was one of the first Congress members to comment today on the official deficit estimate announced Tuesday by the Budget Bureau.

"Under the circumstances," he said, "it would be a serious mistake to give the President the tax cut which he indicated last summer he will ask when Congress resumes."

Reasons for Deficit

It may have been no accident that, just prior to the deficit announcement, it was reported that the administration was giving thought to a gradual tax reduction that would take effect in several steps over a period of one to two years. Such a plan would soften the immediate impact of lower taxes.

The Budget Bureau said several factors were responsible for dashing its dream of keeping out of the red in the current fiscal year that began July 1. It said:

The economy, by falling far short of earlier expectations, is cutting deeply into forecast revenues. Federal income now is expected to total $85.9 billion—down $7.1 billion from the estimate Kennedy provided when he sent the budget to Congress last January and predicted a $500 million surplus.

Record Spending

The administration's 1962 tax bill and the Treasury's July liberalization of tax depreciation both aimed at spurring business modernization, will account for $2 billion of the revenue loss.

Spending will jump to a peacetime high of $93.7 billion—up $1.2 billion from the January forecast because of $400 million more for interest charges on a bigger national debt and congressional changes in bills to boost postal rates and overhaul the farm program.

270 Parking Tickets Bring Long Jail Term

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sebastian Barone, 39, of Merchantville, N.J., accused of ignoring 270 parking tickets in two years, has been sentenced to 10 days in jail for each one. It adds up to 7½ years.

Magistrate Joseph Hersch sentenced Barone Tuesday after Barone indicated he would not pay the fine of $3,308. His lawyer said he would appeal the sentence—longest ever imposed in traffic court.

Soviet-Cuban Program Aims At Bargaining

Demands Termed 'Just Another Chess Game Move'

BY TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Some U.N. delegates assessed today new Soviet-Cuban demands, reported to include U.S. withdrawal from the base at Guantanamo, as a bargaining maneuver in negotiations to end the Cuban crisis.

"It is just another move in the chess game," said one diplomat. "Now the Russians will wait for the United States to make a move."

The United States was certain to reject the package presented to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant Tuesday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga.

Positions Clarified
U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson met for 3½ hours Tuesday night with Kuznetsov and said the talk was "constructive." He said it "served to identify and clarify the positions of both countries on the unresolved issues."

Kuznetsov presumably presented the new Soviet-Cuban proposal to Stevenson. The American delegate was believed to have countered with the main U.S. demands—that the Soviet Union withdraw its IL-28 jet bombers from Cuba and permit adequate verification that Soviet missile sites have been dismantled and all rockets and other offensive weapons sent back to the Soviet Union.

The new Soviet-Cuban proposal was reported based on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's five-point demand made on Oct. 28 for an end to the Cuban crisis.

Whether such a no-invasion pledge under those circumstances would apply only to the present Cuban crisis has never been explained publicly by the Kennedy administration. With Soviet jet bombers still in Cuba and with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro balking at any onsite U.N. verification on the removal of offensive weapons, the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement is still up in the air.

Johnson, who sat in on the Cuban strategy sessions at the White House as a member of the National Security Council, did not specifically mention the no-invasion pledge.

He did not indicate whether "the united action of free men" might apply to moves such as economic or political pressures.

The vice president said that the strong stand taken on Cuba by the United States has prevented the balance of power from being tipped against the free world.

"But at the same time," he said, "it would be fantasy and folly to suggest that the balance has been tipped decisively in our favor."

Johnson said that because Kennedy knows this, "that is why he has been unwilling to encourage Americans to celebrate as a victory this episode in a battle which still goes on—and will go on for much time to come."

Illinois Broker Convicted on 6 Counts of Fraud
ATLANTA (AP)—An Illinois broker has been convicted on six counts of mail fraud in a $1 million dollar operation to gain control of an Atlanta insurance firm.

Paul E. Temple, 50, of Evanston, Ill., was convicted Tuesday night after a U.S. District Court jury deliberated more than five hours. Judge Boyd Sloan delayed sentencing. Each count carries a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment.

The jury acquitted Temple's former secretary, Miss Eva Woodall, also of Evanston.

Temple, Miss Woodall and Roy E. Bishop of Northbrook, Ill., were indicted on charges of taking over the Georgia Casualty and Surety Co. by false pretenses and purchasing the majority stock with the company's own money.

No Bar to Unity Among Free People

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will never give any pledge fortifying communism against "the united action of free men, in this hemisphere or any other."

With the Cuban situation still unsettled and the possibility looming of new Soviet threats to Berlin, Johnson declared:

"In the future, as in the past, we must be, and we shall be, ready to meet force with force and to seek honorable peace with all others who seek honorable peace also."

The vice president said in a speech prepared for the American Petroleum Institute that while the crisis in Cuba is fading for the moment, "the elements of continuing danger remain, in the same precarious balance as before" in the cold war.

Then he said:

Americas to Stay Free
"The purpose of the United States remains unchanged toward this hemisphere: we intend that the Americas shall be free of communism, free of those who serve Communist masters and—through the joint efforts of the Alliance for Progress—free of the seeds from which communism grows."

"The United States has not—and we will never—enter any commitment by which Communist imperialism shall be fortified against the united action of free men, in this hemisphere or any other."

In an exchange of letters late last month when the Cuban crisis was at the boiling point, President Kennedy gave Soviet Premier Khrushchev "assurances against an invasion of Cuba" if the Russians would remove their offensive weapons from the island.

No Firm Decision
Whether such a no-invasion pledge under those circumstances would apply only to the present Cuban crisis has never been explained publicly by the Kennedy administration. With Soviet jet bombers still in Cuba and with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro balking at any onsite U.N. verification on the removal of offensive weapons, the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement is still up in the air.

Moscow-Peiping Breach Increasing

BY PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Several years ago an American guest at the Soviet embassy here was besieged by his Russian hosts with one question: "Why does not your government recognize the 'New China'?"

The "New China" was, of course, Communist China, and the American politely parried the question with innocuous replies until he became annoyed with the persistence of one Soviet official.

"Look," the American finally explained, "why don't you stop this 'New China' recognition line. One of these days you Russians will be rushing to the State Department and the White House, knocking on doors and pleading for a mutual security pact, lend lease, or what have you, to protect yourselves against your 'New China' comrades."

Expecting a rabid rebuttal, the American was surprised when the persistent Russian leaned back in his chair, smiled wanly and with a shrug, said, "Perhaps you are right"—and then promptly dropped the subject.

Events have not brought Soviet-Chinese relations to this point, and no responsible U.S. official believes that Moscow will cozy up to Washington because of a Peiping menace in the foreseeable future.

At the same time, the dispute between the two Communist Governments has become a major factor in the foreign policy of the United States.

'Hunting-Pak' Now Offered by Post-Crescent

The Post-Crescent announces a new service to its subscribers today in the form of "Hunting-Pak." Similar to "Vacation-Pak" offered during the summer months, the service is designed to accommodate subscribers who do not wish to have the trouble of stopping and starting delivery, nor lose the trend of the news and favorite daily features, while away on hunting trips.

Subscribers are urged to notify their neighborhood carriers of their desire to take advantage of the Hunting-Pak service. News-carriers will then save all Post-Crescent copies while they are away and deliver them—neatly wrapped—upon their return.

With the publication of the annual Christmas Opening Edition, Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, many subscribers are expected to avail themselves of the service, which is provided at no extra cost.

Ex-President Amazed
NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he was amazed when he learned that Alger Hiss was to be on an American Broadcasting Co. television program about Richard M. Nixon. But he says he did not ask that Hiss be cut off.

ABC executive James C. Hagerty backed up Eisenhower's assertion that he made no effort to obtain deletion of the Hiss portion of the program, which dealt with Nixon's political career.

Eisenhower said Tuesday in answer to questions that he telephoned Hagerty. White House press secretary under Eisenhower and now an American Broadcasting Co. vice president in charge of news, before the ABC program was aired last Sunday.

He said he wanted "to find out what it was all about," but did not ask Hagerty to eliminate Hiss from the taped program.

Eisenhower said he "expressed amazement" upon learning that Hiss—a convicted perjurer first exposed by Nixon—was among those interviewed on the program.

"But never in my life have I asked anybody not to report a story after they got it fully," Eisenhower said.

Guam Begins Task Of Clearing Debris

More Victims Expected to Be Uncovered

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Recovery teams began sifting through what appeared to be a massive junkyard on Guam today and said they expect to find more victims in the rubble left by Typhoon Karen.

Karen, officially described as the worst disaster in the history of this strategic American outpost in the western Pacific, damaged or destroyed nearly every civilian building on the island. Winds up to 174 miles an hour blasted the island for four hours Sunday night.

So far six Guamanians have been reported dead, at least 100 other natives and military men or dependents injured and damages estimated at more than $100 million.

Set Up Plan
Red Cross and civil defense officials have been set up to coordinate recovery. U.S. Dist. Judge Paul D. Shriver has been named as head of this effort.

Most of the wreckage is still unchecked. "When we finally get to cleaning up the mess we'll probably find more bodies," police officials said.

Acting Gov. Manuel Guerrero termed it a miracle that more did not die.

Most schools and businesses were closed. Male teachers were assigned to a security force to protect schools and property. Women teachers were ordered to work with the Red Cross and other recovery groups.

Temporary home repairs have begun, but most residents were still living in hospitals, churches and schools.

Water Short

Water was in short supply and being distributed at emergency pumping stations across the 32-mile-long island.

Guerrero told his people that help was coming but urged them to "do what you can yourselves. We must help ourselves first."

In Tokyo, meanwhile, weather forecasters said Karen was expected to pass some 150 miles to the south and east of U.S. controlled Okinawa Thursday night, Japan time.

Trust Territory Commissioner M. W. Goding has provided housing on nearby Saipan for families, and women and children were being sent there, he said.

Guerrero has asked the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service temporarily to relax entrance requirements to permit construction workers to come to Guam to begin rebuilding.

The Navy radar picket escort, Haverfield, was supplying emergency power. Half a million pounds of equipment, including ventilators, field kitchens and tents, were being airlifted by military planes from Hawaii.

At Pearl Harbor in Hawaii, Adm. John H. Sides, commander of the Pacific Fleet, ordered three more Navy ships to Guam. The cargo ship Winston, loaded with emergency supplies, was to leave Pearl Harbor today.

Welfare Unit To Emphasize Rehabilitation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rehabilitation programs were emphasized Tuesday as the Wisconsin Welfare Council closed its 81st annual two-day meeting by approving a list of legislative recommendations.

The subject of medical care programs was not included in proposals offered the 200 delegates for consideration by the legislative committee. A committee member said the group was unable to agree on a plan because there was not enough time to study all available proposals.

Recommendations approved by the delegates included more state support of vocational rehabilitation to take full advantage of available federal funds; the inclusion of physically handicapped in day care center programs that qualify for 40 per cent state reimbursement; rehabilitation training for unemployed youth; and state legislation to permit maximum use of federal funds for aid to families with dependent children. Meyer Bass of Milwaukee, director of the Jewish Community Center, was elected president of the council, succeeding Arthur P. Schmidt of Milwaukee.

Wilbur Walter, director of community services for the State AFL-CIO, was named vice president. Officers re-elected included T. C. Worthington, Manitowish secretary, and George Keith, Madison, treasurer.

Journey in May 1961. Virgil I. Grissom followed the same course. John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter made three-orbit flights earlier this year before Schirra went aloft.

The seventh Mercury pilot, Donald K. Slayton, has been grounded because of a heart flutter.

If all goes well, Cooper's 18-orbit mission may wind up the Mercury program. However, officials said there was a good possibility a second full day flight may be scheduled before the Gemini program starts in 1964.

9 New Astronauts
The two-man Gemini capsule boosted aloft by the Titan 2 rocket now being developed will remain in orbit for periods up to two weeks and active rendezvous missions with other orbiting satellites.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration recently named a group of nine new astronauts to join with the Mercury pilots in the Gemini program. Many of them will move on to the Apollo manned moon landing program.

The plan is to launch a three-man Apollo ship around the moon with a Saturn booster before 1970. Cooper's flight will provide further data on how man is affected by prolonged weightlessness and other space phenomena.

Military Gives Warning About Red Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military is warning its personnel going abroad about Communist spy techniques ranging from bugging the heel of a shoe to using infrared detectors to listen to conversations inside a room.

The advice is contained in briefings given service personnel, their dependents and contractors who plan to travel in or through Soviet bloc countries or attend symposiums, abroad or at home, where Communist scientists—and spies—may be present.

Regulations to carry out an order issued by the Defense Department are being distributed by the Air Force, Navy and Army.

The scope of Communist espionage activity is pointed to in the Air Force directive. It says that the Soviet bloc nations have 27 intelligence and security services employing an estimated 300,000 trained agents.

The Air Force says one may be certain that telephones in hotel rooms are tapped and that listening devices are planted in bars and restaurants or even automobiles used by tourists.

Up to His Helmet in water but careful to keep his weapon and pack dry, a South Viet Nam soldier struggled to regain his footing on a creek crossing during a major operation against the Communist Vietcong recently in the Darlac Plateau area. The Plateau is about 160 miles northeast of Saigon. The sortie was carried out in heavy rain and through thick jungles in an effort to root out Communist guerrillas. ### Visited Backstage

Red Envoy, President Laud Bolshoi Ballet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin sat on opposite sides of the theater Tuesday night but joined in a warm burst of approval for the visiting Bolshoi Ballet.

The Soviet diplomat acted as Kennedy's interpreter later in an intermission backstage visit in which the President praised the troupe.

Kennedy, who said he had seen the Bolshoi in Moscow in 1959, declared their performance was "better than ever."

While Dobrynin stayed to applaud to the end, Kennedy left after two of the four acts of the Tchaikovsky ballet "Swan Lake." Mrs. Kennedy, a ballet enthusiast, stayed in the mezzanine box through the 3½ hour performance. She wore a long white satin gown with a beaded black jacket.

Thanked Dancers
Kennedy also thanked the Bolshoi dancers backstage for providing his daughter, Caroline, with an unforgettable experience. She and her mother had gone to watch the dancers at an afternoon rehearsal.

The Russian dancers not only captivated Caroline "but all of us here this evening," Kennedy told the group in his backstage visit, with Dobrynin interpreting. The Russians applauded the President and First Lady. They gave the Kennedys Bolshoi mementoes and introduced their world-renowned former prima ballerina, Galina Ulanova.

Came From Party
The Kennedys had come from a White House dinner party with several of their guests, including Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall, who made a recent trip to the Soviet Union. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who recently entertained a Russian group here; and former ambassador to the Soviet Union Llewellyn Thompson.

American reporters were barred by Secret Service men and White House press aides from watching the backstage meeting. A relationship is recognized here as serious, deep and possibly irreparable as long as the present cast of leading characters, namely Nikita Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, remains in power.

Breach Grows Between China, Soviet Union

The rift has been aggravated by the undeclared war between Red China and India. Officials here are watching with fascination to see if Khrushchev makes good on his promise to deliver to India a dozen or more MIG-21 supersonic jet fighters, which would make a mockery of Moscow's professed support for its communist ally in Peking.

The most current American view of the Sino-Soviet rupture was given by Roger Hilsman, director of the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research, in a recent speech in Dallas.

Goals Not Changed

Of the dispute, Hilsman said "Compounded as it is by the ideological crossfire between Moscow and Peking, the Indian case has been second only to that of negotiations with the United States in its effects on the Sino-Soviet alliance."

Although acknowledging the depth and seriousness of the rift, Hilsman cautioned that the United States cannot take comfort from "feuds in the enemy camp" so long as both Communist partners adhere to the goal of world revolution and "see the United States as the greatest obstacle to the attainment of this goal."

Because of the frontier war between Red China and India, as well as the bitter Peking denunciation of Khrushchev's withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba, Hilsman thought it "too soon" to reach conclusions about the immediate future of Sino-Soviet relations.

However, other officials believe that Khrushchev's behavior in relations with the West conceivably might be conditioned by the dispute. But they are uniformly uncertain about whether it will drive him toward a tougher or a more conciliatory line.

Envoys Recalled

They note that Peking has called back its ambassadors in eastern Europe, presumably to consult about the widening divergence of views. The Bulgarian Communist party has been purged further of alleged Stalinist influences, which is not designed to placate the Chinese. The Albanians continue their strident attacks upon Khrushchev's leadership, which does not displease the Chinese.

If Moscow continues its aid program to India, including the porter from Tass, the Soviet news agency, was on hand.

Washington reporters got a theater briefing later from White House press aides who took notes backstage and then rode back to the White House with Kennedy to check them with the chief executive.

Ike Calls Tax Rate 'Drag on Economy'

Former President Calls for Overhaul to Increase Buying

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says present income tax rates are a drag on the economy and require an overhaul "to provide a wider purchasing power for all the people."

Eisenhower told the Economic Club of New York Tuesday night that, as a matter of fiscal prudence, any substantial lowering of taxes should be accompanied by commitments to hold constant or reduce federal spending in the next two years.

The former president shared the rostrum with Lucius D. Clay, former U.S. military governor of Germany, who said this country's arms quarantine of Cuba was effective while sparing the Cuban people from any further privations.

Economy Strong

In his talk, Eisenhower called the economy "fundamentally strong, needing only a reasonable encouragement by government and a renewed confidence in the future to resume its dynamic progress."

The present tax structure, he said, "was substantially devised in the depression and shaped further in war" and "is not suited to the 1960s." He said it "stifles incentives, impedes investments and has weakened our economy."

He said at a time when we should be gaining strength "tax modification 'should improve the ability of industry to modernize and keep modern plants, machinery and techniques'."

Furthermore, he said, the nation's tax structure "should improve the ability of industry to modernize and keep modern plants, machinery and techniques."

Industrial Setback

"Today visitors returning from communist China tell of smokeless chimneys at the factories constructed during the heyday of Sino-Soviet cooperation. Machinery stands uncared for in railroad yards. Broken equipment lies abandoned in factories that have become silent warehouses."

The Russians have "jeopardized the survival and security of their greatest ally," Hilsman said, and the Chinese Communists "have defied so important a source of military and economic assistance."

He suggested that the Chinese aim at nothing less than the leadership of the international Communist movement, even though it jeopardizes their own interests at this juncture. He further called the Communist rulers of China the "aging, megalomaniac leadership in Peking."

While the antagonisms between the two Red giants are deep seated, he said, the "reasons against an open break — both from ideological and political standpoint — are compelling."

end to all U.S. activities against his regime and U.S. withdrawal from Guantanamo. The five points apparently were worked over by Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, who has been in Havana since Nov. 2.

Informants said the Soviet-Cuban proposal dealt mainly with U.S. withdrawal from Guantanamo and included an end to the U.S. naval blockade of arms shipments and measures by the United States to prevent hostile activity against Cuba by exiles.

It also was said to call for firmer guarantees that the United States will not invade Cuba.

Kennedy's Pledge

President Kennedy made a no-invasion pledge contingent on the Soviet Union living up to Premier Khrushchev's promise to pull out all missiles and other offensive weapons under adequate verification.

The President has stressed that he considers the jet bombers offensive weapons.

The Soviet Union has balked at removing the jets, contending that they were turned over to Castro and are under his control.

Chances of lifting the blockade were remote following word from Geneva that the International Red Cross Committee had decided not to take part in inspection of Cuban-bound ships under present conditions.

18-Year-Old Drinking Law Not Effective

ALBANY N.Y. (AP) — A study on the drinking pattern of youths in three states suggests that the 18-year-old minimum purchasing alcoholic beverages has very little effect on teen-agers' drinking habits.

A New York legislative committee that is studying whether New York state should raise from 18 to 21 the legal age at which youths may purchase alcoholic beverages commissioned the survey. Drinking by youths in Wisconsin was part of the study.

The committee found that the incidence of drinking by young persons in New York was the same as in Wisconsin and Kansas.

The tenor of the survey was that the drinking patterns of youths were "a natural consequence of their parents' attitude" and that alcohol was not a prime cause of youthful misbehavior.

The publication, "Attitudes of High School Students Toward Alcoholic Beverages" was the principle source of information on teen-age drinking in Wisconsin. Its authors, J. L. Miller and R. Wahl, are connected with the Bureau of Economics, Sociology and Anthropology at the University of Wisconsin.

The report contended that youths in Wisconsin and Kansas drank as frequently as those in New York but that the New York youngsters drank larger amounts. However, the six-year-old Wisconsin study cited by the committee had reported that 64 per cent of Wisconsin teen-agers had used alcohol on non-religious occasions, while 86 per cent of New York youngsters had used it. The Kansas figure was still lower, 56 per cent, according to the 1956 study.

New York is the only state that allows sale of liquor to those 18. Wisconsin law permits sale of beer only to those between 18 and 21 and Kansas has a minimum of 21.

Prospects for Business Look Bright Today

Retail Sales Up,
Tax Cut Promise
Increase Optimism

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Rising retail sales and business profits and renewed promises of tax cuts brighten the business prospects today.

There's also the report of a slight increase in orders of manufactured goods and materials. And business firms appear to be beefing up their intentions of spending more money next year for more machinery and for some new plants.

The stock market even took on a cheerful tone as November got going.

No Boom

The optimists caution that these things don't add up to a new boom coming. But they're gleeful that he early summer fears of a recession by fall are proving groundless.

And even the pessimists now are saying that any letdown after the first of the year should be mild—a pause or breather rather than the start of a sharp downturn.

Much of this is based on the expectation that the new Congress will pass quickly a tax cut bill. For individuals this would mean more purchasing power. For corporations it would mean more net profits available either for dividends or for expanding plants or for expanding plants or operations.

Sales High

The record pace in auto sales in October boosted total retail sales to a new high for any month. New models pushed auto sales 8 per cent higher than in September. This sent total retail volume to almost $20.1 billion, in itself an 8 per cent increase over the year-before figure.

At the same time, a flood of corporate earnings reports gladdened many more stockholders than it saddened. While some companies slumped, the majority showed encouraging gains for both the three months and nine months periods ending September 30.

The average gain in net income after taxes in the July-September quarter over the previous three months was around 9 per cent. This came as a relief to many stockholders who had watched the squeeze on profits earlier in the year with foreboding. Most probably still hold that the gain wasn't large enough for a really healthy economy. But a number of increased dividends by large corporations in recent days has helped offset some cuts, especially among the steels.

And the outlook for profits in the current final quarter of 1962 is pretty good. Many feel that 1962 is sure to set a record total of corporate earnings. Management holds that considering increased production and sales, the profits total still will fall well short of what it should be.

Rising retail volume is viewed as indicating most consumers are still in a spending mood. And added to this, the government is expected to pour more dollars into the economy in coming months. That leaves the question of whether business itself will also raise its spending ante.

It put out about $37 billion for plants and improvements this year. The general expectation is that it will spend moderately more next year, partly to take advantage of new tax credits.

So the prospects as the mid point of the final quarter nears are far more cheerful than they were in early summer. There are plenty of problems ahead, but fewer bogeymen.

Milwaukee Voting Mess

Residents of Appleton, having had voting machines for many years, are entitled to look with some smugness upon the efforts being made by the Milwaukee election commission to straighten out the scrambled mess which has resulted from the use of paper ballots there.

Mrs. Eunice Niemi, secretary of the Milwaukee election commission, reported that 16 precincts of the first 150 examined out of a total of 706 precincts in the county showed errors in vote tabulation. It was too early, she said, to say whether such mistakes might affect the outcome of any contest. But it must be quite plain that the jumble is a great inconvenience to the city of Milwaukee and an annoyance to the Milwaukee voters.

Mrs. Niemi reported that in some cases a candidate was credited with more votes than were cast in the precinct. In other cases, she said the tally sheet marks, counted in "squares" of four vertical and one crossline for each five votes, did not correspond with the totals credited to the candidate. For example, there might be 60 votes in squares and 80 votes credited to the candidate. Election workers from certain precincts have been ordered to report to the election commission to recheck their work. The sealed ballot bags will be opened and all ballots recounted under the supervision of an election commissioner.

Mrs. Niemi explained that it was unusual to find so many mistakes but that does not alter the fact that the mistakes did occur and in a year when the election was exceptionally close for the office of governor. The answer to this problem of inaccurate vote counting is the voting machine.

We were happy to see our neighboring city of Green Bay approve the purchase of voting machines at the recent election. We'd like to see their use spread throughout the Fox River Valley. Maybe then Milwaukee, whose votes have become so important to general state results, would realize how backward their present system is.

Politics and the Press

Richard Nixon's outburst against the American press after his defeat in the California gubernatorial contest has a curious similarity to charges brought by Senator William Proxmire before the November election. The newspapers in Wisconsin, said Proxmire, had not played fair with Democratic candidate John Reynolds.

We are inclined to agree at this date that perhaps Reynolds' tax plan was not adequately presented; otherwise he would have lost the election. But the candidates cannot have it both ways. If both Republicans and Democrats wildly howl about the "one-party press," which party is it for?

Statistics indicate that newspapers probably have editorially supported more Republican than Democratic candidates although the ratio had definitely changed in recent years. But it does not seem to be editorial support or opposition which Nixon and Proxmire are criticizing. Proxmire, in fact, only three weeks ago told Wisconsin high school newspaper editors that newspaper endorsement didn't seem to be very important.

The implication that newspaper reporters slant political stories to benefit the candidates of their choice is in most cases ridiculous. What really happens in the controversial cases is that the reporter sees the candidate differently than the candidade wants to be seen. The best political reporters of course will make efforts not to let personal likes or dislikes show through into political articles. But the impression a candidate makes is something that cannot be swished away. The political point of view of a reporter should not and usually does not influence his writing. But the effect of a candidate is not only in the carefully and often ghost written prepared statements he makes to the press. Nor are these statements all the voting public wants or needs to guide his ballot.

As several newspaper columnists have pointed out, it was television rather than the press which defeated Nixon two years ago. It is likely that television influenced the voters in defeating Senator Wiley. And, conversely, John Reynolds' television campaign in the last two weeks of the campaign probably contributed heavily to his victory. The matter of getting across to the public a good "image" is an art in itself. A reporter, after all, is part of that public although we rather think he is more able than the ordinary citizen at getting through the frills to the issues.

A defeated candidate should look to himself to see why the public did not understand his political point of view. In spite of all the capable reporting on the issues, the voters often show a remarkable ability to ignore consistency. This is certainly discouraging but it can't be blamed upon the newspapers.

What Next for Mr. K?

Whether or not all the missiles have been removed from Cuba, it is being so publicized around the world. This retreat of Premier Khrushchev which has almost amounted to abject surrender must bring up the question as to how strong he still is with the inner powers of the Kremlin and how long he is destined to remain in control.

The Communist hierarchy has always been one of foment within. There was a tremendous amount of juggling, backstabbing and selling-out as Stalin dragged himself to power. The reports of his demise indicate that everything was not smooth. Since Khrushchev took over from Malenkov there have been a series of purges of varying importance. Beria was killed. Molotov was exiled and then brought back. Malenkov is silent. Several of the leading figures in Russia, such as Vyshinski and Stalin himself have fallen from official favor after their burial.

Certainly Khrushchev is not immune to this power struggle.

Since the Cuban affair, the Kremlin has worked hard to present Khrushchev to the world as a savior of peace by his withdrawal of the missiles. But it is doubtful that many Communists buy the story. It is even more doubtful that the members of the Politburo, with personal ambitions of their own, really think that Khrushchev has come out ahead in the affair.

The unpublished letter from Khrushchev, which President Kennedy has labeled top secret, is reported to have been almost hysterical in tone and frantic in its appeal for peace. This is not the epistle of a strong, confident leader, sure enough of himself to be able to back down when too far extended. But it is a sign that Khrushchev actually feared the might of a wrathful United States more than he did the underlings in the Kremlin. He has been careful over the years to hold back the too ambitious who would threaten his power. But will this influence last?

Part of the pressure assuredly will come from the leaders in Red China who loudly denounce the "peaceful" motives of the Soviet Union. They must have their advocates in Moscow who would enjoy tumbling Khrushchev from his pinnacle.

In a way the free nations are now faced with a dilemma. If we make Mr. K look too bad we are risking getting someone a lot worse. If we hold back in pressing our present advantage we may lose the initiative again. Either way the temporary gain would be to the Communists in the threat to both liberty and peace.

But whatever the problems that now confront the West, those ahead for Khrushchev are even more momentous. He must in some way modify the disillusion felt by the neutral nations, convince the satellite leaders that he won't let them down, brazen it out with forceful leaders at home and still appease the United States by getting out of Cuba.

Sales Tax Licked Kuehn; Feels Vote Was Mandate

Editor, Post Crescent,

Upon reading your editorial, Thurs., Nov. 8, about the Wisconsin election outcome, I can't help but wonder how or why you can honestly make these statements.

Before the elections you stated that if Philip Kuehn were elected it would be a public endorsement of a sales tax. Didn't seem to be any question as to how large the plurality would have to be to qualify such a statement at that time. Now that Kuehn has made his bid to help us poor working souls, with his sales tax proposals, and lost, you now choose to claim this was not a voters' mandate. You base your claim on such feeble grounds as the number of votes by which Mr. Kuehn lost.

You also state that other elected Republicans can consider their margin of victory a mandate for a sales tax.

How can you or any one else really believe that the voters want a sales tax and yet have the only real sales tax promoter beaten at the polls?

You can hem and haw all you please about the other Republicans who voted for a sales tax and still won out at the polls, but the fact remains that the majority of the people, who believed it their duty to steer our floundering and confused representatives, do not want your or Philip Kuehn's tax proposals.

I would also like to know, was it your newspaper or some over zealous Kuehn committee which made the obvious error in the last desperate attempt to garner the gullible voters ballot? In the main section of the Appleton Post-Crescent a political advertisement stated that under Kuehn's tax proposal it would cost $29.00 for a $3,000 income, with a typical family of four, versus a Reynolds' tax of $55.00 for the same given circumstances. In the Twin City section it stated that these same dependents and income would cost $29.75 under Kuehn and $83.00 under Reynolds. Or did someone perchance decide the Twin City area needed more drastic measures to convince them to vote against their benefactors?

I agree whole heartedly with your previous editorials to the extent Reynolds was not the best candidate. It was and still is my contention, the only reason Reynolds is our governor-elect is because he did not promise us a sales tax, even though he didn't promise us much else either.

Missiles in Cuba and Turkey Are Different

Editor, Post-Crescent

Dear Sir:

This is in reply to the student comparing our rockets in Turkey and Soviet rockets in Cuba who stated, "I see no difference in the two."

The difference is not in the rockets; the difference is in intent.

It seems to me the difference is similar to that between an armed policeman openly standing watch outside the home of a suspected murderer compared to a suspected murderer sneaking up on the policeman's home.

Since the Communists have world domination as a goal and a leader who has said he will bury us, I think the suspected murderer analogy is fair.

On the other hand, our country has made many attempts for international control of atomic weapons, even back in the days when we were the only ones with these weapons. Since many of the smaller nations look to us for protection, the analogy of a policeman seems reasonable.

There is a difference between belligerency and self-preservation.

If you discovered someone sneaking upon you with a loaded gun, steps for self-preservation should be taken before the muzzle is pressed to your forehead. The time for action in self-preservation is before the situation is hopeless. How much closer would anyone want a loaded gun considering the record of the communists?

Sincerely,
A Reader

Organized Labor Can Boast of Important Role in '62 Election

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Organized labor has a right to crow on the basis of the Wisconsin elections last week, as it never had a right before.

In financial contributions, in manpower and in the other practical aspects of modern political life, the big labor organization made a more solid and crucial contribution than did any other force in state politics this fall.

Gov. Nelson has been a favorite of some of the key men of the larger Wisconsin labor organizations since he started his career. The fact that they early backed him was generally expected. But labor had some doubts—and it became a very poorly kept secret—about the rest of the Democratic ticket this year. Only a fortnight before the election Chairman Lucey of the party organization and Attorney General John Reynolds met with some of the ranking brass of the unions in Milwaukee to put their cards on the table. At the time it wasn't clear whether the labor leaders were convinced. But the last moment rash of publicity for Reynolds and his anti-sales tax theme told the story.

The final phase of the campaign budget without which Lucey and Reynolds feared their cause might be lost was managed—and they won the closest gubernatorial election in nearly a century.

QUID PRO QUO?

The Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce in a gloomy analysis of the election asks rhetorically, in connection with the union involvement in the bitterly contested election: What is the quid pro quo?

What will the unions get, or demand, on the basis of their delivery of the victory margin for Reynolds at the capitol? Will they want new labor legislation? The question cannot be answered quickly, or in simple terms.

The jurisdiction of the state government in labor-management relations is now so dim, and so slight, that there is little real prospect for any substantive changes in the state labor code—even in the unlikely event that

Reynolds' Republican-dominated legislature would consent. The objective of the modern labor leader, in partisan politics, is more sophisticated. He is more interested in congressmen than in state capitol officers. But he knows that congressmen can be elected only if there is a thriving state political organization to produce them and to elect them. The governorship is the power focus of state politics.

He is interested in friendly administrators of state departments, such as the industrial commission, the insurance commission, and many others. He is interested in the manning of courts. The governor picks nearly as many judges as do the people at the ballot box.

NELSON

The most important of the immediate results of the elections, from the perspective of the professional union man, was the election of Gaylord Nelson to the senate. Nelson will be a liberal, in the definition of the labor political leadership.

In the longer range, the most important result was the proof that the Democrats are now a major party. The elections of Proxmire and Nelson earlier might have been flukes. The election of Reynolds was not. Ultimately the control of the state executive office will help to strengthen the party, if only to persuade sympathizers in those districts where it has had such gloomy prospects that it cannot recruit local and legislative tickets. If John Reynolds had won last year the legislative reapportionment law he wanted, there is a very good chance that the Wisconsin assembly today would have a majority of Democrats, for example.

Continued success—as demonstrated in three successive gubernatorial elections—will broaden the base of the party and give it more vote power permanently. Middle class, suburban, even some of the upper professional and business groups, may lose some of their affection for the Republicans. Some such movements are already visible. One Milwaukee surgeon's wife told Gov. Nelson she had organized 800 volunteers to distribute his campaign literature this fall. She is not likely to retire from the battle, after such an exciting experience.

Strictly Personal

Steinbeck Is Last of 'Self-Made' Writers

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When John Steinbeck was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature this year, his award probably marked the end of an era in American writing. Steinbeck is about the last of the "self-made" writers.

After being graduated from high school in Salinas, Calif., Steinbeck spent a year or so at Stanford and then left to go into newspaper work. With the exception of Sinclair Lewis, who received a degree from Yale (and then also joined a newspaper staff), most of the older generation of writers did not have the dubious benefits of a college education.

Ernest Hemingway left school to become a cub reporter; he had no college training at all. William Faulkner spent less than two years at the University of Mississippi, and then quit. Eugene O'Neill took a year at Princeton, and left hastily. All these men were Nobel Prize winners.

In the generation of the 1920s and 30s, such preeminent writers as Sherwood Anderson, H. L. Mencken, Carl Sandburg and Ring Lardner were utterly divorced from the academic community—indeed, much of their literary satire and scorn were heaped upon the American colleges and universities in those decades.

Today, all this has changed. Not only do the bulk of writers take their degrees (and often go on to graduate work), but most of them continue to be associated with colleges as lecturers, instructors, or "poets-in-residence." From year to year, they travel the academic circuit, generously subsidized for the prestige of the university.

It is still too early to tell how this new relationship will affect the output and the quality of their creative work. The old class of professional writers was independent, irreverent, and sometimes militantly anti-intellectual. Heresy was their stock-in-trade.

The new breed has been quietly domesticated; they lecture, they preside at seminars, they patiently participate in writers' "workshops." They lunch with the dean, dine with the president, and parade before the trustees on ceremonial occasions.

Creative writers should, of course be the critics of their society: when they become a part of the Establishment, is it moot whether they have gained more than they have lost. Certainly, a university should harbor talents; but does a talent do best in a harbor or on the open seas?

Steinbeck and his immediate predecessors lived their professional lives on the open seas; like the buffalo and the whooping crane, they are a vanishing species on the American scene. The organization man is now grazing peacefully even in the groves of Academe.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Several states will have election recounts. A recount is democracy's way of proving that election officials are often honest—and always lousy at arithmetic.

Sen. Goldwater says George Romney has no "political philosophy." The Rambler Man flunked Barry's course in logic by failing to be elected Governor of Michigan by a minority vote.

Pat Brown invited JFK to visit California. He'll go. In fact, considering the New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan returns, he'd be smart to move the whole '64 campaign out there.

Nixon raps the press as unfair. He's a remarkable fellow—not many politicians could work up a boiling rage the day after the voters put them in permanent cold storage.

Facetious Prescription for Motor

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Nov. 15, 1962

Our Motor friends are not the philosophers we took them to be. Instead of "coming down" neatly as most of their contemporaries have at the decisive victories gained by the Loyal and Constitution-abiding Democracy, they pitch in fearfully, calling naughty names, throw mud and have succeeded in covering themselves with it.

The only consolation we can offer is for them to take a Soidlitz Powder, wrap themselves in a copy of the New York Tribune and see if that won't take the bile from their stomachs.

Three Found Guilty In Trial for Theft

Appleton Judge Hears No Contest Plea From Men Charged With Taking $6,000

Trial of three men charged with the theft of $6,000 from an Appleton home July 4 came to an anticipated halt late Tuesday when the three men pleaded no contest and were found guilty of one count of theft by County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

A burglary charge against Richard Hahn, John Hall and Duane Katke, all 21, was dropped by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer after a conference with the three men's four attorneys.

Judge Dohr ordered a presentence investigation and sentencing for Nov. 27. He continued bonds of $10,000 each and the men were returned to the Outagamie County jail where they had been held since July.

Schaefer had called only three witnesses to the stand before the defendants entered their change of pleas. Testifying before the 12-man jury were Mrs. Duane Katke, wife of one of the defendants, Mrs. Gordon Keefer, a domestic servant who saw one of the defendants in the neighborhood of the Reinhardt Sabee home July 4, and Mrs. Reinhardt Sabee, 728 S. Summit St.

New School Annex in Use

Eighth Grade Pupils In Kaukauna Move Into $256,000 Unit

KAUKAUNA — Eighth grade students from St. Mary Catholic School moved into the $256,000 annex to the school on Main Avenue Monday, alleviating crowded conditions at the older building on Main Avenue and Seventh Street.

Plans call for seventh graders to move into the annex for the 1963-64 school year. Students currently occupy three completed rooms. Next year three additional rooms will be ready for use.

Eventually this school will be part of a third Catholic parish in the community and will be the center of a 3-unit complex including a convent, rectory and church. For this purpose the Green Bay diocese has secured about nine acres of land bordered by Ann Street, Main Avenue and Hendricks Avenue.

Possible Expansion

The 2-story structure is designed to permit expansion to 24 rooms. Overall dimensions are 62 by 279 feet and general contractor is the Chas. Gambsky Co., Inc., Menasha. Architect is Sylvester Schmidt, Two Rivers.

St. Aloysius is the name assigned for the new parish which will not begin to organize until Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona appoints a priest and sets up boundaries for the parish. Until established, the school will be operated by St. Mary parish.

Attic Theatre to Hold Talent Search Program For Booking Service

A "Talent Night," at which aspiring performers may plan and discuss acts to be presented under auspices of the Attic Theatre Booking Service, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Attic in a Basement, 123 S. Appleton St.

Joan Fisher, booking service manager, said any person interested in creating an act to be booked through the service is invited to attend the meeting.

The Booking Service was formed by Attic Theatre last year to schedule performances by Attic members before Fox Cities clubs and organizations.

Windows Shot Out Of Hunting Shack

A deer shack which was built by John Kaphingst, 120 N. Story St., Appleton, near Deer Creek, was damaged by vandals during the last three weeks, the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department was told Tuesday.

Kaphingst said the windows were shot out, the window frames ripped and extensive damage was done to the shack's interior.

Save on Taxes Now By Helping Parents

BY SYLVIA PORTER

From coast to coast, hundreds of thousands of you are contributing to the support of your parents who are 65 or over — and it's more than likely that most of you are WASTING the tax-savings value of your contributions, particularly if your over-65 parents have medical expenses. Here, therefore, is an important year-end medical expense guideline for you.

You can deduct every dollar of medical expense you pay for a parent who is 65 or over from your income tax as long as you contribute more than half of your parent's support during the year. You need not waste a penny of the medical expenses you pay for them because of the general rule that medical expenses are deductible only in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income. This holds even if your parent doesn't qualify as a dependent because he or she has made $600 or more of gross income during the year.

So, instead of giving your parent cash and letting him pay his medical expenses, why not pay his medical bills directly so you can deduct on your return this contribution to him and save taxes?

Get Deduction

Just to illustrate, say your 65-year-old father has had $700 of dividend and interest income this year and he needs $1,000 for dental work in coming weeks for which you expect to give him the money. If you give him the cash, you will get no deduction at all, and he will have a medical expense deduction that won't save him any taxes for him either. But if, instead, you pay the $1,000 directly to the dentist for your father's dental work, you still will be contributing more than half your father's total support of $1,700 for the year and you'll be entitled to deduct the total $1,000 as a medical expense on your own return.

If your own adjusted gross income this year is $10,000, you normally would have to waste up to to 3 per cent of that, or $300 of your own medical expenses, before you could deduct a single penny. But you don't waste a cent of what you pay for your father, because the 3 per cent rule doesn't apply to medical expenses paid for him. However, the rule on drugs and medicines — that the cost of them can be included in medical expenses only above 1 per cent of adjusted gross income — does apply to him. So any drugs or medicines you buy for him are a deduction on your return only to the extent that the costs top 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

If you are claiming a dependency deduction for your parents who are receiving social security, check this rule so you don't get fouled up on your deductions for 1962.

You must contribute more than half the total support during the year for each parent you claim as a dependent. While the social security payments your parents receive are not taxable income to them, they do count as part of the total support.

In countless thousands of instances, these social security payments are based entirely on your father's past work. And your mother isn't old enough to raise your father's payment. The Treasury says that in this case the social security is support for your father, unless it can be shown the money was not spent for his support.

Treasury Wrong

For instance, suppose your father and mother have no income other than $720 a year from social security entirely attributable to him. You also contribute $850 to their support; so their total support is $1,570, of which half — $785 — is considered to be spent for and he will have a medical expense deduction that won't save him any taxes for him either. But if, instead, you pay the $1,000 directly to the dentist for your father's dental work, you still will be contributing more than half your father's total support of $1,700 for the year and you'll be entitled to deduct the total $1,000 as a medical expense on your own return.

This year the Tax Court ruled the Treasury is wrong. It said that if the $1,750 is to be divided equally between your parents, or $785 for each, then your $850 contribution also should be divided equally between them, or $425 for each, and therefore, since you have given more than half of the dependents and achieving significant support for each, you can claim tax savings, although you'll claim both as dependents. You now have your precedent on this for claiming both your parents as

Drivers Escape Head-on Crash Without Injury

CHILTON — Two motorists escaped from a head-on collision on State 115-U S 10 a mile east of Waverly Corners about 3.50 p.m. Monday.

Roy S. Ahl, 28, 720A E. Parkway Ave., Oshkosh, and Donald J. Burroughs, 19, 1148 Manitowoc Rd., Menasha, Ahl told Calumet County police he was eastbound and saw two cars approaching. The second car, driven by Burroughs, crossed over the center line causing the collision, he said. Burroughs explained that the car ahead of him slowed suddenly to make a right turn and he lost control of his car when he skidded while avoiding a rear-end collision with the car ahead. Both cars ended up in the south ditch. Damage was estimated at $600.

President Paints Himself in Corner

Getting Out of It Will Require All of Kennedy's Political Skill

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has painted himself into a corner with election campaigning for a big Democratic Congress. Getting out of it these next two years will require all his political skill.

Since he has plenty of that, the burden on him won't be unbearable and, win or lose with Congress, the result shouldn't interfere with his trying for the White House again in 1964.

But it will be interesting to see how he handles Congress with the presidential race coming up and the need for accomplishments intensifying.

In the past two years his has been a policy of be-nice-to-everybody, including even those Democrats and Republicans in Congress who did the most to frustrate him and his programs, like medical care for the aged.

Get Tough

It's possible, feeling the need for a better showing, he'll switch and get tough. But it isn't likely, if only because of the presidential race when he may feel he needs every vote from every section.

In the recent campaign he pleaded for the election of more Democrats to Congress to help him make good in the next two years on programs he couldn't make good on in the past two because his Democratic-run Congress blocked him.

It was an amazing political ploy to see a President saying he needed more people from his own party in a Congress where in sheer numbers people from his own party already drowned the Republicans.

What he really was asking for was more Democrats to offset those Democrats who teamed up in 1964 as he did this year: It was a tremendous Congress, one in which he was mainly of the Southern Democrats.

The voters gave him four more years, as he seems certain to, he Democrats in the Senate, making will be out campaigning for even the party's majority there 68-32, more Democrats in Congress or better than two to one over the Republicans, although in the House the Republicans picked up two seats.

No Significant Those two seats have practically no significance in changing the already heavily conservative mood of the House since the Democrats there will outnumber the Republicans 259-176.

These small changes in the makeup of the two houses actually can be considered a Kennedy victory since the minority party in an off-year election like this traditionally makes solid gains but this year didn't.

Therefore, through this triumph over tradition, Kennedy should be expected to deliver on a number of programs, particularly since he has overwhelming numbers of Democrats to help him.

But anything so nebulous as victory over tradition melts when placed against the hot arithmetic of politics.

Coalition Rules Despite the huge Democratic majorities in both houses, some of the programs Kennedy talked most about, like medical care, were slaughtered by a combination of conservative Democrats and Republicans.

The complexion of Congress hasn't been changed enough by the Nov. 6 elections to make the outlook for his pet programs any more optimistic.

Nevertheless, Kennedy campaigned, he won a victory over tradition and now it's up to him to perform.

If he gets slaughtered again on some of his major programs, but manages to get through a moderate amount of more or less usual legislation, he probably will say those Democrats who teamed up in 1964 as he did this year: It was a tremendous Congress, one in which he was mainly of the Southern Democrats.

And when he runs for re-election, as he seems certain to, he Democrats in the Senate, making will be out campaigning for even the party's majority there 68-32, more Democrats in Congress

VanderKelen Chosen By Associated Press As 'Back of the Week'

Honored for His All-Around Play Against Wildcats

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's Ron VanderKelen, a quarterback who grabbed a last chance and turned it into a wild football success, said after his selection as Associated Press back of the Week that he has two goals.

They are, in order, a victory over Illinois and a victory over Minnesota.

About his selection announced Tuesday, he said, "I've had a lot of good help."

Truce Reached By AAU, NCAA After Talks

Attorney General's Personal Appeal Helps Form Coalition

NEW YORK (AP) — The AAU and NCAA, at each other's throats for the past 2½ years in a bitter war of words and actions over control of amateur sports in the United States, were wedded in an uneasy coalition today.

The truce, reached Tuesday night after two days of intensive negotiations and a personal appeal from Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, will hold until after the 1964 Olympics.

"But," said one high official, connected with the parley, "we hope it will naturally evolve into something permanent."

No details were announced but The Associated Press learned that the agreement provides:

1. The NCAA-backed United States Track and Field Federation would be limited to educational institutions.
2. The AAU will remain the sanctioning agent in all international competition.
3. The coalition will rule international open competition in the United States.

College Competition

On the surface, it would appear that the AAU has fought off the NCAA challenge successfully. The AAU never has been particularly interested in college competition, and, as a matter of fact, does not require collegiate meets to get its sanction.

The Federation, on the other hand, had demanded sanctioning authority along with the AAU. This, the AAU maintained, was against the rules of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the governing body of world track and field.

Neither Walt Byers, chief NCAA negotiator, nor Col. Don Hull, who headed the AAU group, would make any comment. Only a formal statement, read by United States Olympic Committee President Tug Wilson was released.

"Preliminary agreement has been reached by the parties involved to set up a track and field coalition embracing all qualified organizations. The proposal is subject to ratification by the organizations involved. All these organizations will proceed with their programs which will be coordinated under the proposed coalition."

Both the NCAA and AAU must vote on the agreement.

Serious Point

Things had gotten to such a serious point that the NCAA was threatening to forbid college athletes to compete in AAU meets. The AAU, for its part, had warned

CHICAGO (AP)—The Women's Western Golf Association announced Tuesday the awarding of two tournaments, including the Western Open, which will be played at Maple Bluff Country Club in Madison, Wis., June 20-23.

The WPGA's second major meet, the Western Amateur, was awarded to the Broadmoor Country Club, Colorado Springs, Colo., July 8-13.

Gifford Makes Strong Comeback as Flanker

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Gifford is making a comeback of the year effort as a flanker back with the New York Giants after a season as a scout.

Coach Allie Sherman even let Gifford run a couple of plays Sunday from the flanker position. He could have walked into the end zone on a 6-yard touchdown play after taking a reverse from Alex Webster for the first score of a 41-10 romp at Dallas.

"I got a boot out of it," Gifford said Tuesday in the Giants' dressing room at Yankee Stadium. "I wish it had been that easy all the time when I was a running back."

Trouble at First

Doesn't an old running back who spent nine years with the Giants at left halfback get an urge to carry the ball?

"Sure, I get the itch to run," he said. "But that's up to Allie. In his judgment I am more valuable as a pass receiver."

Gifford admitted he had trouble

Sheboygan South has received a rarely-seen unanimous endorsement as the Fox River Valley Conference basketball team most likely to succeed in 1962-3.

The Redmen, who shared last season's title with Manitowoc, have been selected by the Valley Sportswriters' Association to take the honors outright this time.

South, coached by the veteran Carl Huebner, has six lettermen — including three regulars — back from last season's team.

Manitowoc nosed out Oshkosh as the team considered best able to give South a run for the championship. The Ships received five second-place votes and three thirds. OHS drew three second-place ballots, four thirds and one fourth. Green Bay West (one third, five fourths and two fifths) is the writers' choice to round out the first division.

Picked for Fifth

The writers expect Appleton's rebuilding program to produce a team that will top the second division. The Terrors polled two fourth-place votes and six for fifth. The remaining three teams divided all the sixth, seventh and eighth place votes, with Sheboygan North, Fond du Lac and Green Bay East pegged as finishing close together in approximately that order.

The outlook, in brief, for each of the teams:

SOUTH — The returning regulars are 6-2 John Cinealis, 5-9 Gary Kampman and 6-1 Tony Kaibord. The other lettermen are 6-2 Tom Nick, 5-10 Tony Baranuck and 5-8 John Wieman. Nick is considered the best bet to take up some of the scoring slack caused by the graduation of Frank Rimkus and Rick Kroos. The top prospects from last season's junior varsity team (9-5 record) are Mark Simon, 6-0 Roy Griessmeyer, 6-2 Jack Fessler and 5-10 Denny Dupler.

MANITOWOC — Although Coach John Jung lost all of his starters, the 6-4 Bob Duval and 5-10 Bill Buchholz played enough last year to be considered alternate regulars. Other lettermen back from the team that won 18 of 22 games last season are 6-4 Greg Sands, 5-10 Dean Eisner, 6-0 John Neillitz and 5-8 Dale Lehman. Gary Tomchek (5-11) and Dave Anderson (6-0) are other Varsity returnees. Other prospects who figure to give Manty some of the conference's best depth are 6-4 Bill Buerstette, 6-2½ John Lallen-sack and Bob Sullivan and Dave Jansson.

OSHKOSH — The Don Erickson-coached Indians are blessed with two of the three highest returning scorers in the league, Roger Beck, 6-3 all-conference choice, was No. 2 point-maker in

New Contracts Eyed

Foxes and 8 Other Teams 'Set' for 1963 ML Season

Nine clubs, including the Fox Cities Foxes, are set to continue playing in the Midwest League providing new major-league contracts are approved at baseball's winter meetings.

Bob Willis, Foxes general manager, reports that only the homeless Dodgers (who formerly played out of Keokuk) alone of the 1962 alignment of teams is not set for the '63 season. The league meeting was held in Davenport.

A new financial arrangement with the majors would mean something like $5,000-$6,000 in increased help for each minor league club, according to Willis.

Burlington Switches

All the working agreements probably will be the same in '63, with the exception of Burlington, which is switching from Pittsburgh to Kansas City. The league is also exploring the possibility of admitting Wisconsin Rapids. Des Moines and Mason City, according to Willis. Several minor league clubs have expressed an interest in gaining working agreements in the ML.

League President "Dutch" Hoffman appointed Davenport's Jim Gruenwald and Cedar Rapids' Frank Papp to look into the possibility of admitting more Iowa cities, while Willis was named to explore the same prospects in Wisconsin.

The league, which would switch from a D to an A status under reclassification, voted to change its rookie rule. It will be compulsory to carry only six rookies instead of eight.

The league tentatively set April 28 as the season opening date.

Directors will meet again in Rochester, N.Y., during the winter meetings which begins Nov. 26. The next league meeting is slated for Jan. 13 in Cedar Rapids.

Ron Miller Starts Sunday For Rams

Arnett Moved To End as Part Of Realignment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The new coach of the Los Angeles Rams, Harland Svare, has decided that sweeping changes in the offensive lineup might improve the team's 1-8 record in the National Football League.

So when the Rams face the San Francisco 49ers here Sunday, Svare will use:

Ron Miller, Wisconsin rookie, at quarterback for the veteran Zeke Bratkowski;

Jon Arnett, regular left halfback, at left end in place of Carroll Dale, (a move designed to strengthen the Ram passing game and get the good open-field runner Arnett into the open);

Rookie Art Perkins, who has been warming the bench, at fullback in place of Dick Bass, the team's best ground gainer, who takes over Arnett's left halfback job;

Middlebacker Les Richter, defensive captain and assistant coach at center in place of Larry Yahes.

The right side of the Ram line, on the attack, will consist of guard Joe Scibelli, tackle Frank Varrichione and end Jim Phillips. The Ram defensive unit remains intact. It has played well all season.

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Jorge (Baby) Salazar, 117½, San Francisco, stopped Joey Castiglione, 118, San Jose, 7.

SAN ANTONIO—Evaristo Salinas, 115, Mexico, outpointed Huberto Barrera, 120, Robstown, Tex., 10.

Ernie Davis Will Not See Any Action This Year

CLEVELAND (AP) — In what apparently was the last word on the Ernie Davis situation for this season, coach Paul Brown stated Tuesday night that the talented rookie will not be activated by the Cleveland Browns in 1962.

Brown gave the negative answer when asked on his radio program whether Davis, who was hit by leukemia before the professional football season started, will be activated this season.

Davis has been working out with the team since last month when doctors reported that the disease was in a perfect state of remission, a development that is not uncommon in leukemia cases. It means there is presently no trace of the disease in his blood.

The husky halfback, who was an All-America choice while at Syracuse, says he feels good and is anxious to play. He has been running and doing calisthenics at League Park, where the Browns hold their workouts.

McGee Climbs To Ninth in Pass Receiving

GREEN BAY (AP)—Green Bay Packer fullback Jim Taylor ranks today as one of the top offensive weapons in the National Football League, holding first place among the rushing leaders and the top spot among the scorers.

Taylor had one of his better days of the season last Sunday, crashing for 141 yards and four touchdowns as the undefeated Packers won their ninth straight game by smashing the Philadelphia Eagles 49-0.

After looking at statistics for the game, Taylor said, in somewhat of an understatement, "Offensively, this had to be one of our better games."

Taylor carried the ball 25 times, and ran his rushing total for the season to 1,075 yards. He's averaged 6.1 yards a carry and his longest romp has been 51 yards.

Hornung Fifth

Taylor's four touchdowns, for the second Sunday in a row, gave him 84 points on 14 touchdowns. League statistics announced today in New York show he is a dozen points ahead of second-place Frank Clarke of the Dallas Cowboys.

Packer halfback Paul Hornung, the league scoring leader for the last three seasons, saw brief duty Sunday after a month-long stay on the bench because of a twisted knee but failed to add to his scoring total when he missed a field goal late in the game. Even with his extended inactivity Hornung is fifth in scoring with 62 points.

Packer quarterback Bart Starr, who completed 15 of 20 aeriels against the Eagles, is third among the league's passers with 118 completions in 183 attempts for 1,644 yards, eight touchdowns and an average gain of 8.98 yards.

3 Events Planned In Connection With Packer-Colt Game

Lambeau, Hanner, Former Bays To be Honored This Weekend

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Packers are sitting on top of the world of professional football.

They can be unseated because there are five games left—possibly six... but at the moment the Bays, on the heels of their smashing 49-0 victory over the Eagles Sunday, lead the National Football League in six key categories:

1. . . . Most wins, nine.
2. . . . Fewest losses, none.
3. . . . Most points scored, 292.
4. . . . Fewest points allowed, 61.
5. . . . Most yards gained, 3,468.
6. . . . Fewest yards allowed, 1,746.

There are others but what else really counts? These half-dozen figures show the Bays' complete domination of their foes thus far.

The Packers won their first nine league matches by an average score of 32 to 6. Yardage-wise, the Packers have an average edge of 35 to 194, just about double.

It's fitting and proper that the big Bays should be coming home Sunday for a sort of a 3-ring observance as part of the Packer-Colt game.

It will be homecoming "Hawg Hanner Day" and Lambeau-Hall of Fame weekend.

Between Halves

Scores of former Packers will be seated near the Packer bench and they'll be introduced between halves. Hanner, the Bays' wonderful 11-year veteran, will be honored in ceremonies before the game. Lambeau, the Bays' founder and head coach for 30 years, will be enshrined in the Wisconsin Hall of Fame at banquet ceremonies at the Elks Club Saturday night.

Lambeau will head the former Packers at the game.

The Packers went back to work Tuesday and at least one player was slowed down some—Dan Currie, who injured his knee in the third quarter at Philadelphia.

Currie has what Coach Lombardi called a "twisted knee" and his availability for the Colt test will depend on the progress he makes in practice this week.

Lombardi and his staffers—Phil Bengtson, Bill Austin, Norb Hecker, Red Cochran and Tom Fears—were pleased all over again after viewing movies of the Eagle game Monday.

"We looked fine," Vince smiled, "there's nothing much else I can say."

"This game spoke for itself, and it's hard to improve on such earlier Lombardi quotes as "awesome" and "workmanlike job."

Badgers Have Nation's Best Point Average

Northwestern Holds Lead in Major Passing Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's leading grind-it-out-on-the-ground teams will square off against each other at Norman, Okla., Saturday when Missouri battles Oklahoma.

Missouri has the No. 1 rushing offense, according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. The Tigers have piled up 2,301 yards on the ground in eight games. Oklahoma is sixth with 1,812. The Sooners, however, have played only seven games.

Halfback Johnny Roland of Missouri is fourth in individual rushing with 774 yards, and Oklahoma fullback Joe Don Looney isn't far behind with 707. Looney is the country's top punter with a 44.3-yard average.

Missouri is seventh in total defense and eighth in rushing defense. Oklahoma ranks No. 3 in forward pass defense.

Tops In Rushing

Eldon Fortie, Brigham Young's fine tailback, continues to lead the nation in both total offense and rushing. The 167-pound senior has collected 1,944 yards in total offense and amassed 1,130 yards from rushing.

Northwestern's Tom Myers, a sophomore, tops all forward passers with 104 completions in 160 tosses for 1,403 yards and 13 touchdowns. Tulsa end John Simmons leads in pass receiving with 58 receptions for 760 yards and eight touchdowns.

Darrell Roberts, Utah State halfback, has the most punt return yardage, 311 yards, and Donnie Frederick, Wake Forest halfback, leads in kickoff returns, with 442 yards.

Arizona State replaced Northwestern in total offense with an average of 400.1 yards. Northwestern, however, continued to set the pace in passing offense with an average of 220.7 yards per game.

Rose Bowl-hopeful Wisconsin's 53.7-point average for seven games tops team scoring.

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's good to get back," Tom Stith said today, "but I've got to get used to playing again. That'll take some time."

Stith, former All-America basketball player at St. Bonaventure, where he was the national major college scoring champion as a senior, finally made his debut in the National Basketball Association on Tuesday night.

It was a return to basketball few thought possible 18 months ago when the 6-foot-5, 215-pound giant was suddenly stricken with tuberculosis only a few weeks after the New York Knicks had made him their No. 1 draft pick. The younger of the Stith brothers spent four months in a hospital recuperating, then returned to his home in the Queens section of New York to attempt a comeback.

The year's effort was climaxed, dramatically, when Coach Eddie Donovan of the Knicks sent Stith into the Knicks' line-up in the third period of the game at Madison Square Garden against the champion Boston Celtics.

Under orders to signal the bench as soon as he felt any fatigue at all, Stith played nearly six minutes in his first turn on the court. In the fourth period of the game, won by Boston 116-102 with a late rally, Stith returned for another four minutes.

"I've been working out at the St. Johns University gym near my home and I feel I'm on the way back to good conditioning," Stith said. "But I've got a long way to go."

Coach Donovan, who was St. Bonaventure's coach when Stith and his brother, Sam, were the Bonnie aces, echoed that feeling.

"He's at a stage now physically," Donovan said, "where he can work harder. He's got to get used to game conditions. We'll give him more work in scrimmages."

Stith, who ballooned to more than 240 pounds while hospitalized, is back close to what he feels is his best playing weight.

"I was down to about 225 at the start of the season and the running I did at St. Johns trimmed off another 9 or 10 pounds so that I'm at about 215 now," he said.

Until the fourth period, it looked as if the Knicks would accompany Tom's return with a rare victory over Boston. But the Celtics, even though playing without sore-footed Bob Cousy, won going away by outscoring New York 31-14 in the last 12 minutes. Tom Heinsohn's 26 points led the way.

In the Garden opener, Oscar Robertson's 31 points triggered Cincinnati's 127-109 romp over Detroit.

Chicago Loses

In other NBA games Tuesday night, Los Angeles snapped a 2-game losing streak with a 107-84 romp over Chicago, and the fast-breaking St. Louis Hawks ran to a 132-100 rout of San Francisco.

Held to 15 points in the first quarter and with Elgin Baylor shackled with only five points in the first half, the Lakers broke loose after the intermission for an easy victory over Chicago. Jerry West wound up with 27 points and Baylor with 20.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 45 points for San Francisco but the Hawks' fast break limited his rebounding. Bob Pettit's 27 points led St. Louis although he sat out the entire fourth quarter.

Ed Flood Socks 602 Pin Series

Ed Flood socked a 602 series to pace the latest round of the Knights of Columbus Couples Bowling League at the 41 Bowl. Cy Lippert rolled a 238 game and finished with a 589. Barbara Bohatschek cleaned up the 5-7 split twice.

USC's Bame Chosen as Top Lineman

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern California virtually wrapped up a Rose Bowl bid by trouncing Stanford 39-14 last Saturday.

Damon Bame, a guard, played a major role in the triumph. His spectacular work up front won him today the lineman of the week award by The Associated Press.

The 5-foot-11, 187-pound junior from Glendale, Calif., was the only individual singled out for praise by Trojan coach, John McKay, after the game.

This is what Bame did: He made or assisted in nine tackles. In addition he intercepted a Stanford pass on the Trojan 47 and almost returned it for a touchdown. He was caught on the Stanford 4. When Stanford held on downs on the 1, he broke through on the first play and threw full-back Ken Bahajian in the end zone for a safety.

"It was the best job of line-backing I've seen this season," reported Jack Stevenson, Associated Press sports writer at San Francisco. "Bame was agile and showed an uncanny ability to make the proper move to thwart offensive plays."

Gene Blake Posts 642 Series in Major Loop

Ted Fischer Hits 600 Set to Lead Coated Circuit

Mel Wolft blasted a 246 game and Gene Blake had a 642 series to share honors in the Major Scratch League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday night.

Berggren Brothers, leading team in the league with a 19-11 record, slammed a high game total of 1,029. Bassett's and Reetz are tied for second, one game behind.

Other honor scores included Rog Emrich, 625; Lloyd Mueller, 243 and 615; Chuck Bayer, 609; Norm Joecks, 236 and 608; Conny Knaus, 229 and 601; Bud Jentz, 242 and 593; Ray Crane, 579; Mike Court, 578; Wolft, 575; Norm Bunkleman, 233 and 574; Nate Belling, 562; Bob Jensen, 560; John DeYoung, 231 and 558; Earl Lorenz, 552; Orv Strutz, 551; Ed Flood, 550 and Bob Kositzke, 550.

Frank Sanders banged a 230 game and Ted Fischer posted a set for runnerup honors. Mary 600 series to lead the kegling Tuesday night in the Appleton Coated League at Hahn's. Sanders finished with a 581 series and the only other honor scores were a 570 set by Bob Wyngaard and a 553 by Tom Sullivan.

The Boilermakers (20-10) are in first place, with a 3-game lead over the Wolverines.

Agnes Green Smashes 557
Vernadine Welch Hits 539; Adeline Schuh Fires 523 Total

Agnes Green walloped a 557 series, including a 220 game, in the Women's National League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night. Vernadine Welch tallied a 539 game and Ted Fischer posted a set for runnerup honors. Mary Schultz recorded the only other honor count, a 204. Pond's (22-8) holds a 2-game lead over Nadel's in the team standings. Adeline Schuh swept honors in the Tag-a-Long League with a 196 and 523. Berdie Bauhs had a Ten Pin circuit with a 24-6 mark.

ahead of the Green Bay signal caller.

Green Bay end Max McGee, who caught seven passes against the Eagles, is ninth among the pass receivers with 35 completions for 598 yards and three touchdowns. His longest gain is 64 yards, and that was recorded in the Eagles' game.

Eight Interceptions
Willie Wood of Green Bay tops the league in pass interceptions with eight. Teammate Herb Adderley is second with six and the Packers' Hank Gremminger tied with seven others for fourth place with five.

Wood ranks fifth among the punt return leaders, handling 14 for 162 yards and an average gain of 11.9 yards.

Packer flanker Boyd Dowler is the sixth ranking punter, averaging 44.2 yards on 26 hoots. His longest punt was 75 yards, fourth best among the leaders.

Lombardi's Accurate Appraisal Cited

Win Over Wildcats Again Proves Badgers Do Things in a Big Way

Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — Just about the time that Crewman was pulling away from In The Pocket and Never Bend over the weekend, a gentleman in the press box at Garden State leaned over to say, "at the half. . . Wisconsin 10, Northwestern 0."

Had that been the final score, the result would have been startling enough, i.e., holding the Wildcats scoreless. But there was more to come, as the Cats found out—and on the eve, too, of Life magazine's Nov. 16 issue, which features an article entitled, "Ice Cold Hero with a Hot Arm," dedicated to Tommy Myers.

You've got to admit that the Badgers do things in a big way sometimes. Last fall, they hung the only Big Ten defeat on Minnesota. Last winter they were the first, and only, club to defeat Ohio State in conference basketball. How they have taken unbeaten Northwestern apart.

Pattern Unpredictable

Thus Wisconsin may yet spend New Year's Day in Pasadena against the same team, USC, which won 7-0, the last time they met in 1953.

The 1962 football pattern is unpredictable in so many cases. Miami, for instance, led Alabama 3-0, at the half and then got beat, 36-3. Notre Dame, which barely could keep its head above water in five consecutive games (four straight defeats), suddenly scored 62 points against Navy and Pitt.

An Oklahoma State team, which had lost four of its first six games to mediocre opponents, ups and beats Army right at West Point, which will militate against Paul Dietzel being named coach of the year in his Cadet debut.

That honor may yet go to John McKay at Southern Cal, who only has to beat Navy, UCLA and Notre Dame to finish an unbeaten season.

Even in the professional ranks, the variety is stimulating. After two straight years in which the Redskins won a single game, they now are fighting for a NFL playoff berth. When the Packers of 1961 reached this stage of the season with a 7-2 record, they were being hailed as the greatest invention since the electric light. Now they're 9-0 without expending undue effort and the same 36 players who started the season are still on the roster, despite one of Coach Vince Lombardi's dictums that "no player is indispensable."

Even the figures are in keeping with the Packers' undefeated status. They have averaged better than 22 first downs and 385 yards per game, which represents a Herculean effort in pro circles, especially when you're also holding the opposition to less than 200 yards per game and one touchdown per game.

Season's Understatement
Thus Lombardi's forecast of last July, "If we can keep our team together, we'll be better

St. Paul Takes Lead in ARD's Church League

Defending champion St. Paul seems well on its way to a successful title defense with a 1-game lead in the Appleton Recreation Department Church Basketball League with only two weeks of the season gone.

St. Paul won its second straight game Tuesday night at the Jefferson gym, thumping St. James, 84-21. St. Mary downed St. Joseph, 56-50. Sacred Heart topped St. Bernadette, 69-45, and Zion overpowered Wesleyan Methodist, 72-4, in other games.

Don Schroeder, Marty Schultz and Dick Hinz led St. Paul. Schroeder pumped in 34 points. Hinz accounted for 16, and Schultz 22.

Bill Geenen fired home 24 points to pace St. Mary in a fourth quarter burst. St. Mary trailed, 39-38, going into the final stanza.

Jim Maahs led Sacred Heart with 17 points while Tom Grishaber hit 18, for St. Bernadette. Al Gresl slammed in 25 points to lead the Zion onslaught. Dick Schroeder added 17 and David Schmidt 15 for Zion.

than in '61," is such an accurate appraisal that it almost qualifies as the season's understatement.

The resurgence of the Irish, in collegiate ranks, is expected to carry them to triumph over North Carolina at South Bend this weekend, as old and new heroes have emerged in the victories over Navy and Pitt. Daryle Lamonica has taken command of the Notre Dame offensive with expected results and, against the Panthers, a comparative newcomer, Jim Kelly, caught 11 passes for an Irish single-game record.

Ron VanderKelen, the Wisconsin quarterback, extended his Big Ten leadership with that performance against the Wildcats. He now has passed for 792 yards and picked up another 158 running, which is quite an achievement for a guy who, a year ago, barely got in a game. Thanks to VanderKelen, the Badgers have been able to average almost 70 offensive plays per game.

By contrast to the varied talent of VanderKelen and Myers of Northwestern and Dean Blaska at Minnesota, the erstwhile multiple offense of Michigan State has been rather conspicuous by its failure.

When George Saimes can't score, the Spartans are hard-pressed to move and unless Coach Duffy Daugherty spices up his offense for this week's appearance at Northwestern, he may be fighting another losing battle.

Who would have bet last fall that by mid-November both Michigan State and Ohio State would have no chance to win the Big Ten title?

Jerry Lamers' 652 Set Tops Valley League

LITTLE CHUTE — Jerry Lamers pounded a 256 game and a 652 series to top the Fox Valley Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Other honor scores were posted by Gene Vanden Heuvel, 242, 623; Mel Buetow, 611; Don Sandertoot, 589; Les Ulmen, 584; Don LeNoble, 569; Glen Huss, 550; Floyd Hammen, 568; Toby DeBruin, 538, and Francis LeNoble, 557.

Joe Reynebeau rolled a 577 series, and Frank DeBruin hit a 559 trio to lead the Sunday Night Cigarette Couples League at Little Chute Recreation.

Frank Gifford Making Good As Flanker

Kyle Rote, now the backfield coach, used to play.

"Allie and I always have been good friends," said Gifford. "He came to me and explained that personnel-wise he thought I would help the team more out there. I guess he already knew he was going to trade Bobby Gaiters and was re-arranging his backfield. "It was strange at first. I think it was the third league game against Pittsburgh that I caught four or five and began to get my confidence back." Gifford has caught six touchdowns passes from Y. A. Tittle, four in the last three games. In nine games he has gained 552 yards with 26 catches and is the third leading scorer on the club with 42 points. "This was the first time I ever played with Tittle," said Gifford, who spent his entire career catching Charlie Conerly's passes. "There isn't much difference in their passing. Y. A. puts a little more zip on it." Gifford said he had not decided about next year. He had hoped to go into television last year but the deal didn't work out.

the circuit, with 241: Tom Stroede, returning regular forward, scored 152 conference points last season to tie for 13th place. Bill Steinhilber, a returning varsity man, is a good bet to fill one of the other starting roles. The top junior candidates include Greg Wood, Jeff Harper and Miles Strasser:

WEST — John Drew, 6-1, regular, is the second highest-scoring returnee in the FRVC. The other returning regular from the team that finished third in the state tournament is 6-2 Don Doherty, the club's best rebounder. West picked up a topnotch transfer student in the 6-2 Paul Cibula, who was a regular on Premontre's quint last season. Other hold-over lettermen are 6-3 Rick Zoll, 6-2 Paul Ladow and 5-11 Tom Boyce. When you add such jayvee recruits as 6-4 Gary Gordon, 6-3 Bob Zoll and 6-0 Dave Wilson, you have the ingredients for a dark-horse title possibility.

APPLETON — The Dick Emanuel-piloted team has three returning lettermen, but only junior Gary Hietpas and senior Mike Woehler saw a great deal of action in the last conference season. The other letterman is a 6-8 senior, Jim Swanson. Of the remaining 11 squad members, eight are juniors from last year's championship JV team. One of the youngest teams in the circuit, AHS figures to improve as the season goes along.

NORTH — Coach "Bump" Jones

will have one of the conference's smallest teams. The returning lettermen are 5-9 Dave Schilder, 5-7 Steve Schilder and 6-2 Ron Splinter. Other top prospects are 5-11 Tom Beaumont, 5-9 Ron Gurada, 5-9 Charlie Federer, 6-1 John Nimmernann, 5-7 Bill McDonald, 6-0 Bob Jensen and 6-0 Jerry Katt.

FOND DU LAC — Coach Fritz Lautenschlager will have considerable height at his disposal, but there is little proven scoring ability. The lettermen are 6-4 Jim Burdett, 6-3 Paul Bredlau, Mike Mies and Dick Richter. The 6-4 Tom Smith gained some experience last season but didn't win a letter. Dean Dablow and Dick Pitzner are the leading prospects from the JV team.

EAST — Coach Carl Sunby has five lettermen from last season's cellar club, including 6-0 Gary Buell and 6-4 Tom Rein who scored 106 and 86 points, respectively, in league play. The others are 5-10 Bob Manger and a pair of cagers, Chris Bungener and Dave Teske, whose status is questionable because of injuries. Other leading candidates include 5-10 Dave Larson, 5-10 Steve Sommerville, 6-3 Gary Tieselen and 5-11 John Van Lieshout.

Chiefs Open New Ticket Outlets

The Manitowoc County Chiefs have opened Green Bay and Appleton ticket outlets for this Saturday night's Central States Football League playoff between Elmhurst, Ill., and the Chiefs in Manitowoc.

Tickets are on sale at Bertrand's Sporting Goods in Green Bay and Berggren's Sport Shop in Appleton in addition to the regular outlets in Manitowoc and Two Rivers. Manitowoc and Elmhurst will take 9-1 records into the playoff at Municipal Athletic Field.

Bears End Holdout, Join NFL Players Association

CHICAGO (AP) — A move to get who gave the decision to join the special tax relief for professional group his blessing, said he was athletes icked up momentum impressed with the sincere sense Tuesday when the Chicago Bears of responsibility displayed by joined the Players Association of Retzlaff.

The Bears, the last team to join the association, took the action after meeting with Pete Retzlaff of the Philadelphia Eagles who is president of the Players Association.

George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, gave Retzlaff permission to speak to the players before Tuesday's practice. Halas, with a bill recommending a formula for tax relief of the professional athlete whose earning career is comparatively short.

The players Association has been in operation since 1956 and previous efforts to get the Bear players to join had no success. Retzlaff said "a lot of unrest was created among the rest of the league players with the Bears refraining from association membership, yet benefitting from achievements of our group."

Retzlaff told the bears that, among other things, the association had promoted a minimum $5,000 salary, $50 per player for pre-championship games and a pension plan soon to be swelled to $600,000 a year in funds from various sources.

ed that collegians who participated in non-sanctioned meets could be barred from the Olympics.

The most immediate threat, if the conflict had continued, would be to make the indoor track season a shambles. The Federation had scheduled a national championship to conflict with the AAU National event.

The agreement did not include basketball and gymnastics, two other sports that the two factions have been feuding over.

"We see no reason why this pattern could not be extended to basketball and gymnastics," said an official who sat in on the meeting.

"For our part," said Wilson, who called the meeting in a last ditch attempt to avert complete chaos, "we are greatly relieved. Now we can go full speed ahead on our plans for the Pan-American games and the Olympics."

tee, said the argument had put the group far behind in its work for the Pan-Am games next year in Brazil.

"You know," he said with a wry smile, "the AAU and NCAA were close to agreement before, but each time some technicality prevented it."

Couldn't Do Much — "We tried to just ignore the argument and go on with our plans for the Pan-Am games. But we found that we had so many AAU and NCAA men on each committee glaring at each other that we couldn't do much."

The Olympic committee has no control over either group. It has had about a dozen meetings with the two factions over the past two years in a effort to settle the issue.

"For the first time," said Wilson, "they got down to thinking how they could work together. Out of the unity will come the greatest track and field development yet."

"This covers everything. It reaches into the grass roots. For years and years, we have had organizations all working for good causes, but in conflict with each other. We are deeply indebted to the contribution the Attorney General (who spent 3½ hours Monday night urging the combatants to come to terms) made at the meeting. The fact that he left Wash-

Fischer Says County Operates On Patronage, Handout Idea

Harsh Words Exchanged; Conradt Claims He's 'Talking Through Hat'

An outspoken critic of current county governmental procedures today made a pitch for executive control of county operations and greater reliance on private firms to do public work.

Fischer

Fifteenth ward Supv. Al C. Fischer, former business agent of Local 139 of the Operating Engineers, submitted into the Outagamie County Board record a prepared statement in the form of a letter in which he delivered a bitter blast at what he called "this patronage and handout idea."

Without naming Outagamie County specifically, Fischer alleged that handouts to the county committee is an "accepted part of local and county government" and that "local government pays more for equipment and supplies because of handouts."

"Are not free wining and dining of committee members who have some voice in purchases by government an accepted fact?" Fischer asked in his letter.

To Local Level
He brought the matter to a local level when he admonished the board to "examine your consciences in the light of what you know from your experiences on his board and then tell me these are untruths if you dare."

Fischer has harshly contended in the past that private contractors could do much of the highway work currently done by county crews better and more economically. This view has been opposed by Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson.

But the Appleton supervisor alluded to his project when he said "We can put county operations on basic essentials. County operations can never achieve the efficiency necessary for the survival of private operations. Some governmental functions are necessary. Let's keep those necessary operations and eliminate the others."

In plugging for executive control, Fischer suggested that county boards are operated "like country clubs."

A Few Steaks
When the letter was read shortly after the opening of this morning's session, Fischer got to his feet and moved it be received and filed. He alluded to a Post-Crescent story in which Supervisor Ervin Conradt was quoted as suggesting Fischer was attempting to protect the interests of private contractors.

"Whose interest is Mr. Conradt trying to protect?" Fischer shouted. "He's afraid he'll be cut out of a few steaks."

Fischer referred to recent incidents involving personnel at the county mental hospital and said, "It's no joke, gentlemen, we'll find the same thing happening right here in this room."

Fischer also alluded to what he alleged secrecy in the county's current bids. He said he was present when the bids, all identical, were opened. He said the salesmen were interviewed in private.

Talking Through Hat
Conradt said, "He (Fischer) is talking through his hat." He said Fischer had never been denied entrance to any highway committee function "and if he says he is, he's lying." Conradt said, "I won't deny I've had luncheon with salesmen, but there isn't a man in this room who hasn't. I'd like to know who Fischer is living off of."

Board chairman Alvin Fulcer repeatedly rapped his gavel during the exchange in an attempt to restore order. The letter was finally received and filed.

The text of Fischer's letter was dated Nov. 10, 1962, and addressed to the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors:

Text of Letter
"It is no secret to my fellow board members that I have spent considerable time in recent weeks checking the conditions which have existed at the County Hospital. The fact that mismanagement and misappropriation of funds has taken place is now known by you. The extent of the misuse of funds has not been fully disclosed as I write this letter and probably will not be known at the time this letter is read to you. I can only say that the situation was unbelievable.

"However, I have not pursued this matter merely for the purpose of seeing one or more people prosecuted. I am not trying to be a hatchet man as some people have contended.

"No, gentlemen—if this were my sole purpose and this were all I wanted, these bills were opposed by you could make of this situation, by the County Boards and Town then we would both be missing the Boards Association. Is efficiency full significance of the incident in government operation some- and similar instances in other thing we do not want? Is it a counties around the state. We are dirty word? Or are there too many all well aware of practices that of us who want to keep this have become a part and almost patronage system, this handout, an accepted part of local and system—and let the taxpayers county government. Are not free pick up the tab? wining and dining of committee

"With tax rates and collections members who have some voice at present levels, we can no longer in purchases by government and afford this waste. We can not accepted fact? Is it not a fact, afford to operate county boards that local government pays more like some country club. We need for equipment and supplies be central control. We need an executive of handouts? Is it not a duty to keep an eye on all department accepted practice? I was recently in and all expenditures. We told by a salesman who sells can cut county operations to basic equipment to county highway de-essentials. County operations can parlements that his company adds never achieve the efficiency necessary about $2,000.00 to each large item, necessary for the survival of private to cover these additional costs, operations. Some governmental light of what you know from your keep those necessary operations and eliminate the others. And let's—but we'll have to face up to the get some efficiency in those necessary operations. "Maybe we do not want to give "Who can achieve this? We can up this patronage and handout

Fire Ruins Warehouse In Antigo

ANTIGO (AP) — A sprawling warehouse, tons of potatoes and four trucks were destroyed Tuesday night by a fire that threatened to spread to two other warehouses and two carloads of nitrogen-based fertilizer. There were no injuries.

The blaze in the 200 by 40 foot building owned by Harold Prosser of Antigo was discovered by a nearby resident about 9:30 p.m. Only a nightwatch remained at the scene three hours later.

Antigo Fire Chief Joe Stere idea. But if we honestly believe that a public office is a public trust, do we, as honest men, have any choice?"

Antigo, was leased by Prosser to two producers. "The wind was just right," Stere said in explaining that a southeast breeze blew the flames away from other warehouses in the complex. The fertilizer containing the explosive nitrogen base and other fertilizers were stored in one of the other warehouses. Portions of the concrete block walls of the two-story structure remained standing, and aided in containing the fire, the chief said. A tunnel leading to another of the warehouses was sealed off by firemen in a move to block spread of the flames.

Lutheran Group Might Dissolve

CHICAGO (AP)—The Lutheran Synodical Conference opened Tuesday to consider a motion for its dissolution because of lack of unity in doctrine practiced by the four constituent bodies. The Evangelical Lutheran Synod, with 13,908 baptized members, and the Wisconsin Evangelical Synod, with the Missouri Synod, which has 2½ million members. The fourth body is the Synod of Evangelical Lutheran churches with 21,113 members. A resolution by the Evangelical Lutheran Synod and the Wisconsin Evangelical Synod to dissolve the conference is scheduled to be acted upon Thursday.

500 More Pupils Predicted for 1963

Appleton Superintendent Claims Next 3 Years May See 1,000 Hike

Appleton Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz has predicted an enrollment increase of 500 pupils next year and almost 1,000 over the next three years, in a report to the Board of Education.

The predictions for next year include increases of 147 at the senior high school and 96 in the junior high schools, crowding buildings already filled past capacity.

These figures do not include the possibility of overcrowding in the parochial schools, which could mean that additional parochial pupils would be sent to the public schools, Kurtz told the board. He pointed out that Xavier High School is filled this year.

"A lot depends on the parochial schools," Kurtz said. "This picture could ease or worsen, depending on what they do."

Public school enrollment increased by 1,000 pupils this fall, with more than half of this growth—about 540 pupils—coming to Appleton through attachments last summer.

Enrollment to Jump
According to the prediction, the high school enrollment will jump from 1,788 this fall to 1,936 next year. The building has a capacity of 1,500.

"Is there any chance we could have the new senior high school ready to open in the fall of 1965?" asked Mrs. George Munro, board president. The proposed southeast high school is planned for operation in the fall of 1966.

"I don't think there's a ghost of a chance," said Kurtz. Preliminary planning for the new high school is just starting, and you must allow 18 to 20 months to build a school of that size, he said.

One of the means used to make room for the high school pupils until the new school is completed probably will be a staggered program, Kurtz said.

According to the census, the elementary school enrollment is due for a leveling off, he said, and with the new Johnston School opening next fall, there should be little problem in the elementary schools for a time. By using the attached school buildings, pupils can be taken care of until we are ready to build the proposed northwest elementary school, he said.

Schools Affected
But the already heavy elementary enrollment is having an effect on the junior and senior high schools, he noted.

The enrollment predictions show a jump from 9,400 pupils this fall to 9,900 next year, 10,051 the following year and 10,341 in 1965-66.

The growth at the elementary level is expected to be from 5,794 this fall to 6,651 next year, to 6,232 the following year and 6,418 in 1965-66. The junior high growth is predicted to be from 1,818 now to 1,914, 1,926 and 1,973 in three years. The senior high enrollment is expected to drop slightly to 1,893 in 1964-65 and climb to 1,950 in 1965-66.

Present building plans call for the new northside junior high school to open in the fall of 1964.

"I don't think there's a ghost of a chance," said Kurtz. Preliminary planning for the new high school is just starting, and you must allow 18 to 20 months to build a school of that size, he said.

School District Seeks State Aid Credit

Badger Delegation Wants Opinion of Attorney General

A delegation from the Badger School District Monday told the Appleton Board of Education the district should receive credit for $3,200 in state aids payable in the spring and for $800 in supplies and oil left in the school when it was attached to the Appleton District July 1.

The boards decided to request an opinion from the attorney general on whether Badger should receive credit for the state aids. The two boards jointly will ask the Outagamie County district attorney and the state department of public instruction to seek an opinion, since only a department of state government or a district attorney can directly request an opinion from the attorney general.

Time to Study
Franklin Nehs, Appleton board member, asked time to study the question of credit for the supplies before the board makes a decision on it.

School districts attached to Appleton last summer will have a special assessment in the spring.

William R. Knuth, director of business affairs for the Appleton schools, told the Badger delegation he had specifically asked the state department of public instruction if the attached districts should receive credit for state aids, and was told they should not, because state aids are paid on a current basis while county and transportation aids are paid in arrears.

(State aids are paid on a per pupil basis, based on the "Average Daily Membership" during the preceding school year. The aids are based on a report turned in by the school districts in July, and are paid in the spring.)

Robert T. Hansen and James T. Davis, former members of the Badger school board, questioned whether the state aids were paid on a current basis.

"If we go along with this, we lose $3,200 this year," Hansen said. "What it amounts to in dollars and cents is whether you get it or whether we get it."

"I do not recognize the state department as the final authority," he said.

"If this is unfair to this district, it is unfair to the others," noted Mrs. George Munro, Appleton school board president. The two boards then agreed to seek a legal opinion on the question before the next board meeting.

"We don't want Rothwell's opinion," said Davis and Hansen. (Angus B. Rothwell is state superintendent of public instruction.)

The two men told the board the Badger district also should receive credit for $500 in supplies left in the school according to their inventory and for $300 in oil, as non-capital assets.

According to the state formula, the Nov. 6 gubernatorial election, Secretary of State Paul A. MacDonald said today.

Dolloff has said already, on the basis of unofficial returns, that he will ask for a recount and the review is expected to start Monday. The last precinct return arrived this morning, by state police messenger, and MacDonald announced these statewide totals: Reed 146,742; Dolloff 146,121.

The unofficial Associated Press tabulation election night had given Reed a 405-vote margin.

HEAT POWERS HEARING AID

Endel Are of Fort Erie, Canada, has used the principles he developed for the United States National Aeronautical and Space Administration to perfect the world's smallest hearing aid.

Mr. Are perfected the molecular electronic amplifier which is now used in most space satellites, including the space capsules of Project Mercury. The miniaturization which he developed led him to hearing aids.

The prototype of the hearing aid made in March 1958 is still running at peak efficiency, using the space type amplifier and embodying another space gimmick, the thermo cell.

The thermo cell eliminates the use of batteries and depends on power generated by heat. Known as the Ultima hearing aid, the aid is claimed to be the only one made. By using the molecular electronic amplifier, the aid can be built for difference in hearing losses to suit the individual. It is the world's smallest hearing aid.

It is manufactured by Regal Audio Instruments in Fort Erie, and Buffalo, N.Y.

The Ultima can be seen on WSAU-TV Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings about 11:30 P.M.

The only office in the state handling the Ultima is the AAA Office for the Hard of Hearing, 6-A No. Brown St., Rhinelander, Wis.

Householder Not Responsible For Bugs on Neighbor's Land

Every year the box-elder trees in Sam Jones' yard would become infested with box-elder bugs, which dropped off the trees and crawled onto the neighbor's property.

Finally, after several years of having box-elder bugs crawling all over his place, George Green, Sam's next door neighbor, started a legal action claiming the bugs were a nuisance. Green asked the court to enjoin Sam from maintaining and growing box-elder trees.

"Something has to be done," said Green. "I'm sick of having Sam's bugs crawling all over my property."

"I didn't ask the bugs to come," said Sam. "What do you expect me to do? After all, I don't like the bugs any more than you do."

Will a court grant such a request? Can Sam be forced to cut down his trees?

In such a case the court most likely would not force Sam to destroy his trees. Injunctions, such as George Green requested, are usually only granted where some person has been negligent or careless and turned a natural condition into a nuisance. In order to create a legal nuisance an act of man must have contributed to its existence. Damages that result from natural causes cannot become a legal nuisance, even though the person upon whose premises the cause exists could remove it with little trouble and expense.

In this case, Sam was guilty of no carelessness, negligence or willfulness in bringing about the box-elder bugs. He won the case and kept his trees.

Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary... We believe that Christ died for our redemption... that He arose from the dead... that "He shall come to judge the living and the dead." We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting.

We believe these things because God told us so. And because we believe them, our faith... and our hope for everlasting life with God... are founded not merely upon a vague and general belief, but absolute certainty. As we see it, the words "I believe" in the Apostles' Creed might just as well be "I know!"

If you want a clearer and better understanding of the revealed truths contained in the Apostles' Creed... and their importance to your own spiritual life... write today for our interesting pamphlet which we will send you free. And nobody will call on you. Just ask for Pamphlet AP-30.

Worker Eligible for Benefits in Injury

A group of Sam Sorry's fellow workers dragged him from his work bench and threw him out of the factory, injuring him severely. They were angry at Sam for having signed a document which they regarded as Communist inspired. These men believed that Sam had signed the document as a representative of the union. Sam had, at the union's request issued a statement to the newspaper, as well as to the union, stating that he had signed the document as an individual, not as a representative of the union. However, even this public statement did not quiet the anger of a number of Sam's fellow workers. After his injury at the hands of his fellow workers, Sam applied for benefits under the Workman's Compensation Act. He claimed that he was injured in the course of his employment and therefore eligible for the benefits. Sam's employer objected, creating the "zone of special danger" out of which the injury arose. Sam's job required him to be at a place where he was injured and therefore it was immaterial that the motive was not connected with his work. The injury of one employee by another for some cause aside from his regular duties may be considered an inevitable, however undesirable, result—a risk which is incident to the employment of many persons. It is a burden, said the court, which industry may well bear under the Workman's Compensation Act. Sam was allowed to receive the benefits under the act.

Principal of Alternate Forms of County Government Okayed by Interim Committee

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The cause of county reform, buffeted harshly in the state legislature for years, apparently made some progress Monday when a legislative interim committee commanded to find ways to make Wisconsin government more efficient endorsed the principle of alternative forms of county government.

The committee with only one dissenting vote decided to recommend to the new legislature that will convene at the turn of the year an amendment to the state constitution to rid that document of the uniformity clause as it covers county government administration.

Under the amendment as recommended, the constitution would permit up to four different forms of county government, at the option of the residents of counties.

The forms would be prescribed in the alternative by act of the state legislature—if the amendment is adopted through two successive legislative approvals and a ratification by the voters in a referendum. Thus a new form of county government could not be achieved before 1966, at the earliest.

Under the present constitution, the county board consisting of representatives of towns, villages, and city wards is mandatory for all counties, with the exception of Milwaukee county which is in a separate class for governmental purposes.

Legislators explained that the alternative would not be required to provide for four alternative forms, but the amendment would permit it to set up to four methods of county administration if it saw fit.

The common assumption among law-makers interested in the subject is that the separate Milwaukee metropolitan form would continue, and that the present county board form of the rest of the state would survive in the smaller and rural counties. But some 15 into stiff opposition from rural interests in the legislature, were Sen. William A. Draheim of Neenah, chairman of the committee, retiring Assemblyman Kenneth Priebe of Appleton, Clemens of Waukesha, Romell of Adams, and Olson of Kenosha, Republicans, and Sen. McParland and Stalbaum of Milwaukee and Racine, Democrats, and Risser of Madison and Dueholm of Polk county, Democrats.

Cheerleaders at Kimberly Named

KIMBERLY — Varsity, junior varsity and freshmen cheerleaders have been named at Kimberly High School for the upcoming basketball season. Varsity cheerleaders named by a committee of teachers and students.

Judging was based on voice, quality, movement and coordination, general appearance and school spirit. Joyce Dietzler is captain of the varsity crew. Oth-James Nirschl, Judd Koehn and Donna Van Elzen, Sandy Weyenberg, Carol Welhouse, Sharon Joosten and Carol Peerenboom. Tom Newhouse was recently added, one of the first male cheerleaders in many years.

Junior varsity cheerleaders are Pat Welhouse, captain, Marijo Maas, Vicky Seidel, Barbara Rooyackers and Patricia Friday. Leading freshmen cheers will be Karen Lamers, Lois Vanevenhoven, Ruth Zillges and Nancy Blaeski.

Judges were Mrs. Sharon Salm, Mrs. Shirley Bourneville, Mrs. Miss Joyce Dietzler.

Kaukauna Lady Elks, Husbands Spend Evening at Moulin Rouge

French decorations transformed the Kaukauna Elks Clubrooms into the "Moulin Rouge" Saturday evening when the Kaukauna Lady Elks sponsored a semi-formal dinner dance. A cocktail hour was held at 6:30 p.m. Dancing was from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Decorative lanterns, French posters and candlelight lent their effect to the French party air. Chairman of the event was Mrs. Floyd Treichel, Kaukauna, assisted by Mrs. Al Kneepkens, Mrs. John Van Mun Jr., Mrs. Frank Diehm, Mrs. Clifford Sanderfoot and Mrs. Raymond Sanderfoot, all of Kimberly, and Mrs. Harold Roioff, Mrs. Robert Steger, Mrs. Francis Cooney and Mrs. Gene Kronforst, all of Kaukauna.

Arriving at the Kaukauna Lady Elks-sponsored dinner dance, above, are Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Noie, Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. John Van Mun Jr., Kimberly. The couples were among those who enjoyed the pre-dinner cocktail hour. At right, applying the flame to one of the lanterns that gave a Parisian glow to the clubrooms, are Mr. and Mrs. Al Kneepkens, Kimberly. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Nigl and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Treichel stepped onto the streets of Paris when they paused in front of a French poster Saturday evening at the Kaukauna Elks Club dinner dance. M's. Treichel was party chairman.

The Candles used to decorate the tables at the 7:30 p.m. dinner also served to light after-dinner cigarettes. At right, Mrs. Frank Diehm, Kimberly, tilts the flame for her husband.

Shift, Shaft, Skimmer Shape Fashion Silhouette

BY PEG ZWECKER
Chicago Daily News Service

LOS ANGELES — California has thrown a curve — it's "S" for sportswear, the biggest category of fashion, the "S" stands for shift, shaft, skimmer, shirt-tail, smock, sleeved tennis dress and sandal-length pool dress. The new models are a logical evolution from the ugly duckling known as the sack or chemise — that persistent silhouette that has muscled into the mode since 1958 and won't be shaken off.

Why should it? California-style is a young fashion — young in figure, young in movement and sexy in an understated, subtle way skimming over the figure lightly.

Relaxed, Easy Fashions

Each and every one of these variations is relaxed and easy and can be worn by young and old. Each depends largely on fit and figure, and does the most for women with the least giving the wearer that sultry, mysterious faintly exotic look that is catnip to men.

There is one exception: wearers of this style must not be too fat. But we are talking about women of fashion, who would not permit themselves to get too heavy. Stylish women have clung with tenacity to this one silhouette, which has been battled over, pro and con, by designers at home and abroad.

Each and every one of these is more or less alike — particularly the main one, shift, shaft, and skimmer. Fashion editors, guided and instructed by outstanding creative designers, admit all have a good deal in common, but each varies from the others.

Those shifting the shift into high gear make it straight as an arrow. If it takes a bell, it's worn loosely, without indenting the waist.

Closely resembling the shift is the shaft, which looks like an elongated shirt or a hem-length pullover. It has absolutely no definition of waistline. Rigidly straight from top to bottom, it calls for a slim, young figure.

Nothing Dresses

Some designers refer to the shift as the "little nothing" dress. The shaft goes one step further, and is labeled as the "less-than-nothing" dress.

Finally there is the skimmer. It's a slightly standaway dress that just barely touches the bust and hips and makes no other compromise with the straight and narrow.

These variations of a similar silhouette are bound to be as firmly lodged in the American style scene as was the shirtwaist dress that clung for a quarter of a century.

Will Shifts Cling?

Will the shift, shaft, skimmer as well as the sheath cling that long?

What will be permanent is the fashioning of the garment district. It will house 400 showrooms, a large auditorium, swimming pool, hotel accommodations and the grand opening will be next November for the 13th annual press week.

Since the first California fashion creators press week, manufacturers have watched the industry grow by leaps and bounds from $450,000,000 to a billion dollars.

Wisconsin Fabric Aids Hospitals

Even a hospital stay will be more safe and comfortable today because of new textiles. One fabric known to be a germ-killer has been developed right here in Wisconsin.

Laundry bags and basket liners are being made of this germ killing fabric and other uses will probably be made of it. The fabrics is a rubberized nylon that has been treated with a germ killing chemical that won't wash out.

Hospitals have the constant battle against infection and this fabric gives a new weapon for fighting the most troublesome infection known as staph or staphylococcus aureus.

Comfortable Bedding

Another hospital aid is a new deep pile fabric that has been tested for three years with bed-ridden patients. This new pile cuts down friction and lets air circulate through the springy fibers so bed sores or spinal blisters aren't as apt to develop.

The pile, made of a blend of man-made fibers, is put on a waterproof backing. Patients are not allergic to the fabric and it's light weight, resists stains and won't let bacteria survive on its surface.

Even after frequent laundering the backing stays soft and pliable and the pile is soft and fur-like.

The greatest contribution of this fabric is perhaps that troublesome bedsores are much less apt to occur and are easier to cure when this fabric is used. For long-time patients this is one of the more serious care problems.

The new deep pile fabric can be fashioned in any size or shape but for hospital use is made into bed size "sheets."

Women Not Only Ones Who Add Color to Hair

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Two percent of men over 40 now color their hair," said Larry Matthews, who has made nearly a million dollars because he listened to his wife.

"But in 10 years one out of every five men who go regularly to barbers will have their hair colored," he said.

Matthews, at 41 still a youthful genius of the beauty industry, was like many another restless GI at the end of the World War II. He didn't want to go back to his old line of work—taking fashion photos.

One evening he heard his wife complain, "Why is it—even in New York City—there's no place where a girl can get her hair set late at night?"

Matthews didn't let the idea drop. He took his savings, borrowed $800, and opened an all-night beauty salon.

His place was immediately popular with late-working actresses, early-rising fashion models, waitresses, hatcheck girls, and innkeepers.

In 13 years he built up a chain of beauty salons and men's barber shops.

Last year he sold out for nearly a million dollars to a construction firm. The construction firm hired him to launch a network of 300 beauty and barber shops in this country, Europe and South America.

Although Larry's clientele ranged from chorus girls to royalty, he feels most indebted to the ordinary working girl.

"Some how it gives you more of a personal feeling of satisfaction to help them with their beauty problems," he said.

Wives Approve

Larry helped pioneer dramatic new hair tints and wigs for women. Two-tone lipsticks, and believes firmly the time is ripe for men to brighten up their top thatch.

"A survey showed four out of five wives wanted their husbands to tone up their hair," he said.

"The men would like it too, but—except for those who already do it for professional reasons—many are still bashful."

"Yet properly toned hair is as important basically to men as to women. And this fact has to be accepted," he said.

"It has to become public, not secret. That's the way it's going to be done—or I'm not going to do it at all."

Larry tints his own hair dark on top, leaving gray glints at the temples.

Matthews has a simple success formula.

"Listen to your wife, and when she has a good idea, do something about it," he advised. "It's Mrs. Joseph Heimmerman had certainly paid off for me."

Do-It-Yourself Flower Sets Add Charm to Outfits

Using a few seasonal flowers, tape and stapler, high school and college age girls with a little ingenuity can easily make fashionable fresh flower accessories to complement their costumes and brighten up any party.

These small do-it-yourself flower arrangements not only are inexpensive to make for casual or formal wear, but are sturdy enough to withstand Twist dancing. Two or three of the sturdier flowers, such as marguerite daisies or pompons, cost less than a chocolate soda.

Many Colors Available
These flowers or miniature carnations—available in colors to harmonize with any dress—may easily be attached to the wide headbands now popular, or worn at the cuff, neck of a sweater, on a belt or handbag.

A new idea is the "kneellette", consisting of two or three small flowers attached to a garter. The "kneellette" is worn on the left leg just below the knee, so the flowers appear on the outside immediately below the hem of a dress.

The distinctly different "kneellette" could be the hit, for instance, of a Twist party. Leading department stores generally stock plain satin garters in pastel shades, suitable for formal wear, and grosgrain, plaid and checkered garters, suitable for casual wear.

Key to Occasion
Headbands and garters may be reused by changing their flowers in keeping with the season or special holidays. An imaginative teen or college age girl could make headband and "kneellette" arrangements so unusual and distinctive they would be unmatched by others.

During the Christmas holidays, for instance, red headbands could sport holly and red berries, or even a sprig of mistletoe. Kneellettes could be decorated with holiday flowers, foliage, greens, pine cones or other dried materials in any combination.

Local florists will make these inexpensive flower accessories if you do not wish to make them yourself.

Do-It-Yourself
Insert a length of thin wire, placed alongside the flower stem, up through the bottom and head of the flower. Bend the top of the wire into a fish-hook shape. Pull the wire down until the curved end anchors down the flower head, keeping it from breaking loose. Twist the exposed wire at the bottom of the flower several turns around the stem. Wrap the stem with green floral tape.

Repeat this process with each flower. Using a large stapler, staple each flower at least twice to the outside of the headband or garter. Staples should straddle the stem. Cut off excess wire and stem. When worn, stems should point down and flowers up.

Bow to Back
When using a garter, a bow, if any, should be placed to the back. Facing the garter, staple the flowers midway between the garter's front and right side. Thus, when worn on the left leg, the flowers will appear on the outside. Cover the staple ends on the inside of the garter with adhesive tape to prevent possible stocking runs. Always remove the left shoe when putting on the "kneellette".

Marguerite daisies, daisy-type and regular pompons of all colors, and small rosebuds, are especially suited to this type of treatment. They are obtainable at neighborhood florists. For winter, long-lasting wood roses (the small ones) would be delightful too, decorated with suitable foliage.

But the possibilities don't stop there. Get a little wire and tape and dream up your own distinctive flower accessories. They'll make you feel gayer, and prettier too.

Church Women to Meet Monday

FREEDOM — The Friendly Service Circle of the Freedom Moravian Church will sponsor a missionary meeting for the congregation with the Rev. and Mrs. John Geisler of Bluefield, Nicaragua, as guests. They will show pictures of their work and recount experiences as missionary pastor. The meeting will be at 8 p. m. today in the church with a social hour afterwards in the Fellowship Hall. The ladies of the Friendly Service Circle will be in charge of the lunch.

Pan Americans Hear Program On Brazil

Mrs. Albert A. Glockzin discussed "Latin America's No. 1 Trouble Spot" at the Monday meeting of the Pan American League at the home of Mrs. M. S. Clough, 1521 N. Erb St.

Mrs. Glockzin wore a Spanish mantilla over a Spanish comb, when she talked about the area in northeast Brazil, where starvation threatens 23 million peasants. The area concerned is near Currais Novos, Recife and Bahia and is about twice as large as Texas. Although the United States is giving aid, the speaker said it may be too little and too late. The recent election at which leftist Miguel Arraes de Alencar was named governor of the northeast state of Pernambuco was also discussed. Many believe, Mrs. Glockzin asserted, that the new governor is revolutionary and seeks to 'Cubanize' Brazil. The Al-

Legion Auxiliary To Meet Thursday

SHERWOOD — The Thomas E. Kees American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Legion Clubhouse. Members will bring discarded nylons and eye glasses for veterans at Wood, and old catalogs for Southern Colony.

Mrs. Raymond Huelsbeck, Mrs. Jerome Spang and Mrs. Anthony Seidel are on the program committee.

Finance for Progress was also discussed as it affects that area of Brazil.

Alumnae Club Plans Tea for Area Members

Mrs. Joseph Bonner, 106 River Drive, will serve as hostess for the 9:30 to 11 a.m. Saturday tea for the Mt. Mary Alumnae Association of the Fox River Valley. Members of the board of directors serving as hostesses are Miss Bernice Gage, Miss Patricia Rauch, Mrs. John Milhaupt, Mrs. John Christman, all of Appleton, and Mrs. John Rachelet, Menasha.

Mrs. D. L. Liebmann has charge of the night of recollection planned for March at the Mount Alverno Retreat House.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Scherzinger, 2330 Woodlark Road. Miss Rauch has charge of the program.

Legion Bazaar, Sale

BLACK CREEK — The American Legion Auxiliary will have a fall bazaar and bake sale in the Legion Hall at 1 p.m. Thursday. Christmas decorations, gifts and baked goods will be sold, and free cookies and coffee will be served to guests.

Cleaning of Bird Cage Is Problem

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a very old brass bird cage that is badly tarnished. How can I brighten it?

A: The easiest way would be to take it to a metal-plating shop which is equipped to clean it in an acid solution. If necessary, it could be replated with brass. Or, cleaning and polishing preparations, widely available at supermarkets, housewares and hardware dealers, following label instructions carefully; but, with a bird cage, this is tedious work.

Faded Upholstered Sofa
Q: Our long upholstered sofa in the living room continues to give good service but is beginning to look faded. Is there any way to restore the color without having to send it out for a professional touch-up?

A: Yes. Fabric sprays for upholstery, rugs, draperies and for plastic materials are widely available at housewares and paint dealers. Use the kind for the particular upholstery material on the sofa and follow manufacturer's label instructions carefully. These sprays won't make dark colors light, but are excellent at giving a fresh new appearance of the same or darker shades.

Hot Water Rusty
Q: Our hot water is running very rusty. We have no trouble with the cold water. What causes this? How can it be eliminated?

A: The rusty water may be due to sediment in the tank or in the water heater. Sediment should be drawn off from the water tank at least once a month. If this doesn't clear the water, try flushing out the heater. Or the water may be being overheated; if there is no automatic temperature regulator one should be installed. If the cleaning the tank is usually not worth the cost; replacement is the most practical remedy. Frequently, having a magnesium rod installed by a competent plumber will check the formation of new rust, although it will not dissolve any present rust.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

OKAY! I GET TH' POINT!

Q. How effective is the vaccine for cat distemper? Lorita Howe, Covina, Calif.

A. All serums and vaccines used by veterinarians are produced under the strict control of the United States Department of Agriculture. As a matter of fact, such inspections were made long before similar inspections of human vaccines were begun by the United States Department of Health. All medications used by veterinarians undergo as rigorous inspection as those used on humans. However, all vaccines and serums are not 100 per cent effective. There will always be animals who do not respond to the vaccines. The feline distemper vaccine, in my experience, has proved to be at least 90 per cent effective in protecting cats. Its effectiveness can be greatly increased if the injections are repeated after two weeks and then at yearly intervals.

(Dr. Moller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.)

Opponents May Get To You

The trouble with people today is that they are fearless. Talk to them about goblins or bogeymen, and they just snicker. Just wait: the first time there's a real dark night somebody will be missing, and it won't be you or me. And the first time there's a bad break at the bridge table, these fearless birds will get the axe.

West opened the deuce of clubs, an obvious singleton. South won with the ace of clubs and returned a trump, losing to the ace.

Back came the king of clubs, and South fearlessly ruffed with the nine of hearts. He was one of the modern generation, and nobody had ever told him about the bogeyman.

West over-ruffed with the ten of hearts and returned a spade to East's ace. Back came another club, and South felt the claws around his neck. Whether South ruffed high or low West was sure to win the setting trick with the eight of hearts.

South should see the danger from the very start. He is bound to be put in the middle when East gets in with the ace of

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES
Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Grounds Planner To Give Lecture

Robert B. Graves, Spring Green, practicing grounds planner, will present a public illustrated lecture on "Landscape Architecture" at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Paine Art Center, Oshkosh.

trumps to lead a club. South should not expose himself to this uncomfortable position a second time.

When East leads the king of clubs, South should not ruff with the nine of hearts. What's more, South should not ruff at all. He should discard the queen of spades.

This discard gives East a club instead of a spade, a fair exchange. The profit to South comes from depriving East of an entry. East continues with another club, of course, and South ruffs with the nine of hearts. West over-ruffs, getting only the trump trick he was sure to win sooner or later. But now there is no way to put East in for another club lead.

South regains the lead no matter what West returns. Declarer then draws trumps and takes the rest of the tricks without difficulty.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

Dear Louise: A hostess is often too casual with her invitations. When she has an urge to have a friend or two for dinner, that is as far as it goes until she dials a telephone number.

Thinking out loud, she will say, "Wouldn't it be fun to get together next week - end?" "Will you and Bill be free either Saturday or Sunday?" Yes, they will be free.

After the day is agreed upon she may say, "What time would you like to come? The friend is on the spot and wonders, "Does she mean to drop in for a snack on Saturday afternoon? Does she mean dinner? Does she mean she wants us after dinner?"

Her only answer therefore would be, "You name the hour and we'll be there," thereby throwing the appointed time back in the lap of the hostess. No guest should have to stipulate her own time and she can't very well say, "Do you mean you're inviting us to dinner?"

A hostess who is so vague and Mrs. Malcolm Jacobson, Kaukauna, was general chairman of dinner arrangements. Mrs. Mel Buxton was dining room chairman and Mrs. Charles Greiner, Menasha, reception chairman.

Worthy High Priestess of the Valley Shrine is Mrs. Willis Elsner. The Brother Sojourners will have charge of the Dec. 10 Christmas Ceremonial.

YOUR NERVOUS TENSION HEADACHE

Not only relieves pain but ALSO its tension and depression Superior to aspirin or buffered aspirin

Tension headaches are by far the most common kind.

Of the 3 leading pain relievers, only Anacin has extra medication that relieves pain fast, also its nervous tension and depression. With Anacin, you experience remarkable "all-over" relief without stomach upset.

In 22 seconds after entering the bloodstream, Anacin is speeding relief to your pain. In addition, Anacin gives you more complete relief from headache pain than aspirin or buffered aspirin. You see, aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is a combination of three medically proven ingredients which 3 out of 4 doctors recommend and which many doctors, themselves, take when they suffer from headaches.

It is the difference in Anacin that makes the big difference in the way you feel.

Translucent Beauty

To carry off the polished elegance of evening fashions, a lovely must look to her own polish — the complexion's patina and the hair's shimmer.

For a make-up that provides the desired radiance, apply a translucent foundation. Translucents, tinted to one's individual coloring, heighten the skin tones and filter out flaws, but never mask the face. The finish is natural, having the clarity, texture and glow that is associated with complexion perfection.

These foundations also come in a "no-color" shade to wear under a tint for greater opalescence. Whether or not the combination is used, the finish depends on applying as little as possible and then buffing the skin as though polishing silver.

Against this background, lips and eyes take to smoldering accents via a deep plush-red lipstick, smoky shadows and hazy liners. The secret of an illustrious coiff is a sleek arrangement, for it will catch the light. Complicated curls and fringes can only diffuse sparkle and distinction, too. A smooth sweep of waves, rising from the forehead and softly draped at the sides and back, forms the newest pattern for a glistening and personally flattering arrangement. Its elegance, moreover, is a match for the most elegant fashion.

Mother Hubbard Apron Adds Interest to Prized Nude Statue

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year my husband's firm sent him to Europe on a 10-month assignment. When Bob and I returned to the U.S. we brought gifts for close friends and relatives. Since we both love sculpture, we picked up a few lovely pieces in Italy and France.

Landers

Bob has an elderly aunt of whom we are especially fond. We brought for her what we considered the prize piece of sculpture — a nude woman, head bowed, holding a single rose. The name of the piece is "First Love."

Last night we were at her home for dinner along with some others. There was "First Love" — to my astonishment, wearing a Mother Hubbard apron. Auntie crochets and apparently she decided to dress up the statue.

Nothing was said, but a few guests could scarcely believe their eyes. Do you feel Bob should have a word with his Aunt? — Non-Plussed

Dear Non-Plussed: Auntie now has a real conversation piece — whether she knows it or not.

It would be pointless to say say. "My, but Wallace was unpleasant last night. I'm glad I'm not married to him!"

These remarks cut me deeply. I've tried to ignore them but it's impossible. When the telephone rings in the morning I shudder. My stomach gets tied up in knots. Sometimes it upsets me for the whole day.

Is there a solution? I feel utterly helpless. — Canadian Wreck

Dear Canadian: Yes, there's a solution, but it won't be easy. For the first time in your life I suggest you assume the role of an adult in relation to your mother.

Tell her you will not tolerate any future derogatory remarks about your husband. And prove it by chopping her off in mid-sentence if she forgets.

Give her exactly three minutes on the phone when she calls. Plead "a million things to do this morning" and after a while she'll get the idea.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old daughter left home after an argument. She said she was going to rent a room somewhere. We did not hear from her for several days and then she phoned to say her aunt and uncle had invited her to move in with them. That same day I went over to talk to the aunt (who is my sister-in-law) and learned that the girl had told them we had put her out of the house. This is not true.

Now our daughter wants to come home. My husband says he will not allow her to come home until she tells our relatives the truth. I want the girl home regardless. She has always been difficult to handle. At least if she is at home I will have some idea of where she is and who she's with.

Now the problem is between my husband and me. Am I wrong, or is he? — Tooth and Nail

Dear Tooth: Your husband is preoccupied with what his relatives think when the central problem is his daughter and how to deal with her hostility. The girl belongs at home. And, incidentally, she could probably profit from professional help. I hope you can manage both promptly.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wait Until Called Is Nason's Advice to College Men, Women

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Many patriotic young men on college campuses doubtless are over-anxious to serve their country in the present emergency.

I know something about this because I lived through such a period of excitement on a college campus immediately after Pearl Harbor; now I am in contact once more with college students.

At the start of World War II, recalling my own experience of rushing into service with the cavalry when the first World War started, I cautioned the young men to whom I talked to wait for instructions from their government. They should wait, I said, until they could serve their nation in the best positions for which they were fitted.

Later as a military advisor I helped place these men in various types of officer training and in other positions requiring strong educational background.

At least in this one college no great number of men rushed to enlist as privates. Their services could best be used other ways.

Trained Men Needed
With our present increased technology, the demand for trained men in this emergency is far greater than it was in any previous one. Even industry has unfilled openings for thousands. The new demands could produce still more critical shortages.

My advice to all college men and women: "Stay at your studies, unless and until the plans of the military and government agencies are put into operation."

You can best show your patriotism and best serve your country by showing enough restraint to wait for the right opportunity. The more education you have the better for both you and the country.

Granted, it is difficult to continue your studies under the threat of interruption by military service. It will take conscious effort on your part to keep your thoughts on mathematics, history, etc. Here is a hint that might help.

Take Positive Attitude
You can not make thoughts of possible change leave your mind just by insisting on it. But you can fill your mind with constructive thoughts if you so desire.

Review your plans of how each course is to be studied. Reorganize each course from the beginning.

When excitement over current happenings drives thoughts of study out of your mind, take a brisk walk. And as you walk review plans of what you are going to do about some courses.

Then proceed to your study table and start to work again.

With persistent effort you can win out over the distraction.

Whether in war or peace, your

Radioactive Iodine in Milk Increasing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service reported increases in radioactive iodine in pasteurized milk in a number of areas during August and September as a result of both U.S. and Soviet nuclear testing.

Palmer, Alaska, had an average of 730 micromicrocuries per liter of milk, the highest listed during September.

A spokesman said the service had not recommended counter-measures in any area, and re-country needs you in the best position you are capable of reaching.

(You may obtain a copy of Dr. Nason's "Help Your Child Succeed in School" booklet by sending $1 in check or money order (no cash) to this newspaper.)

gards the levels as not constituting a public health hazard.

The summary said the daily levels of radioactive iodine-131 from the July U.S. tests in Nevada declined in Salt Lake City milk from 730 to 100 micromicrocuries per liter in August, and the August Salt Lake City average was 330.

The only other station with an iodine-131 August average over 40 micromicrocuries was Laramie, Wyo.

The September averages for both Salt Lake City and Laramie were 40.

"Apparent effects of the U.S.S.R. nuclear tests appeared in September," the service added, with 62 stations showing 131.0 micromicrocuries per liter compared to an August average of 20.

During September the monthly averages of 40 stations exceeded 20, compared to six stations in August, and during September nine stations had averages of 100 micromicrocuries or more: Palmer 730; Chicago 100; Des Moines 120; Detroit 120; Buffalo, N.Y., 100; Minot, N.D., 170; Rapid City, S.D., 130; and Milwaukee 120.

Paper Profits Disappear for Collectors

Stamp Buyers Are Unhappy About Post Office Order

BY LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department is going to flood the market with misprinted Hammarjold stamps, puncturing the paper profits of the few collectors who hold the limited number of imperfect stamps which first slipped into circulation.

As expected, the department got some unhappy reactions to its announcement Tuesday.

"Isn't that lousy?" sighed Mrs. Leonard Sherman of Irvington, N.J.

Her husband has a full 50-stamp pane of the 4-cent stamps honoring the late U.N. secretary-general, Dag Hammarjold. At least 400 of the 120-million issued were printed on an inverted plate.

Sherman figured his invert might be worth $500,000 to philatelists eager to add the imperfect issue to their collections. But the Post Office plans knocked the bottom out of the market and even direct action didn't help.

Sherman called James F. Kelleher, special assistant to Postmaster General J. Edward Day, and talked for 30 minutes Tuesday. But Kelleher didn't budge from his announcement that the department will print more of the inverted plate stamps and anyone can buy them through the department's philatelic division.

Stamp enthusiasts estimated that would send the value of each stamp plummeting from hundreds or even thousands of dollars to about a dime apiece.

The Post Office Department said the decision follows Day's policy of avoiding production of rare or over-valued philatelic items.

Russell Ferguson of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, who stood to make a pocketful of money before the announcement, was philosophical. "We never had the money to begin with, so why get upset about it?" said Ferguson.

He was echoed by Mrs. Terry Terregrossa of Carmel, N.Y., who said "what you haven't got, you don't miss." But she couldn't help adding: "Maybe the stamp collectors will block the move."

The Hammarjold stamps went on sale Oct. 24. The inverters were discovered a few days ago by an Akron, Ohio, collector, William Throop, and perhaps others. The Post Office admitted Monday that indeed, somebody had goofed. The department said that at least two 200-stamp sheets apparently were twisted 180 degrees between the first and second printings.

Dealer Laurence W. Moltz of Baltimore raised a point that may cause holders of the stamps some gloomy winter evenings. Moltz said if there had been no publicity about the inverters, holders might have stashed them away for several years then brought them out and reaped big profits.

'No Strings Attached'

Actress Says Negro Should Receive Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Negro actress-singer Diahann Carroll says the movie company that hired Eurasian Nancy Kwan to play Miss Carroll's Broadway part in the film version of the musical "No Strings" is "running away from the color issue."

The Richard Rodgers musical as shown on Broadway deals with a love affair between a Negro girl and a white man.

"There's nothing personal about this," said Miss Carroll Tuesday. "It's not that they didn't give me the movie role." She said she wouldn't have minded if the role had gone to another Negro actress.

Not Factor
Producer Ray Stark of Seven Arts Productions said the color issue was not a factor in the film company's decision. He said Miss Carroll was never thought of for the part because "we have Nancy Kwan under contract, and we're always looking for a part to build her up."

"We had to have a name," he added. "This is a $3-million to $4-million picture."

Miss Carroll said: "I'm not interested in saying anything unkind about Seven Arts or Miss Kwan. I'm sure they'll do a lovely film. But this gave them an opportunity to hire a Negro actress—and jobs for Negro actresses are few and far between." The actress said she was speaking out because she felt that for Negroes to remain silent was "a disservice to our children."

Taken Away
"I just want the people who have the responsibility for taking this part from a Negro girl to admit the responsibility—to confess that they're afraid of the reaction in four or five Southern states."

Not so, said Stark. "There's no color problem involved. This isn't going to be a race problem picture the way we're going to do it. The picture's going to be light, happy entertainment."

Harpsichord Man Changed Taste By Mere Chance

HOPEWELL, N.J. (AP)—Christopher Bannister's favorite music as a high school student was the singing of Frankie Laine.

A chance encounter with a recording by Wanda Landowska, famed harpsichordist, changed his taste and his life.

Bannister, now 25, not only learned to play the harpsichord but today is one of the eight manufacturers of the instrument in this country.

The harpsichord, forerunner of the piano, is enjoying a resurgence of popularity. Bannister is turning out a series of small harpsichords made to sell for less than $1,000. He says a full scale harpsichord sells for as much as $6,000.

Cuban Crisis Cost Set at $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of the Cuban crisis was estimated officially Tuesday at about $100 million.

The Budget Bureau, which provided this assessment, described it as "the roughest kind of allowance."

Most of the money will be used to pay reservists called to active duty and troops retained beyond normal release dates, to operate and maintain the Cuban blockade, to finance aerial surveillance of the island, and to move men and equipment to the southeastern part of the country.

Collapse Injures 28

CASINO, Italy (AP)—Twenty-eight persons were injured, some seriously, when a church roof at nearby Cair collapsed Tuesday during a ceremony. Authorities blamed a heavy two-day rain.

Small Nations Ruling Spirit In U.N. Votes

Charter of Group Violated During South Africa Issue

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Just what is the United Nations today? Most Americans have not yet become aware of the fact that the name itself is a misnomer. An appropriate title would be the "disunited nations."

For this organization of high purpose is badly split. Such members as the United States, Great Britain and France—who have done so much to advance economic and social progress in the world—are in the minority. They are outnumbered in votes, and subject to the whim of a galaxy of small nations. A group composed mostly of the uncivilized, backward and underdeveloped countries of the world now rules the United Nations.

A vote just a week ago in the U.N. was an eye opener. By a big majority, the small nations voted for the expulsion of a member—the Republic of South Africa—whose internal problems are not being handled to the satisfaction of this new majority. To meddle in the internal affairs of a member state is a violation of the Charter of the U.N., but this didn't deter the new majority, which completely disregarded the specific wording of the charter.

There are 106 member nations in the organization. Russia has three votes, though the United States has only one. Representation has no relationship to population, nor is it on the basis of financial or economic equities.

In favor of the resolution to expel South Africa, there were 67 member nations, and 16 against. There were 23 member nations which "abstained." This means they felt they would be embarrassed if they voted either way. How many Americans know even where some of these countries are to be found on the world map? Here is the list of the 67 which rule the U.N. today:

Algeria
Argentina
Australia
Austria
Belgium
Bolivia
Brazil
Bulgaria
Burma
Burundi
Cameroun
Canada
Ceylon
Chad
Colombia
Congo, Brazzaville
Congo, Leopoldville
Cote d'Ivoire
Cuba
Cyprus
Dahomey
Ethiopia
Ghana
Guinea
Haiti
India
Iran
Iraq
Israel
Italy
Jamaica
Jordan
Kenya
Laos
Liberia
Libya
Madagascar Malaya
Mali
Mauritania
Morocco
Nepal
Niger
Nigeria
Pakistan
Panama
Paraguay
Peru
Poland
Romania
Rwanda
Senegal
Sierra Leone
Somalia
Sudan
Syria
Togo
Tunisia
Tanzania
Uganda
United Arab Republic
Upper Volta
Yemen
France
Great Britain
U.S.S.R.
Belorussia Ukraine
Albania
Bulgaria
Cuba
Czechoslovakia
Hungary
Mongolia
Poland
Romania
Yugoslavia

The last 12 listed above comprise the Communist-bloc countries.

Wednesday, Nov. 14, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent C10

majority for political reasons, but it is hard to explain the vote by Mexico and by the Philippines or Pakistan and other nations which get substantial amounts of "foreign aid" from the United States.

But, even omitting this latter group, it is important to note that still voting against the United States were more than 54 nations—a majority of the 106 members.

Here are the 16 countries which supported the U.N. charter and hence cast their votes against the resolution to expel South Africa:

Australia
Belgium
Canada
France
Greece
Ireland
Japan
Luxembourg
The Netherlands
New Zealand
Portugal
South Africa
Spain
Turkey
United Kingdom
United States

The list of those 23 countries which abstained is also interesting. For among them are many friends of the United States in Latin America, Scandinavia and elsewhere. Unfortunately, even if they had voted with the 16 who opposed the resolution, the total vote would have been only 39.

So it is the big group of small nations, numbering more than the 54 necessary for a majority, which makes the United Nations a helpless and perhaps useless body as an international force. This new majority can play a decisive role in amending the Charter so as to be able to wield even more power in the U.N. as against the United States and its allies.

Spectators Help Fire-Fighters

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Firemen usually frown when throngs of curious spectators collect where there's fire-fighting work to be done. But the crowds made Fire Chief Fred Bowser happy at a big lumber company fire here recently. He put scores of the sightseers to work dragging heavy hoses more than 100 yards into the lumber yards, then thanked them on a loudspeaker for cooperating.

Another Old Tradition Broken at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Another old tradition has been broken at Harvard University.

The Harvard Business School Association has awarded a Harvard chair to Mrs. Faith Alder Potter, an administrative assistant for alumni relations.

Educators Need More Time, Space

Longer School Day, Year May be Ways of Solving Some Problems

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"We need more time," teachers in all fields are saying.

"We need more space—and differently shaped space," school administrators are saying.

As education enters an era of rapidly expanding knowledge, new concepts of teaching and the possibility of broadening the course of study, the curriculum is constantly being reassessed.

Teachers are finding the traditional five-day a week, nine-month school year doesn't give them time to cover all the pupils need or want to know. And administrators are nursing headaches over buildings filled past capacity, as the enrollment bulge moves through the elementary school and into the junior and senior high schools.

Longer School Day
The time probably will come, according to William H. Spears, Appleton assistant superintendent of schools, for a longer school day, a longer school year and a more comprehensive summer program, he says, will be less remedial and more of an enrichment program—not so much for acceleration as to give youngsters time to explore related areas.

Increased use of school facilities is also a matter of economics. "Communities cannot afford to build more and more schools. They will have to operate them more efficiently," said Chandler, dean of Lawrence College, who expects one of the biggest changes in education to be in the school calendar.

"I would like to see the school building in use six days a week 10 years from now," said Brother Peter, director of Xavier High School. "At least in theory, this could provide for 60 per cent more students with only a 30 per cent increase in facilities. With a six-day week, students would have a staggered schedule, going half-days part of the week and full days the rest of the week," he suggested.

The trend seems to point to ward extending the school year to 10 rather than 12 months. This would leave time for teachers to travel or study in the summer, for maintenance crews to work on the school buildings, for students to take summer enrichment courses, and for youngsters to have the time off that psychologically they need, Brother Peter pointed out.

Shorten at Top

One educator foresees a possible shortening of education at the top. If the trend in secondary education continues, with students coming to college better prepared, it might be possible for a student to complete both bachelor's and master's degrees in four years of college, said Rowe. With the high school taking over much that has been done during the freshman year of college, the student could gain a year to use for work toward an advanced degree.

Any school building is based on your philosophy of education, notes Appleton Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz. Changing teaching methods are creating demands for greater flexibility in new buildings. Space is needed for both large group instruction and small group instruction—innovations that, paradoxically, go hand in hand.

Teachers are saving time by working in teams. By making an initial presentation to a large group of 150 students, instead of repeating it five times for classes of 30 students each, they can use the time to dig deeper into the subject—by student research, individual work or discussion groups of 10 or 15 students.

With this approach, the school day also could become more flexible, says Spears, rather than being sliced up in classes all the same length.

Demand Being Met

Educators are meeting this demand in new buildings with flexible sized classrooms, in which movable walls can increase or decrease the space according to the size of the group using the room.

Individual or independent study is beginning to find a place in Brother Peter admitted. "Saturday and Sunday as a weekend would be a lost cause. But the fundamental advantage of utilizing schools 60 per cent more would be a great thing in the present economy. We could use the money saved on schools for better teachers."

Castro Called Ready to Flee

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cuban exiles say Fidel Castro has everything in readiness to flee the island.

The Students Revolutionary Directorate said Tuesday it learned from contacts in Cuba that a Britannia plane, one of four owned by Cubana Airlines, is kept ready at an airport near Havana with technicians and pilots on 24-hour duty.

Neenah Student on College Scenery Crew For Opera Production

Thomas Plucker, Neenah student at Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, is one of the members of the scenery crew for the college production of "Taming of the Shrew" tonight and Friday night.

The three-act opera version of the Shakespearean play will be presented at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Dr. Hugo D. Marple, is the musical conductor and Robert J. Murray the director of the opera. Both are members of the college music department.

Plucker, a senior majoring in social science, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Plucker, 504 Walnut St., Neenah.

Satellite Launched by Vandenberg Air Base

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Air Force disclosed Tuesday that a satellite shaped like a pyramid and weighing only one and a half pounds has been launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The announcement, made at the American Rocket Society convention, said the satellite is mapping radiation recently increased by atomic testing.

Called the TRS (Tetrahedral Research Satellite), it was carried into space within the past 60 days aboard a Thor-Agena rocket. The Air Force refused to give further details.

East Germany Signs Cuban Tourist Pact

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany announced Tuesday a tourist agreement for 1963 with Cuba.

East Germans will be able to spend up to 14 days vacationing in Cuba, the official news agency ADN reported, while Cubans will tour East Germany to see for themselves "the success of the economy and culture of the first German workers' and peasants' state."

Hearing Opens On Appleton Street Project

Railroad Points to Danger Involved in Grade Crossings

Testimony by city planner and traffic engineer, Walter Rasmussen, and Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission Consultant Kenneth S. Schellie, Indianapolis, were heard at the opening session of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission hearing on the proposed extension of Franklin and Washington streets in Appleton. The hearing is being held at the Outagamie County Courthouse annex.

The City of Appleton is asking the extension of Franklin Street from the grade crossing and intersection at Division Street to its intersection with Richmond Street. The city also wants to extend Washington Street from the curve at the northwest corner of the parking ramp now under construction in an "S" pattern to the center of the proposed Franklin Street extension.

Rasmussen testified that the change was necessary because of the growing use of "desire lanes," or predominant lanes of travel, to the north and northwest.

The railroad can be a "Chinese wall" as far as grade crossings are concerned, he said. In cross-examination Roger S. Bessey, attorney for the Chicago and North Western Railway Co., asked Rasmussen whether the railroad had not already granted many grade crossings to the city. He said, "Is this a Chinese wall, or is it rather a great white way?"

Bessey attempted to point out the danger involved in the proposed crossings and said such a pattern of crossings and street extension should be considered on a city-wide basis. He cited the crossings as a danger to safety and said the city should try to eliminate them rather than increase them.

In appearance favoring the petition were Fred Froelich, Appleton city attorney and Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. Opposed to the proposal were Bessey and other railroad officials, and R. C. Breitung, 313 N. Division St., Appleton. Representing the public service commission was Engineer R. A. Montgomery.

Conducting the hearing was PSC Examiner Richard Alexander.

Naturalization Hearings Held in Appleton Monday

Eighteen persons were naturalized as American citizens at a hearing in Appleton Monday.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell and Morris Lieberman, examiner-in-charge, presided at the naturalization hearing.

The new citizens include four from Canada, four from Germany, six from the Netherlands, one from Great Britain and two from Korea, and one from Romania.

They are Bernice M. Irwin and John C. Irwin, 1031 W. Summer St., Larry Glen Robison and George Alan Robison, 3225 W. Spencer St., all from Canada; Diana Theresa Bellin, 505 Susan St., Kimberly, from Great Britain, and Friedrich Born, Main Hall, Lawrence College, from Romania.

Those from Germany are Luise Karoline Polenz and Alfred Polenz, route 1, Hortonville; Fritz Joachim Plenge, 630 First St., Antigo, and Helga Backhaus, 232 E. Lawrence St., Appleton.

Those from the Netherlands include Eneka C. Benkers, Wilhelmina Benkers, and John N. Benkers, 1225 W. Lawrence St.; Nancy C. Van Slappen, 120 S. Teulahu Ave.; Martin Francis Wydevan, 319 N. John St.; Kimberly, and Jacoba Alberta Timmers, route 4, Appleton.

Karen Bess and Sharon Belinda Brokaw from Korea, adopted daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brokaw, Greenville, also were naturalized.

Court Action Result Of 1961 Auto Mishap Injuring 3 Women

Damages for injuries received in a two-car collision amounted to $49,000 for three girls involved in a June 7, 1961, accident. The settlement was made Tuesday in Circuit Court.

Miss Diane Scheuer, 21, of Appleton, received $16,310; Miss Yvonne Miller, Burlington, was awarded $17,620, and Miss Sharylyn Downs, 20, Milwaukee, received $15,000. The settlement was made after a conference during the day and a half trial.

The three women were passengers in a car driven by Richard Grassy, Fond du Lac, which was traveling north on U.S. 10 when it collided with a car driven by Justin Grogan, 2416 Greiner Road, Appleton.

Grogan's insurance carrier, The Firemen's Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., was ordered to make the settlement.

The insurance company has a cause of action for contribution to the settlement and Grassy may have a cause of action for his own injuries. Judge Andrew W. Parnell said, but these issues were not a part of this litigation.

All of the women suffered multiple pelvic fractures and had medical expenses of about $3,500 each. Loss of wages because of the injuries also was substantial, Judge Parnell said.

School Board Names Chairman For Committee

Charles Buchanan was appointed chairman Monday of an Appleton Board of Education committee studying merit pay for teachers.

Mrs. George C. Munro, board president, also appointed John A. Schneider to the committee and asked Franklin L. Nehs to continue as a member.

Earl Harder, whose term on the school board ended in July, had been on the committee with Nehs.

The Appleton Taxpayers Association has urged the school board to consider adopting a merit pay system for teachers.

Cars Damaged

NEENAH — Damaged in an accident in the 100 block on S. Commercial Street at 6:47 a.m. today were cars driven by Mildred B. Harbor, 1218 S. Commercial St., and Larry N. Kyle, 25, 737 Oak St. The Harbor car was going north on S. Commercial Street and the Kyle car came out of a driveway to cross S. Commercial Street and go west on Curtis Avenue when the vehicles collided.

Defeat Move to Cut in Private Firms; Accept Budget Unchanged

BY DICK LYNIES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County will continue to do its own highway construction work with its own machinery and crews.

The decision came Tuesday afternoon in the wake of a shouting, desk-pounding debate in which supervisors once again defeated a proposal to cut in private contractors for a piece of the county's highway construction pie. In an incidental move, the supervisors accepted the Highway Committee's proposed $776,213 budget without a change. Defeated was an attempt to have $10,000 sliced from the winter maintenance fund.

Supv. Al C. Fischer, long an outspoken advocate of a plan to have private firms take over the county's construction work, ignited two hours of haggling when he introduced a resolution asking the Highway Committee to advertise for private contractors' bids on six county trunk projects. The final vote killing the resolution was 43 to 9.

He proposed these projects as suitable for offers from private firms:

County Trunk C, from one-half mile south of County Trunk EE to County Trunk S; County Trunk E, from Freedom to County Trunk EE; County Trunk CC, from county Trunk OO to County Trunk JJ; County Trunk J, from County Trunk M to County Trunk TT; County Trunk TT, from County Trunk M one and three quarters miles west from Hortonville, and County Trunk UU, from County Trunk N to County Trunk U.

Supv. Ervin Conrad of the Town of Bovina, a member of the Highway Committee, immediately stood up and pointed out what he considers an example of private contracting overestimates.

"The amount it cost the state to construct the new U.S. 41 north of Appleton was $383,301 over the amount bid by the contractor," Conrad charged.

Supv. Mark Catlin of Appleton stated that Fischer's resolution didn't ask for bids to be let, only for comparative costs. "A year ago the Highway Committee asked us to bring this matter up at the budget session and all we're doing is what they asked us to do."

"Everyone in Outagamie County would benefit from this," Catlin said.

Catlin introduced an amendment to Fischer's resolution which would specify that the county would not have to let the bids and that the highway committee have the power to reject any bids.

"I don't have any commitments one way or another," he said, "I just think that we should have a right to inspect other bids."

Supv. Russell De La Hunt of Kaukauna disagreed with Catlin, saying he didn't like the pressure such a move would put on the highway committee. "They may be put into the position to have to reject lower bids," he said. "The question is: Do we

225 Attend Menasha High Open House

MENASHA — "An increased interest was shown in Menasha High School's classroom programs as 225 parents attended our open house last night," reported Prin. L. A. Wienbergen. Teachers reported that parents were enthusiastic about their brief class sessions.

Social arrangements for the open house were made through the PTA. Hostesses were Mmes. Rogge, Fliege, John Madsen, E. Fleischer, E. Larson, George Sitzberger and Joseph Drzewiecki.

Results Not Binding

Kimberly Vote OKs Swim Pool Probe

KIMBERLY — Residents of school district No. 6 voted Tuesday, 504 to 396 in favor of having the board of education study ways to finance construction of a swimming pool adjacent to the new high school.

The results of the election are not binding on the school board since the referendum was merely advisory and was requested at the annual school meeting to determine whether the majority of citizens favored or opposed construction of a pool.

Estimated cost of the pool which would be suitable for year around use was $250,000, according to Sauter and Sea-borne, architects for the school. The pool, if constructed, would be available to all residents of the school district.

500 Capacity
Plans call for the pool to have a swimming area 75 by 42 feet and a diving area, with two diving boards, 42 by 42 feet. Pool capacity at one time would be 500 persons. The pool would be used during day hours at the school for physical education programs but during summer months, on off school days and after school hours the pool will be open to the public.

The board of education will discuss pool financing at a future meeting.

Appleton 1962 Tax Bill Refund Credit $3.50 Per $1,000

Homeowners in Second Precinct Of Ninth Ward to Save $6.34

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Good news for Appleton homeowners — your 1962 tax bills will be reduced by $3.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

It means, for example, that a person with a home assessed at $10,000 will have a tax bill deduction of $35.

The amount of the deduction is arrived at by multiplying the magic $3.50 figure by 10.

And, there is much better news for those Appleton residents in the Second Precinct of the Ninth Ward, which is in Calumet County. Their bills will be reduced by $6.34 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The reason for the wide difference in the two figures is the personal property angle which is included in the state formula. The second precinct has very little personal property and is generally a residential area.

Tax Rolls
Appleton has a major amount of personal as well as real estate property on the tax rolls. When personal property credit refunds are eventually determined, the Appleton merchant will get a much better "break" than one doing business in that sector which is a part of Calumet County.

City Clerk-Comptroller Elden Broehm and Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein made a joint announcement today that the $455,800 credit refund listed for Appleton by the State Department of Taxation Monday will represent a local credit of $3.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The city officials arrived at the figure after conferring with a representative of a local auditing

Applicants Asked to File With Outagamie Board Head Alvin Fulcer by Dec. 15

Alvin Fulcer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, was given the authority this morning to select a temporary board of trustees for the Outagamie County Hospital.

Acting on a motion by Supv. Sylvester Esler of Appleton, the county board decided that the temporary board would serve until the county board elects a permanent board at its January meeting.

A motion introduced by Supv. Russell De La Hunt of Kaukauna instructed Fulcer to act as liaison between the temporary trustees and the county board, together with any members of the executive committee he selects.

Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath requested that anyone interested in serving on the permanent board have an application filed with Fulcer by Dec. 15. Fulcer said that all applications received at that time will be destroyed. The three persons who have made applications at this time will have to reapply.

Asks Selection
Dr. Thomas M. Loescher, physician for the county hospital and the County Golden Age Home, addressed the supervisors and asked that the selection of the board be a careful and thoughtful procedure.

"Everything has been destructive up to this time," he said, "and let's be constructive from hereafter."

"Ability and interest are important to everyone applying for board position," Dr. Loescher stated, "so all applicants should make a visit to the hospital to see what they're dealing with."

"Also," he pointed out, "our medical and psychiatric care should be maintained and improved."

Dr. Loescher said that at Thursday night's meeting of the Outagamie County Medical Society he would suggest to the board that they recommend at least one doctor to serve on the County Hospital board of trustees "to supervise and control me."

Liaison Committee
Supv. Arthur Hoolihan of Appleton made the suggestion that the county board name a liaison committee to act between the trustees and the county board until a permanent board is selected.

Supv. Eugene Kloes agreed, saying "It is important that a member of the executive committee serve with the temporary board who would be more familiar with the board's policies."

De La Hunt suggested that the man be Fulcer. Fulcer accepted, but said he wanted more than one member of the executive committee to serve with him.

The executive committee will screen all applicants for the permanent board and make their recommendations at the January board session.

Stansbury is former president and chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank, Appleton, to replace Karl E. Stansbury, who has resigned after 25 years as a director.

He joined Thilmany in 1936, working in the sales department from 1936 to 1947. He was a director from 1941 to 1961, vice president and assistant sales manager from 1947 to 1950, and vice president in charge of sales from 1950 to 1959. He was named president in 1959 and chairman of the board in 1961.

McCorison was elected to the Lawrence College board of trustees in 1959, after serving for two years as chairman of the Lawrence Development Fund for greater service which raised $1,700,000 under him for new campus buildings. He was elected a trustee of the Institute of Paper Chemistry this fall.

Council President

McCorison has been president of the Valley Council of Boy Scouts, and is now a member of the executive committee of Region 7 and a member of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America. He is a former director of the Appleton YMCA and trustee of the First Congregational Church, and has been active in the United Community Service work.

He has been interested in regional planning and is a member and ex officio trustee nominated by the Lawrence College board of trustees.

Stansbury took part in the for-interest in banking and general economic conditions for many years, said Harold Adams, president of the First National Bank, in announcing the board changes.

"Both of these men have done a tremendous amount of good for this area, often without recognition," Adams said. "They have done exceptional work in the area of community development."

2 Waupaca People Hurt In Hearse Accident on U. S. 10 Near Fairchild

WAUPACA — Two Waupaca people were injured at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday when the Holly Funeral Home hearse was involved in a traffic accident on U.S. 10 near Fairchild.

Roy Holly suffered cuts on the face, and Miss Stella Reinhart a fractured wrist. Both were passengers in the hearse, which was driven by Edward Lauton, an employee of the funeral home.

The hearse was taking the body of Mrs. Pearl Butcher to Fort Snelling, Minn., for burial. Reinhart was Mrs. Butcher's sister. Holly and Miss Reinhart were located at a Neillsville hospital and subsequently released. The hearse according to reports, was passing a truck when it collided with another truck coming from the opposite direction.

Eighteen persons became American citizens at a hearing in Appleton Monday. They include, from left, Friedrich Born, Helga Backhaus, Fritz Joachim Plenge, Antigo; Jacoba Alberta Timmers, Martin Francis Wydevan, Kimberly; Diana Theresa Bellin, Kimberly; Nancy C. ### Employee Union Seeks 10-Cent Raise, Four Weeks Vacation

KAUKAUNA — The board of and subsequently raised the sal- public works voted Tuesday night any increase to 3 per cent. After to make no changes in its pre- hearing all union demands re- vious offer to the city employee- peated Tuesday, board members union regarding vacation schedule made a final offer of 3 per cent and salary adjustments. pay increase and no change in vacation plan.

The board and union represen- tatives have held five meetings in an attempt to reach agreement. The major union requests were for four weeks paid vacation after 20 years service and a pay in- crease of 10 cents an hour.

The city countered with 5 cents per hour and no change in vaca- tion schedule at an early meeting

8 Custodians At Kaukauna Get Pay Hike

Education Board Votes Increases From $150 to $250

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday evening ap- proved pay increases for custodi- ans at the school ranging from $150 to $250 for each of the eight salaried workers.

An hourly paid worker was granted a 5 per cent per hour increase. New scale is to take ef- fect with the next pay period.

Board members indicated the sal- ary adjustments amounted to slightly above the 3 per cent hike being granted by industries.

Members voted to have the Kau- kauna school system join a Fox Valley Regional Curriculum Study Council. An initial $25 affilia- tion fee will be charged and next year the school will contribute $500 toward a budget for the coun- cil.

Other Schools

Walter Schmidt, principal, indi- cated Appleton, Oshkosh, Kimber- ly, Brillion, Neenah, Menasha, New London and Berlin were also interested in joining the group while additional schools would be accepted later. Purpose of the or- ganization is to carry out research covering various aspects of edu- cation with the goal being to pro- vide students with the best pos- sible educational development.

Board members voted to advise the owner of school buses to have all drivers pass physical examina- tions and have chest X-rays taken every three years as recommend- ed by the state. Previously bus drivers were not required to pass physical exams.

Board members voted to pur- chase 200 chairs from the Ameri- can Seating Company at a total cost of $1,990. The chairs will be used in the cafeteria of the addi- tion to the high school. Additional chairs will be purchased at a later date.

New Teacher

Miss Martha Stoelb, Sheboygan, was hired to teach home econ- omics at the high school for the second semester. Marshall Bayor- geon, president of the board, was named delegate to the school board association meeting in Jan- uary.

The building and grounds com- mittee was instructed to study the possibility of a cornerstone laying ceremony for the new addition or purchase of a plaque for the new addition. An invitation was extend- ed to the state department of edu- cation to send representatives to the school to view class sessions and discuss with supervisors the 1963-64 curriculum.

Seals Out This Week

Volunteers Set 'Stuffing Day' in Fight Against TB

Volunteers from the Lady Elks and the American Legion Auxil- iary will hold a "stuffing day" Thursday at the Odd Fellows Hall to insert Christmas seals in en- velopes for mailing.

The seals will be mailed this week by the Appleton Area Tubercu- losis Association to residents of Kimberly, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks, Greenville and Appleton.

Funds contributed to the 1962 Christmas seal campaign will be used by the association in its drive to eradicate TB and con- trol other respiratory diseases, and will finance a tuberculin skin testing program, the mobile X-ray Anti - Tuberculosis Association, unit, publication of health infor- mation, and research.

The Appleton Golden Agers helped fold the 30,000 sheets of Christmas seals, delivered to their clubhouse by Robert Wilson, campaign chairman. Mrs. Wil- liam Borsum is in charge of the "stuffing day" Thursday.

Appleton Man Able to Stand Murder Trial

Charged in April Death of Oshkosh Tavern Owner

OSHKOSH — George Schuster, 38, Appleton and formerly of Oshkosh, charged with third de- gree murder in the April 18 death of Mrs. May Gokey, Oshkosh tav- ern owner, today was declared sane and able to stand trial fol- lowing a mental examination at Central State Hospital at Waupun.

Schuster, who was committed to Central State Oct. 4 for the mental examination, was return- ed to the court of Winnebago County Judge Herbert J. Mueller this morning.

Schuster now is represented by Henry Hughes of Oshkosh, his sixth attorney since he was first charged with the crime at the end of April. The case is being transferred to circuit court at the request of the defense attorney.

The attorneys were to meet this afternoon with Circuit Judge Ar- nold J. Cane to set a trial date.

The body of Mrs. May Gokey, 61, was found in her home, where she lived alone, on April 22, ap- parently three days after her

New Pay Proposal Offered to Council

Plan Aimed at Ending Menasha School-City Wage Conflict

MENASHA — A four-part sal- ary index plan for Menasha pub- lic school teachers was proffered to the City Council Tuesday night as a possible means of resolving the present School Board - Coun- cil conflict over teacher salaries.

Neighbors investigated aft- er she had not been seen for sev- eral days and found her body on the floor.

Evidence showed that a beat- ing she received was a partial cause of her death although the immediate cause was a heart at- tack. Schuster, after his arrest, admitted he had been in her house April 18, the night she died.

After his arraignment, the court ordered a sanity test last May and in June Dr. Benjamin Glover of Madison declared Schuster sane. After several post- ponements, on each of which Schuster changed attorneys, he pleaded innocent July 10. Another sanity test was ordered last Oc- tober.

The citizens' committee, which met with the Council during a committee of the whole session recommended that the Menasha Council adopt the following sal- ary index plan:

Part I — A 12-step program for teachers with bachelor de- grees only, with base pay of $4,700 and top pay after 12 years of teaching pegged at $7,614.

Part II — A 12-step program for teachers with bachelor de- grees plus 15 additional credits in their area of specialization, ranging from a base pay of $5,076 to a top salary after 12 years of $8,319.

Part III — a 20-step program for teachers with master degrees, ranging in a base pay of $5,452 to a top after 25 years of $10,058; and Part IV — a 30-step pro- gram for teachers with master degrees plus 24 credits, ranging from a base of $5,828 to a maxi- mum after 30 years of $10,904.

Patrolman Given Red Cross Award For Saving Life

Physician Says Man's Action Kept Youth From Certain Death

Patrolman George W. Weaver, 29, of the Appleton Police Department, was awarded the Certificate of Merit of the American Red Cross Tuesday for using his Red Cross training in emergency first aid to save the life of 6-year-old Jeffrey Clark after an accident May 17.

The Certificate of Merit is the highest award given to individuals by the American Red Cross. The presentation was the highlight of the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Chapter of the American Red Cross at the 41 Bowl Tuesday evening. The meeting also included the presentation of eight special awards to chapter workers and certificates to retiring board members, and the election of new board members and chapter officers.

Owen Kuehmsted, Appleton, was chosen new chairman of the chapter.

1913 Award
According to Bob Fender, first aid chairman, Weaver is the 62nd Wisconsin resident to receive the Certificate of Merit. Awards for saving life were established by the Red Cross in 1913.

The incident on which the award is based occurred when Patrolman Weaver, who was working in his yard, saw that young Jeffrey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark, who lives nearby, had run into a glass storm door. Weaver controlled the bleeding from a cut on the boy's neck through pressure to an artery below the wound enough so that the child could be moved.

Weaver enlisted the aid of another neighbors to drive them to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Doctors, noting that the bleeding was almost completely stopped through his first home service: Mrs. Nick Engler, immediately took the boy to surgery. They found that the facial artery had been completely severed by a splinter of glass, and performed an operation to suture the ends of the artery together. Jeff went home the following day and in a week was completely recovered.

Would Die
The family physician said that without Weaver's prompt efficient handling of the situation, the child would not have survived the accident. He said the boy would have hemorrhaged to death if proper first aid had not been given. Weaver has completed the Red Cross standard and advanced first aid courses. To qualify for a Certificate of Merit, a person must have been trained in Red Cross first aid, small craft or water safety and must have used this training in "saving or attempting to save the life of another in an act adjudged meritorious."

The Red Cross National Awards Committee in Washington, D. C., approved the award after considering eyewitnesses' and physicians' statements on the merit of the action. The certificate is signed by President John F. Kennedy, honorary national chairman of the Red Cross.

Weaver, with his arm around Jeff, called the award "the greatest honor I could ever have."

Deep Feeling
"I have but one regret — that my Red Cross instructor, the late Detective Irvin Lietz, could not be here to accept it with me," he said with obvious deep feeling.

Special awards for their work during the past year were presented by George Browne, chapter chairman, to Mrs. Warren Elizabeth Hospital. Doctors, noting that the bleeding was almost completely stopped through his first home service: Mrs. Nick Engler, immediately took the boy to surgery. They found that the facial

Mrs. Schmidt presented an award to Lloyd Doerfler for providing telephone service after office hours and on weekends for the Red Cross through his employees at the Yellow Cab Co. Certificates were presented to retiring members of the board, who have served two terms. They were Edward Shaw, Black Creek; Mrs. Allen Gunderson, Shiocton; Arnold Evans, Stephen Freschl and Dr. William Chandler, all of Appleton.

New Officers
New officers are Kuehmsted, chairman; John Dixon, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert Zwicker, secretary, and Gilbert Beglinger, treasurer. Other members named to the executive committee are Robert Crabb, Lloyd Doerfler, Mrs. Warren Gillette, Elmer Otte, Mrs. C. J. Schmidt, William Selle, and Browne as immediate past chapter chairman.

New members of the board of directors, named for three-year terms, are Mrs. Henry Bailey, Gordon H. Bebeau, Vern Bergquist, Mrs. George L. Boyd, Kaukauna; Percy Braatz, Shiocton; Mrs. Daniel J. Burns Jr., Kimberly; Robert Crabb, Mrs. N. P. Engler, Gerald Huhn, Black Creek, Kelly Lathrop, Hortonville; Courtney Schwartz, route 2, Appleton, and William Selle. Mrs. Warren Gillette was elected to the board for a two-year term.

Official Says State Won't Condemn Outagamie Jail

Action Needed Now, He Says, and Indicates Remedies a Must

"The state has no intention at this time of condemning the Outagamie County Jail," a state official told the Outagamie County Board Tuesday afternoon, "but we want some recognition from you as to the problems which exist."

V. A. Verhulst, detention supervisor of the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, Division of Corrections, told the board members the county jail was a good jail when it was constructed 20 years ago.

"But," he went on, "within the last five years the average daily population has risen from 19 to 49. Today," he said "the jail has 55 inmates."

"This does not meet present-day standards," Verhulst went on, "the protection of the individual's health is important."

"We intend to make firm recommendations in the future," he stressed to the board.

Verhulst pointed out that Wisconsin is known as one of the Appleton City Home, 941 1/2 hours at Riverview General Hospital, 521 hours at the Modern Convalescent Home, 3,085 1/2 hours at the Outagamie County Hospital, and 2,813 hours by the day group.

Verhulst charged.

Gray Men" worked 81 hours at the Outagamie County Hospital and 251 1/2 hours at Winnebago State Hospital.

mal rate of growth, that figure will be 100 in five years with approximately half of them Huber Law prisoners.

Need Action Now
"There is a need for action now," he told the board members. "seven prisoners are now being held for Outagamie County in the Winnebago County jail."

Verhulst gave a hint of what the future may hold for Outagamie County. "Eau Claire County now charges $5 per day in addition to the daily cost for every prisoner in the jail from other counties. And Columbia County charges a $10 daily rate."

Verhulst said this may not happen to Outagamie County, "but it's something to think about."

"If Outagamie County starts a building program now, it will be two years before any pressure is relieved."

"We're not trying to tell you what to do," he emphasized, "but we are responsible for the health and public welfare of people in jail."

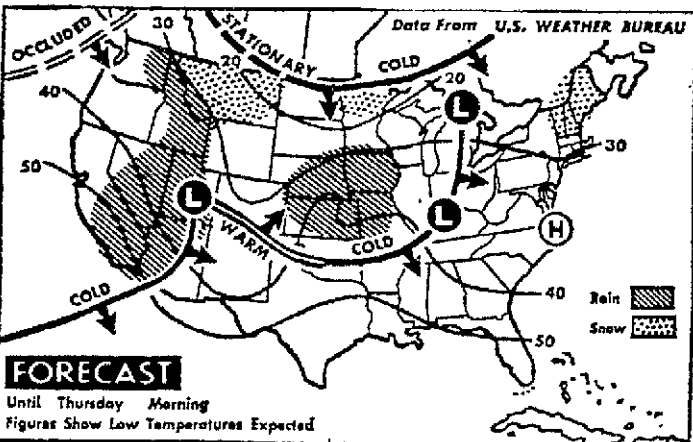

"We have no intention now of condemning the jail, but it may be necessary in the future to limit the number of people in your jail. This will add to your problem," he said.

"Based on the information I have now," Verhulst continued, "a jail with a 100 prisoner capacity will take care of you for just five years."

Things Happen
"Many things happen in jail," he said, "and some of them are definitely unpleasant. The best way to avoid these problems is to have single detention cells, except for Huber Law prisoners. Today, you have eight beds in one cell."

"We can't let jail become schools for crime," Verhulst stressed, "and eight beds in one cell is a great contributor."

State specifications given by Verhulst list 400 cubic feet of air space for each prisoner, which is a cell of 6', by 8', by 9'. The minimum floor space for a single cell floor is 5 1/2 feet by 7 1/2 feet.

Mr. Squirrel has three nuts for you to crack in the adjoining picture. If you crack them correctly, you may become the winner of an exciting game of adventure on the high seas. It's called Beanbag Buccaneers.

The game is a creation of Lake side Toys, includes two pirate ships with mounted cannons, six beanbags for ammunition, a six foot pirate map to spread on the floor as the playing area, two furly rabbit foot with a keychain attached to it. Five will be awarded to contestants of the (Apple ton) area.

These winning entries will compete automatically for the national awards. At local as well as national levels, judging will be for accuracy, neatness and originality of preparation.

To enter the contest you must solve Mr. Squirrel's add a letter puzzle by adding one letter to each of the three words at the left of the picture so that each word becomes something different. For example, to the word "AT," Mr. Squirrel wants you to add one letter to form the name of something you wear.

When you have selected the letter to add in each case point the new word in the proper blank. Clip out the picture. Paste it on paper or a postal card. Print your name, age and address beneath it. With paints, crayons, cut outs or other materials, decorate your entry in any neat, original way you wish. Address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek contest at the Appleton Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to them by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property, none can be returned.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "Please feel of the material in this dress." Omit "of." "Feel of" is correct only when "feel" is used as a noun as, "She liked the feel of the dress."

Often Mispronounced: Peiping (Chinese city). Pronounce bay ping, accents on both syllables.

Often Misspelled: Seize, observe members were asked to vote on the "er" Siege, "ie"

Synonyms: Eccentricity, peculiarity, oddity, queeriness, aberration

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Disputation; act of disputing, controversy, debate. "After a lengthy disputation, the members were asked to vote on the question."

Famed Story of El Cid Now in Movie Version

Charlton Heston, Sophia Loren Star
In Epic Coming to Viking Theater

Few historical figures have stirred the imagination of poets, dramatists and balleaders more than Spain's revered hero-warrior who was born Rodrigo Diaz but is best known as El Cid.

The exploits of this courageous 11th Century nobleman on the battlefield and his undying love for the beautiful Lady Chimene of Castile now has been made into a movie. The spectacular in color comes to the Viking Theater Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The heroic and romantic story of El Cid has been kept alive since the days when the Spanish cantares sang about their national hero. Out of these songs came the classic poem, "Poema del Mio Cid," a legend written in the 12th Century with its basis in historical fact.

The Frenchman Corneille later retold the story in his drama "Le Cid," and several operas have been composed on the theme, notably Massenet's "Le Cid" and Cornelius' "Der Cid."

Historically, Rodrigo de Bivar was a man with a dream for a peaceful, united land. He came from the farmlands beneath the Pyrenees as the invincible champion of his people. Spain, the nation he helped create but never knew in his lifetime, made him its national hero. His name, valorous deeds and love for his lady became legend throughout Europe as well as Spain.

The great figure of Spanish history got his name El Cid from the Arabic el seid, which means lord or master. It was given to him by his Moorish enemies in recognition of his unusual character and leadership.

Charlton Heston The Hero In the modern movie production Charlton Heston plays this hero, the warrior who dreamed of peace for his land and who fought valiantly to achieve it. Sophia Loren portrays the fiery and proud Castilian noblewoman knights depicted in the film, caught up in the strange but lasting romance with him.

The film already has been an outstanding hit as a roadshow attraction in larger cities across the nation. It has been named one of the best 10 motion pictures of the year by many metropolitan newspapers and magazines. The film story was written by Academy Award winners Fredric M. Frank and Phillip Yordan. The theatrical depicts the royal pageantry of Spain in the 11th Century. Many of the scenes were directed by Anthony Mann is director.

filmed at historic sites where the real El Cid lived and fought. More than 12,000 Castles took part in the movie. Castles were restored, the great Moorish gates in the walls of the coastal city of Peniscola were rebuilt for the great seige and later the defense of Valencia by El Cid's forces. The Spanish Army loaned its famous cavalry for five weeks shooting of the film. Madrid sent 500 riders of its Municipal Honor guard. Commercial ships were converted into the black-sailed Moslem armada for the movie.

One of the most beautiful examples of Gothic architecture in all Europe, the Castle of Belmonte, became the setting for the jousting tournament of Calahorra in which El Cid slays the champion of Castile in combat that lasts 11 minutes on the screen.

The Cathedral of Burgos was reconstructed at the Sevilla Studios in Madrid to provide a setting for three important scenes in the film, the court wedding of El Cid and Chimene, the coronation of King Alfonso of Castile and the moment of prayer when the hero leaves his country as an exile.

Craftsmen of the Garrido Foundation of Toledo took on the task of making ancient arms for the film. More than 10,000 costumes, including hundreds of Italian made velvet and brocades, give another view of the scope of the filmed production. This first movie of the epic tale is a Samuel Bronston production. The film story was written by Academy Award winners Fredric M. Frank and Phillip Yordan. The theatrical depicts the royal pageantry of Spain in the 11th Century. Many of the scenes were directed by Anthony Mann is director.

Naked City Probes Case Of Senility

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 11)—Naked City has another of its semi-crimes this week; these are stories the program apparently likes in which the police get involved but no real damage is done. The perpetrators here are two elderly men, whose actions and mentality border on the senile. One (Luther Adler) makes threatening phone calls to people who deserve them. The other (Ed Begley) is an ex-cop who overhears one of Adler's calls and begins a petty blackmailing scheme.

6:30-7 (Channel 2)—Clowns and Heroes is a pilot for a possible series, which would reveal the customs, habits and personalities of people around the world by sitting with them at their favorite type of entertainment. We're visiting a rural Portuguese town, Santaren, and watching the life of the people and then attending a Portuguese bullfight.

7:30-8 (Channel 2)—Dobie Gillis points a skinny finger at a rare subject for comedy—death. Dobie (Dwayne Hickman) is up to his old hobby, trying to impress a girl. This particular lawny beast (Eilene Janssen) is a pre-med student and is only interested in terminal cases, so Dobie resorts to the time-honored tactics of lovers everywhere—lying.

8:30-9 (Channel 2)—The Dick Van Dyke Show returns to one of its pet projects this week—finding Rose Marie a husband. She falls hard for Vic Damone, who plays a guest singer on the show. Dick and Rose Marie write for. And Vic likes her, too—as a sister.

9-10 (Channel 2)—The Steel Hour has a light romance in "Marriage Marks the Spot," but it is spoiled by some miscasting. Darren McGavin and Julius LaRosa play a team of computer salesmen; McGavin is the brash operator and La Rosa the technical details. But McGavin is too old for his role, and LaRosa does not project the depth of intellect his role requires.

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5)—Tonight's guests are Jack E. Leonard, the Bhaskar Dancers and Moc Questal (Color)

Outagamie Will Do Own Highway Work

want to build highways or do we let it out to private contractors?"

Engineer Required

In reply to a question from Catlin, Supv. Edward Peotter of the Town of Osborn, chairman of the highway committee, stated that projects which do not come under federal aid require an engineer to be hired. That adds about another 10 per cent cost to the project, he said. "Our men go out on their own subject. I'm proud of the road, a good job. I'm proud of our roads," Peotter said.

"You're right, I agree," Catlin answered, "but we should resolve this question now and for ever."

"We followed your direction six months ago when you suggested we bring this matter up at the budget hearing," Catlin continued. "So can't we try this method for just one year in order to find out who's right and who's wrong."

Peotter stated that if the county was to discontinue contracting work, it would be impossible to keep 100 men on the payroll just so the county could offer good snow removal service.

"That's not the issue," Catlin shouted back. "Your committee and the highway commissioner (Clarence Brownson) have the power to throw out any bids of private contractors."

"You're asking me to consider these bids when my hands are tied," Peotter replied. "Since you know I can't hire private contractors and throw my men out of work."

Supv. Harold Schmeichel of the Town of Center said he was all in favor of knowing what the private contractors would bid, but he added, "we're not going to get the answers if we advertise for bids. Contractors know that they wouldn't get the bids anyway," he charged. "So they could submit very low bids."

De La Hunt agreed with Schmeichel. He asked, "Do we want to build our own roads or not? Contractors are businessmen, so they could make their bids as low as possible to embarrass the highway committee."

Amendment Introduced

Catlin then introduced another amendment to Fischer's resolution which removed all non-federal aid projects from private bidding. Catlin's two amendments were carried by voice vote of the board.

"Now," he said, "we're just discussing federal aid projects with" specifications provided by the district engineer's office in Green Bay."

Catlin then asked Conradt when work could begin on the federal aid projects.

"Tomorrow," Conradt answered, "or as soon as the county board says we can."

But under questioning from Catlin, Peotter said the state is still working on specifications, so work could not begin until the specifications were received.

"When will Outagamie County be ready?" Catlin asked Peotter.

"I can't answer. . . I can't guess," was the answer.

Supv. Paul Kostka, Little Chute village president, called on Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer of Kim-federal aid require an engineer to be hired to apply Roberts' Law on That adds about another 10 per cent cost to the project, he said. "Our men go out on their own subject. I'm proud of the road, a good job. I'm proud of our roads," Peotter said.

Market Shows Steady Climb

Associated Press Stock Averages Improve in Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — After weathering a bit more profit taking on its two-week rally, the stock market moved upward early this afternoon in active trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 6.23 with industrials up .5, rails up .2, and utilities up .6.

Fractional gains among key stocks outnumbered losses, changing the balance to the losing side which existed in early trading.

The automotive Big Three and American Motors gained fractions while Studebaker was about unchanged. Oils, rails, aerospace issues, drugs, utilities, and airlines also moved generally higher.

Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed. Nonferrous metals were mostly lower, Anaconda being an exception as it gained close to a point.

Oil Down

Superior Oil of California, high-priced issue on the big board, was down as much as 65 points as profits were taken on its 130-point jump of Tuesday, but it recovered most of the loss, showing only a 15-point deficit in later dealings.

IBM gained more than 5. Amerasia rose more than a point.

Gains of about a point were made by Douglas Aircraft, Polaroid, and Lorillard.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.30 at 625.41.

Board Will Study Employing Full-Time County Auditor

Outagamie County may one day employ a full-time auditor to keep daily account of its growing and complex financial operations.

The suggestion was brought up at today's session of the Outagamie County Board, currently in its third day of budget deliberations.

Board members appeared in agreement on the general proposition but there was some split of opinion as to when the move should be made. It finally was decided to turn the matter over to the executive and civil service and salary committees for study.

Tax Rebate May be $3.50 Per $1,000

on the basis of the final tax rate set by the common council, the total tax credit allowed under the credit refund formula and, last but not least and most important, the net tax payment due.

Officials Confused

When original announcement of the tax refund for Appleton was made at Madison Monday, city officials were confused and extremely cautious. No one would venture a guess as to what amount of tax refund would go to the city's homeowners.

Officials originally were led to believe by state tax people that a percentage refund could be applied across-the-board on the tax bills but this was not the case.

Broehm and Feuerstein were jubilant after they arrived at the $3.50 figure and had it verified by Hauser, of the tax department, in a long distance telephone conversation. "We, like other city officials in the state, had made some guesses on the basis of unofficial credit refund figures obtained out of Madison," Feuerstein commented.

Local officials had estimated on somewhat of a guessing basis that the refund would amount to $2 to $2.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

When the $455,800 credit refund was announced, officials could not immediately determine whether this included amounts for both the real estate and personal property.

After studying data supplied by the state, they arrived at the conclusion the amount was mostly for real estate tax relief.

Major Refund

In his conversation with Hauser, Broehm was reassured that the City of Appleton would receive another major credit refund in February which would cover the deduction allowed persons paying personal property taxes.

Business institutions coming under the state's category A personal property division will receive a 50 per cent deduction on the tax bill received from the City of Appleton. A firm normally paying the city $3,000 in taxes would be charged $1,500 to cite another example.

Actually, the bills for real estate and personal property taxes for the City of Appleton will have a new look this year. And, according to Broehm and Feuerstein, taxpayers can expect to receive bills much later than usual because the new procedure will represent additional work in addition to being more time-consuming.

The tax bills will be prepared on an electronically operated computer, the latter representing a completely new system.

1962 Bills

The city treasurer will send out an estimated 17,000 real estate and 1,000 personal property tax bills this year.

On Nov. 21 the Appleton Common Council is expected to set the 1963 tax rate.

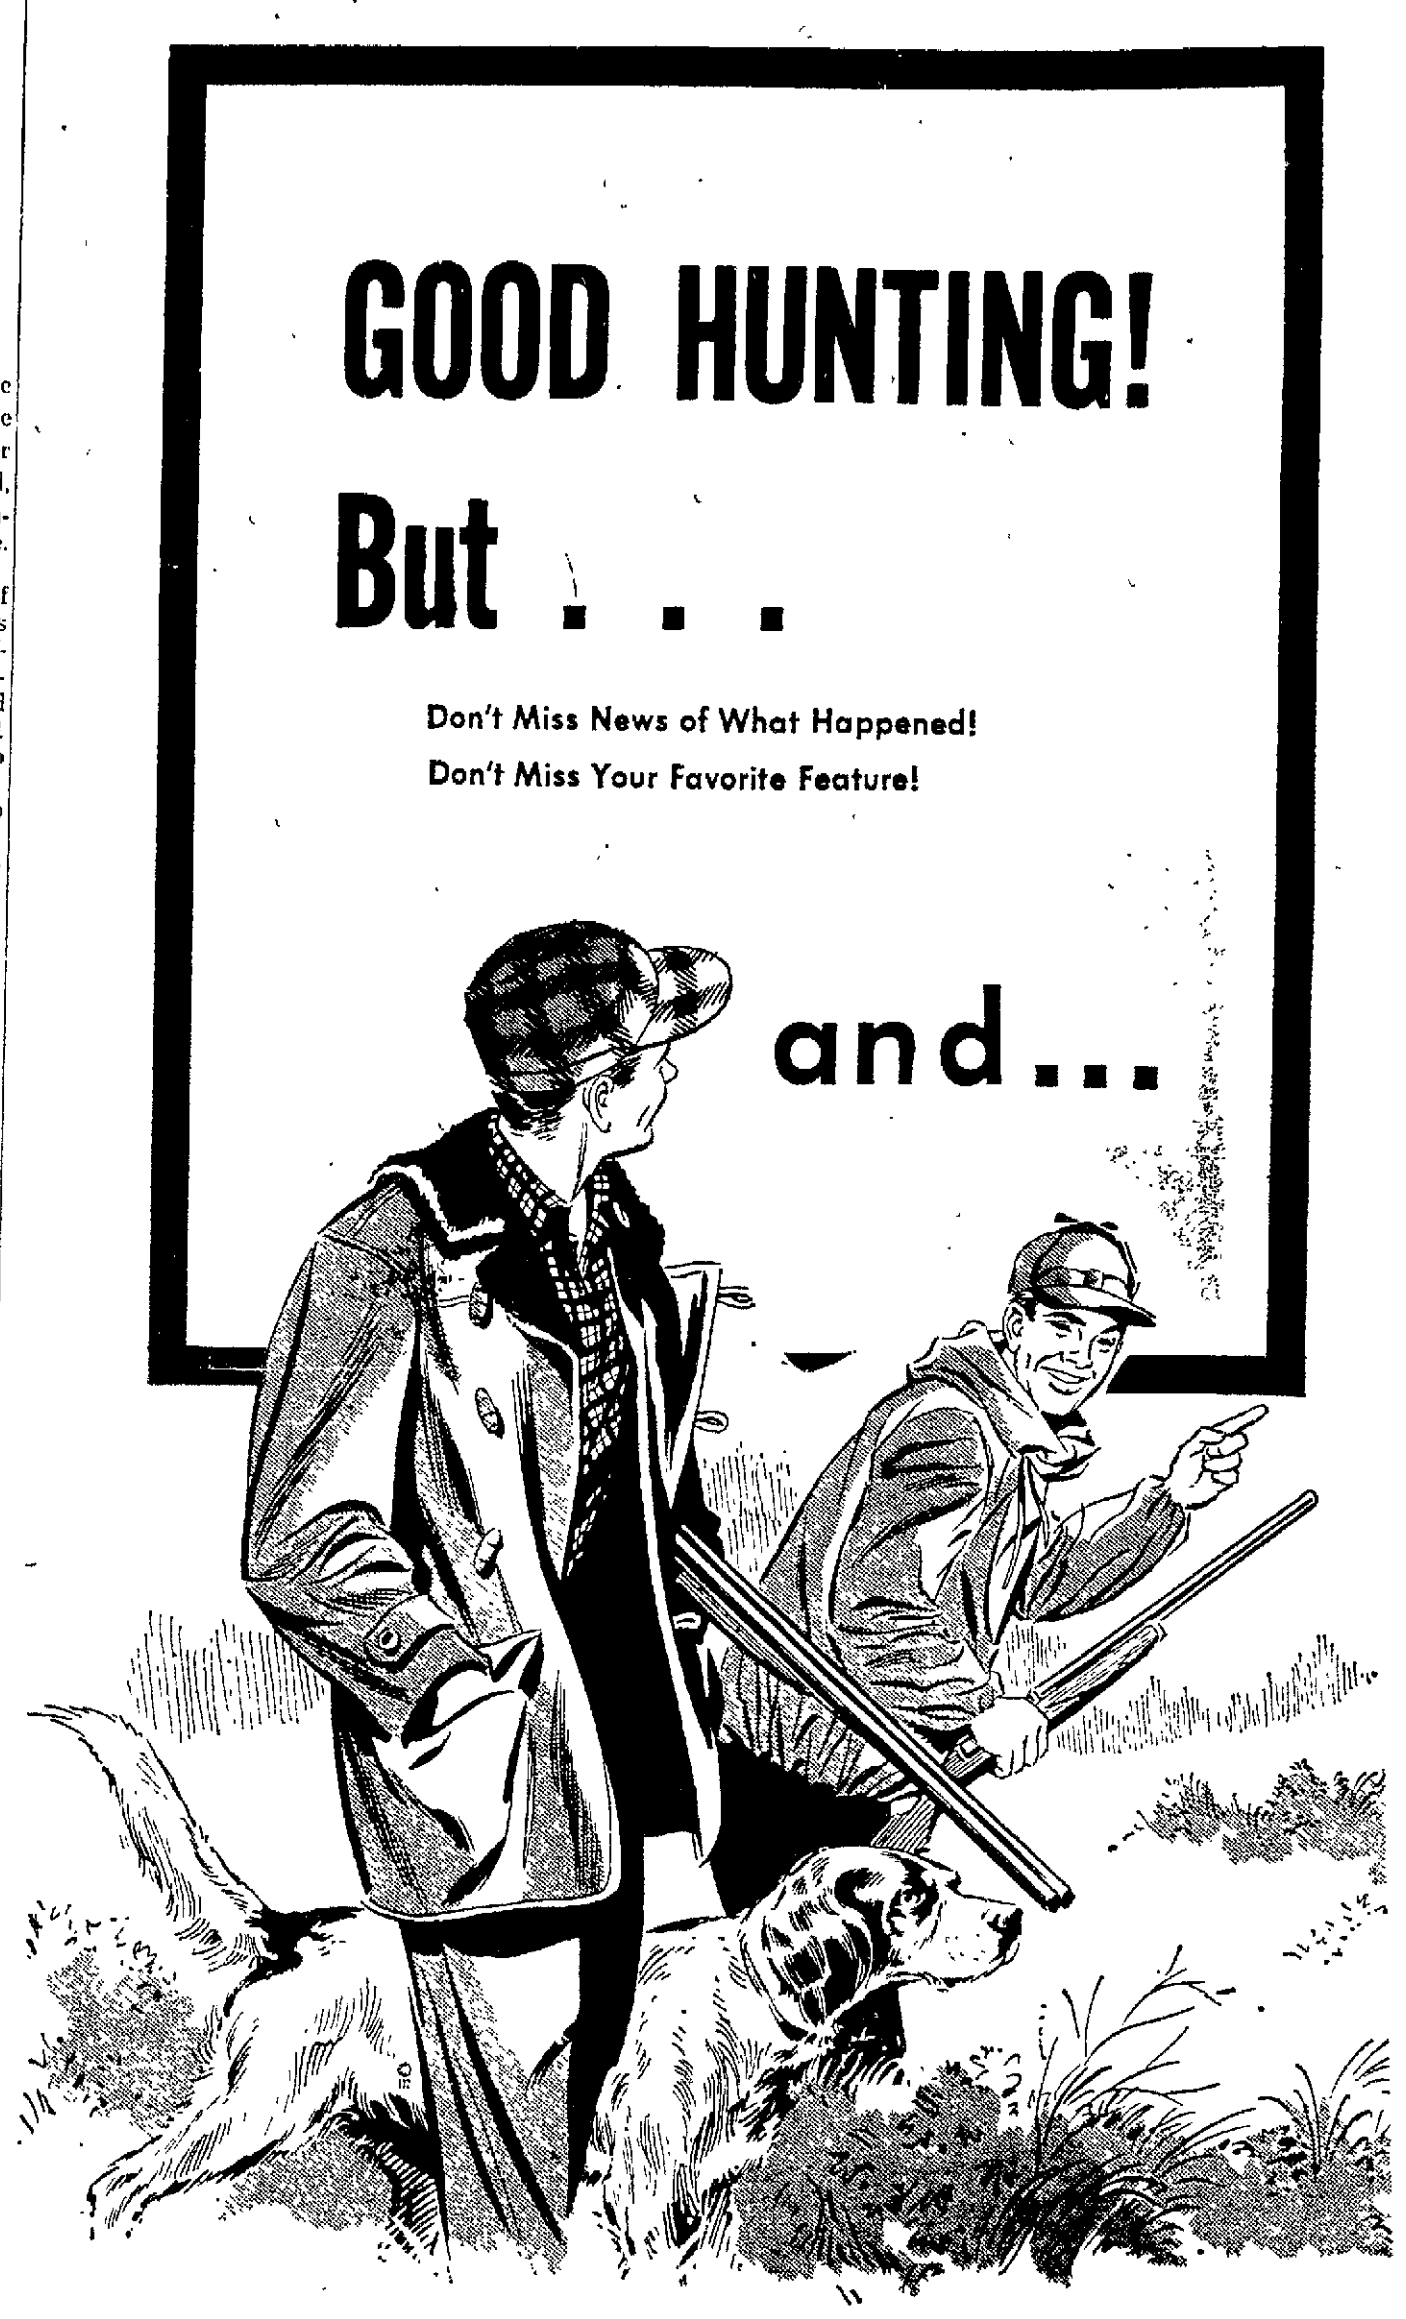

Any increases in the city, county and state tax levies—and there will be boosts—will automatically dent the $3.50 tax credit refund figure.

For instance, if the overall city tax rate goes up by $2, it means the state tax refund will in reality only amount to $1.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The 1962 tax rate for the City of Appleton was $44.10. Residents residing in the second precinct of the Ninth Ward, which is in Calumet County, have a $44.75 rate.

A few other Fox River Valley communities have come up with the credit refund per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Fond du Lac, which has a high $53.75 tax rate, will have a $5.50 credit refund figure. Sheboygan's amounts to $4.25 and Green Bay $1.86.

Probe Ordered of Audit Discrepancy

New London Schoolmen Seek Answer to $130,000 Difference

NEW LONDON — An investigation into reports of $130,000 discrepancy in a state audit and actual expenditures of the New London School District was ordered by the board of education Tuesday night.

Mrs. Marion Markman, board member, cited the 1961-62 capital outlay account. In the audit report of June 30, 1962, capital outlays are listed at $160,598. Expenditures in the budget summary for the same period showed $31,896.

Mrs. Markman also pointed out to the board all but three accounts showed differences in amounts spent. Ranges were from $600 to the $130,000 figure.

The school administration and board members said there must be a reasonable explanation for the differences.

Ask Opinion

Vernon Truesdale, board member, suggested Mrs. Markman be appointed to confer with the school secretary, Supt. Lloyd Qualley and the business manager to study the problem.

Dean Kronwell, acting president, requested the school attorney, Sigmund Krostue, give an opinion on changes in the school budget.

Leslie Werner, business manager, told Mrs. Markman some of the differences could be accounted for because auditors do not count pennies. Figures are rounded off to the nearest dollar.

Change Needed

Mrs. Markman also said cash on hand in both reports should be the same, but it isn't.

Krostue said he felt either the bookkeeping system should be changed to fit the budget or the budget changed to fit the bookkeeping.

Mrs. Markman also asked the board and the attorney if it was legal for the board of education to change budget figures without notifying the public.

Krostue, in an opinion, said law required the school board approve the change by a two-thirds majority and publish the change in a public place for eight days. He said the law was there but did not say when or at what time it had to be followed.

Figures Changed

The question arose from the three-month budget report where sums under certain accounts were changed. Mrs. Markman was told by school administrators the lump sums are changed to place them into proper accounts such as salary, travel and expense.

Mrs. Markman also questioned the board's right to cut $10,000 from the 1962-63 budget without notifying the electors. The sum was deducted following the public hearing. Truesdale said a budget is not a budget until it is adopted. He said at the time the figure was cut, the budget still was a proposed budget.

Funeral Services for Shawano Man Nov. 15

SHAWANO — Joseph T. Quevillon, 61, former owner of Larry's Country Club, Hortonville, and a plumbing and heating businessman here, died Tuesday.

Quevillon had owned the club for about five years until 1958 when Larry Westphal purchased it.

Quevillon was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society.

He is survived by the widow, three sons and three daughters.

Funeral services will be at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Sacred Heart Church. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines, Ill.

State Insurance Department to Seek New Laws

Commissioner Notes Loss in Casualty Automobile Line

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A worried state insurance department will ask the 1963 legislature in January to strengthen the regulatory laws governing the insurance business to reflect changing problems and conditions in the trade.

Charles Manson, state insurance commissioner, disclosed his plan in the annual report of his department filed with Gov. Nelson which referred apprehensively to increasing loss ratios, especially in automobile casualty lines, increasing severity of competition between carriers, and the decline in the value of securities represented in the reserves of many companies.

The commissioner has already held conferences on proposed new laws with various advisory committees drawn from the underwriting field.

Keep Pace
"Changes in underwriting conditions," his report said, require "remedial legislation so that we will have regulatory laws that will keep pace with the changing conditions of the industry."

One proposal to the legislature is likely to be for a substantial increase in the minimum capital requirements for the organization of new underwriting companies. Another would relate capital and surplus requirements to the extent of the risks covered by companies, a department spokesman said. The dollar requirements for capital in new companies were fixed many years ago, and do not relate to the operating conditions of today, it was said.

The covering letter to the governor did not mention the fact, but the department became concerned during the last year about the failure of four Wisconsin casualty companies, all of them involved in automobile insurance.

Casualty Insurance
The report said "we are passing through a very serious period in the casualty insurance section of the business, particularly in automobile legal liability insurance. Losses have increased and the competition is severe."

One industry spokesman said that a loss ratio of 50 per cent is commonly regarded as tolerable. The Manson report showed a loss ratio of all fire and casualty companies last year of just under 62 per cent, and of nearly 60 per cent for automobile insurance.

The loss ratio is the relation of incurred losses to written premiums. The fire and allied lines loss ratio during the same period was slightly under 50 per cent.

Cooper Named Pilot for Next Space Flight

BY HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., a dedicated flier who handled the controls of a plane at the age of 6, will be the pilot for the next U.S. manned space flight—a 24-hour orbital mission scheduled for next April.

The 35-year-old Air Force major was named Tuesday to carry the banner on America's next big step toward its target of landing men on the moon in this decade. The full day flight will swing him 18 times around the globe, triple the six-orbit ride made last month by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Cooper, wife Pleased
Informed of his selection while working at Cape Canaveral, Cooper said he was "very delighted that I have been chosen. I've been working toward this goal for a long time."

At their Houston, Tex., home, Cooper's wife, Trudy—whom he married—said she was happy and pleased with the choice.

She said Cooper called her from the Cape and broke the news shortly after their two daughters, Camala, 13, and Janita, 12, returned from school.

The astronaut's mother, Mrs. Leroy G. Cooper Sr., who lives near the tiny mountain town of Carbondale, Colo., reported she was very happy with the selection. Her husband, the spark behind Gordon's early flying interest, died two years ago.

Cooper, a native of Shawnee, Okla., is the only eligible member of the seven-man Mercury astronaut team who has not rocketed into space. He was backup pilot for Schirra's flight.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., named Cooper's backup—blazed the trail with a 15-minute suborbital space

India Acts to Finance War With Chinese

Parliament Asked For $199.5 Million To Fight Invasion

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government asked Parliament for more money today to fight the border war against Red China.

Finance Minister Morarji Desai submitted a request for an additional $199.5 million to meet increased defense costs caused by the Chinese invasion.

He put in the request as Prime Minister Nehru, 73 today, prepared to close a six-day debate in the lower house on a resolution dedicating the Indian people "to drive out the aggressor from the sacred soil of India, however long and hard the struggle may be."

The upper house gave overwhelming approval Tuesday to both the resolution and an accompanying authorization of a state of emergency.

Reds Mass on Border
Closing the debate in the upper house, Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said Red China had "flooded the entire border of India with soldiers."

He announced plans for expansion of the armed forces, with military training to be given every able-bodied man. Home guard units will be set up and villagers armed in border districts.

Only patrol activity was reported in the 3-mile-high wastes of Ladakh on the western front and from the jungled mountain slopes of India's northeast frontier. Both sides are building up, however, with expectations of more battles to come.

Chinese diplomats are leaving India for Peking. Some 24 Chinese officials and members of their families fled to Rangoon, Tuesday en route to the Chinese capital. Other Chinese left earlier and their consulates in Calcutta and Bombay are reported to have burned secret documents.

Nehru has said India will continue to have diplomatic relations with China as long as it is considered advantageous.

Union Feuding With NAACP on Rights Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are at loggerheads over how to handle racial discrimination in unions.

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO said Tuesday that his organization's Executive Council had decided it cannot work with the NAACP as long as the latter's labor secretary, Herbert Hill, continues filing discrimination suits against unions.

Meany said the AFL-CIO has suspended its financial contributions to the NAACP. "We want to work with them but we can't subscribe to the actions of the labor secretary," Meany said.

NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins replied from New York that while individual unions contribute to the NAACP, the AFL-CIO does not.

Adenauer, Kennedy Start Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP)—German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to the White House today for a ceremonial welcome and conferences with President Kennedy.

Kennedy reportedly wanted to sound Adenauer out on the possibility of new Western overtures for settlement of the troublesome Berlin issue. The impact of the Cuban crisis is a factor.

Adenauer made the short trip from Blair House, the U.S. guest house just across the street, in a black limousine with American and German flags on the fenders.

A band was playing and several hundred spectators waved a salute.

Tax Reduction Plan Periled by Probable $7.8 Billion Deficit

Proxmire Doubts Advisability Voting Cut Kennedy Requests

BY FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials are forecasting a federal budget deficit this year of $7.8 billion. This could be big enough, perhaps, to imperil President Kennedy's plans for a 1963 tax cut.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was one of the first Congress members to comment today on the official deficit estimate announced Tuesday by the Budget Bureau.

"Under the circumstances," he said, "it would be a serious mistake to give the President the tax cut which he indicated last summer he will ask when Congress resumes."

Reasons for Deficit
It may have been no accident, then, that prior to the deficit announcement, it was reported that the administration was giving thought to a gradual tax reduction that would take effect in several steps over a period of one to two years. Such a plan would soften the immediate impact of lower taxes.

The Budget Bureau said several factors were responsible for dashing its dream of keeping out of the red in the current fiscal year that began July 1. It said:

The economy, by falling far short of earlier expectations, is cutting deeply into forecast revenues. Federal income now is expected to total $85.9 billion—down $7.1 billion from the estimate Kennedy provided when he sent the budget to Congress last January and predicted a $500 million surplus.

Record Spending
The administration's 1962 tax bill and the Treasury's July liberalization of tax depreciation, both aimed at spurring business modernization, will account for $2 billion of the revenue loss.

Spending will jump to a peacetime high of $93.7 billion—up $1.2 billion from the January forecast because of $400 million more for interest charges on a bigger na-

270 Parking Tickets Bring Long Jail Term

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sebastian Barone, 39, of Merchantville, N.J., accused of ignoring 270 parking tickets in two years, has been sentenced to 10 days in jail for each one. It adds up to 7½ years.

Magistrate Joseph Hersch sentenced Barone Tuesday after Barone indicated he would not pay the fine of $3.09. His lawyer said he would appeal the sentence—longest ever imposed in traffic court.

Soviet-Cuban Program Aims At Bargaining

Demands Termed 'Just Another Chess Game Move'

BY TOM HOGUE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Some U.N. delegates assessed today new Soviet-Cuban demands, reported to include U.S. withdrawal from the base at Guantanamo, as a bargaining maneuver in negotiations to end the Cuban crisis.

"It is just another move in the chess game," said one diplomat. "Now the Russians will wait for the United States to make a move."

The official revision of the budget figures contained a hint that the deficit might go higher if the economy fails to score a substantial advance in the last three months of the year.

The United States was certain to reject the package presented to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U. Thant Tuesday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga.

Positions Clarified
U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson met for 3½ hours Tuesday night with Kuznetsov and said the talk was "constructive." He said it "served to identify and clarify the positions of both countries on the unresolved issues."

Kuznetsov presumably presented the new Soviet-Cuban proposal to Stevenson. The American delegate was believed to have countered with the main U.S. demands—that the Soviet Union withdraw its 11,228 jet bombers from Cuba and permit adequate verification that Soviet missile sites have been dismantled and all rockets and other offensive weapons sent back to the Soviet Union.

The new Soviet-Cuban proposal was reported based on Prime Minister Fidel Castro's five-point demand made on Oct. 23 for an

Illinois Broker Convicted on 6 Counts of Fraud

ATLANTA (AP)—An Illinois broker has been convicted on six counts of mail fraud in a $1 million dollar operation to gain control of an Atlanta insurance firm.

Paul E. Temple, 50, of Evanston, Ill., was convicted Tuesday night after a U.S. District Court jury deliberated more than five hours. Judge Boyd Sloan delayed sentencing. Each count carries a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment.

The jury acquitted Temple's former secretary, Miss Eva Woodall, also of Evanston.

Temple, Miss Woodall and Roy E. Bishop of Northbrook, Ill., were indicted on charges of taking over the Georgia Casualty and Surety Co. by false pretenses and fraud to suggest that the balance had been tipped decisively in our favor.

Johnson said that because Kennedy knows this, "that is why he has been unwilling to encourage Americans to celebrate as a victory this episode in a battle which still goes on—and will go on for much time to come."

No Bar to Unity Among Free People

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will never give any pledge fortifying communism against "the united action of free men, in this hemisphere or any other."

With the Cuban situation still unsettled and the possibility looming of new Soviet threats to Berlin, Johnson declared:

"In the future, as in the past, we must be, and we shall be, ready to meet force with force and to seek honorable peace with all others who seek honorable peace also."

The vice president said in a speech prepared for the American Petroleum Institute that while the crisis in Cuba is fading for the moment, "the elements of continuing danger remain, in the same precarious balance as before" in the cold war.

Then he said:

Americas to Stay Free
"The purpose of the United States remains unchanged toward this hemisphere: we intend that the Americas shall be free of communism, free of those who serve Communist masters and—through the joint efforts of the Alliance for Progress—free of the seeds from which communism grows."

"The United States has not—and we will never—enter any commitment by which Communist imperialism shall be fortified against the united action of free men, in this hemisphere or any other."

In an exchange of letters late last month when the Cuban crisis was at the boiling point, President Kennedy gave Soviet Premier Khrushchev "assurances against an invasion of Cuba" if the Russians would remove their offensive weapons from the island.

No Firm Decision
Whether such a no-invasion pledge under those circumstances would apply only to the present Cuban crisis has never been explained publicly by the Kennedy administration. With Soviet jet bombers still in Cuba and with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro balking at any U.S. verification on the removal of offensive weapons, the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement is still up in the air.

Johnson, who sat in on the Cuban strategy sessions at the White House as a member of the National Security Council, did not specifically mention the no-invasion pledge.

He did not indicate whether "the united action of free men" might apply to moves such as economic or political pressures.

The vice president said that the strong stand taken on Cuba by the United States has prevented the balance of power from being tipped against the free world.

"But at the same time," he said, "it would be fantasy and folly to suggest that the balance has been tipped decisively in our favor."

Johnson said that because Kennedy knows this, "that is why he has been unwilling to encourage Americans to celebrate as a victory this episode in a battle which still goes on—and will go on for much time to come."

Moscow-Peiping Breach Increasing

BY PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Several years ago an American guest at the Soviet embassy here was besieged by his Russian hosts with one question: "Why does not your government recognize the 'New China'?"

The "New China" was, of course, Communist China, and the American politely parried the question with innocuous replies until he became annoyed with the persistence of one Soviet official.

"Look," the American finally explained, "why don't you stop this 'New China' recognition line. One of these days you Russians will be rushing to the State Department and the White House, knocking on doors and pleading for a mutual security pact, lend lease, or what have you, to protect yourselves against your 'New China' comrades."

Expecting a rapid rebuttal, the American was surprised when the persistent Russian leaned back in his chair, smiled wanly and with a shrug, said, "Perhaps you are right"—and then promptly dropped the subject.

Events have not brought Soviet-Chinese relations to this point, and no responsible U. S. official believes that Moscow will cozy up to Washington because of a Peiping menace in the foreseeable future.

At the same time, the dispute between the two Communist Governments has become more acute.

'Hunting-Pak' Now Offered by Post-Crescent

The Post-Crescent announces a new service to its subscribers today in the form of "Hunting-Pak." Similar to "Vacation-Pak" offered during the summer months, the service is designed to accommodate subscribers who do not wish to have the trouble of stopping and starting delivery, nor lose the trend of the news and favorite daily features, while away on hunting trips.

Subscribers are urged to notify their neighborhood news-carriers of their desire to take advantage of the Hunting-Pak service. News-carriers will then save all Post-Crescent copies while they are away and deliver them—neatly wrapped—upon their return.

With the publication of the annual Christmas Opening Edition, Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, many subscribers are expected to avail themselves of the service, which is provided at no extra cost.

Murder Charges Filed Against 5 in Slaying Of Louisiana Student

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)—Murder charges have been filed against five Negroes in the mistaken-identity slaying of a senior of Northwestern State College here.

John F. Fisher III, 22, from Detroit, Mich., was shot early Sunday as he stood with friends in front of his apartment.

Murder charges signed by Sheriff Earl Morris were placed Monday against Edward Ward, 45, who admitted firing the bullet that killed Fisher. Charges were filed Tuesday against Charles Cagle, 17; William Chevalier, 20; Earl Edward Davis, 18; and George Wright, 40.

The five are being held in an undisclosed jail.

Fisher was killed by a bullet fired from a passing car. Ward told police he and the three younger Negroes had gone looking for two white youths who had scuffled with the Negroes earlier in the evening.

He said Fisher was wearing clothes similar to those of one of the other white youths.

Ike Didn't Try to Stop Hiss TV Appearance

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he was amazed when he learned that Alger Hiss was to be on an American Broadcasting Co. television program about Richard M. Nixon. But he says he did not ask that Hiss be cut off.

ABC executive James C. Hagerty backed up Eisenhower's assertion that he made no effort to obtain deletion of the Hiss portion of the program, which dealt with Nixon's political career.

Eisenhower said Tuesday in answer to questions that he telephoned Hagerty, White House press secretary under Eisenhower and now an American Broadcasting Co. vice president in charge of news, before the ABC program was aired last Sunday.

He said he wanted "to find out what it was all about," but did not ask Hagerty to eliminate Hiss from the taped program.

Eisenhower said he "expressed amazement" upon learning that Hiss—a convicted perjurer first exposed by Nixon—was among those interviewed on the program.

"But never in my life have I asked anybody not to report a story after they got it fully," Eisenhower said.

Hagerty had the ultimate responsibility for televising the controversial program.

Eisenhower's name got into the controversy after a Buffalo (N.Y.) Evening News account of remarks by Republican National Chairman William E. Miller who told of Eisenhower's contacting Hagerty.

Official Says State Won't Condemn Outagamie Jail

Action Needed Now, He Says, and Indicates Remedies a Must

"The state has no intention at this time of condemning the Outagamie County Jail," a state official told the Outagamie County Board Tuesday afternoon, "but we want some recognition from you as to the problems which exist."

V. A. Verhulst, detention supervisor of the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, Division of Corrections, told the board members the county jail was a good jail when it was constructed 20 years ago.

"But," he went on, "within the last five years the average daily population has risen from 19 to 49. Today," he said "the jail has 55 inmates."

"This does not meet present day standards," Verhulst went on, "the protection of the individual's health is important."

"We intend to make firm recommendations in the future," he stressed to the board.

Wisconsin Outstanding

Verhulst pointed out that Wisconsin is known as one of the outstanding states in the correctional area.

"We have already developed the Huber Law," he said, "and Outagamie County leads in the development of the Huber Law."

"But," Verhulst explained, "if you think the individual's well-being isn't important, you have failed. The Huber Law is good, because it maintains employment, family life and the public economy. This law keeps families off the welfare rolls."

"It's time the county board recognizes this problem," he pointed out, "not because of the present situation or the past, but because of the growth in population, industrial development and the change in the type of jail inmate."

"The average man in jail today is a young man, not the 50-year-old alcoholic, and he is there for a felony, theft, burglary, or non-support."

"We need more security from some prisoners," Verhulst stressed, "and more rehabilitation possibilities for others."

He told the supervisors that the state cannot build enough prisons to take care of county failures. "Repeaters are turned over to the state prisons."

"Your problems are swept under the rug of the state," Verhulst charged.

Of the 58 inmates in the Outagamie County jail today, 29 are sentenced under the Huber Law, Verhulst said, and with the normal rate of growth, that figure will be 100 in five years with approximately half of them Huber Law prisoners.

Need Action Now

"There is a need for action now," he told the board members, "seven prisoners are now being held for Outagamie County in the Winnebago County jail."

Verhulst gave a hint of what the future may hold for Outagamie County. "Eau Claire County now charges $5 per day in addition to the daily cost for every prisoner in the jail from other counties. And Columbia County charges a $19 daily rate."

Verhulst said this may not happen to Outagamie County, "but it's something to think about."

"If Outagamie County starts a building program now, it will be two years before any pressure is relieved."

"We're not trying to tell you what to do," he emphasized, "but we are responsible for the health and public welfare of people in jail."

"We have no intention now of condemning the jail, but it may be necessary in the future to limit the number of people in your jail."

Outagamie to Continue Its Own Highway Construction

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County will continue to do its own highway construction work with its own machinery and crews.

The decision came Tuesday afternoon in the wake of a shouting, desk-pounding debate in which supervisors once again defeated a proposal to cut in private contractors for a piece of the county's highway construction pie.

In an incidental move, the supervisors accepted the Highway Committee's proposed $776,213 budget without a change. Defeated was an attempt to have $10,000 shaved from the winter maintenance fund.

Supv. Al C. Fischer, long an outspoken advocate of a plan to have private firms take over the county's construction work, ignited two hours of haggling when he introduced a resolution asking the Highway Committee to advertise for private contractors' bids on six county trunk projects. The final vote killing the resolution was 43 to 9.

He proposed these projects as suitable for offers from private firms:

- County Trunk C, from one-half mile south of County Trunk EE to County Trunk S; County Trunk E from Freedom to County Trunk EE; County Trunk CC, from County Trunk OO to County Trunk JJ; County Trunk J, from County Trunk M to County Trunk TT; County Trunk TT, from County Trunk M one and three quarters miles west from Hortonville, and County Trunk UU, from County Trunk N to County Trunk U.

Supv. Ervin Conradt of the Town of Bovina, a member of the Highway Committee, immediately stood up and pointed out what he considers an example of private contracting overestimates.

"The amount it cost the state to construct the new U.S. 41 north of Appleton was $383,301 over the amount bid by the contractor," Conradt charged.

Supv. Mark Catlin of Appleton stated that Fischer's resolution didn't ask for bids to be let, only for comparative costs. "A year ago the Highway Committee asked us to bring this matter up at the budget session and all we're doing is what they asked us to do."

"Everyone in Outagamie County would benefit from this," Catlin said.

Catlin introduced an amendment to Fischer's resolution which would specify that the county would not have to let the bids, and that the highway committee have the power to reject any bids.

"I don't have any commitments one way or another," he said, "I just think that we should have a right to inspect other bids."

Supr. Russell De La Hunt of Kaukauna disagreed with Catlin, saying he didn't like the prestige such a move would put on the highway committee. "They may be put into the position to have to reject lower bids," he said. "The question is: Do we

Waupaca Will Pay Levies

Measure Includes $27,911 for State Forestry Purposes

WAUPACA — The county board Tuesday adopted a resolution, certifying the special assessments and levies charged against the county and included provisions to pay them in the 1962 tax levy.

It includes $27,911 for state taxes for forestry purposes, $55,371 for state taxes for charitable and penal purposes; $4,760 as other special charges by the state, $8 against the Town of Farmington for social security charges, $78,400 for county school taxes, $17,772 as special school district loans, $13,990 prorated on the equalized valuation of the towns of Fremont, Harrison, Helvetia, Iola, Lind, Mukwa, Royalton, Scandinavia, St. Lawrence, Waupaca, Weyauwega and Wyoming, and the villages of Fremont, Iola, and Scandinavia for the operation of the county school superintendent's office.

They included the $2,000 for soldier's relief, $5,000 for bridges assessed against all but New London, Clintonville and Waupaca, and $127,500 for social security and $654,000 as a general tax levy.

$435,626 Budget Drafted By Chilton City Council

Four Youths Steal Auto

Juvenile Boys Take Car From Lot, Crash On Clintonville Curve

CLINTONVILLE — Four juvenile boys are being referred to the welfare department and investigation is continuing as a result of the boys stealing a car Sunday night off the Tripod Chevrolet used car lot, Clintonville, according to Police Chief James Beggs.

The 1934 model car was wrecked when the driver failed to negotiate a curve in the road, east of the city limits.

Through an investigation on Monday, city police determined the names of the four involved. The car was described as a total loss. All were shaken in the accident.

The first report of the wrecked car came to Clintonville police about 11 p.m. Sunday. There were no license plates on the vehicle, so ownership could not be determined immediately.

The Waupaca County Traffic patrol assisted the investigation.

Weyauwega Man Named Board Head

WEYAUWEGA — Allen Ireton, 2, Weyauwega was named Monday night to replace the late Dolye Springer on the elementary board of education.

Also at the meeting, Charles Peterson, a long time member of the board was named to fill the position of board president, which also was held by Springer.

Peterson, who operates the Quality Seed and Feed Co. at Weyauwega, has served as a member of the elementary board of education since it was changed from the city system to the common school system. During his years on the board he served for three years as clerk.

Ireton operates a dairy farm in the town of Lind.

Springer, who died unexpectedly last week of a heart attack, had been a member of the board for 16 years.

Fire Destroys Newspaper Plant at Omro

OSHKOSH — The Omro Herald newspaper was almost totally destroyed by fire late Monday afternoon.

Owner of the weekly paper, Paul Kimble, this morning said he did not know if the paper would publish this week but that it looked doubtful.

The paper's press was almost totally destroyed as well as the stereotype department and much of the building. Kimble said the place looked as if a bomb had hit.

The fire was discovered about 4:15 p.m. by Guy Tice, Omro manager of the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. He was walking at the rear of the building and saw smoke coming up through the roof.

The fire apparently started in the area of the stereotype room. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined but state fire marshals were going over the ruins today.

All of the newspaper's archives, dating back to the 1890s, were destroyed as were many of the business papers. Kimble crawled 901 less than the $113,936 levy set a year ago.

While the levy for city purposes increased, Chilton's taxpayers will not be rapped as hard this year for taxes for school purposes and for the first time in several years.

Hilbert Proposal School Costs, Budget Hike Prompt Tax Jump

HILBERT — Mounting school costs and a larger contribution to the Calumet County budget than originally anticipated have resulted in a proposed $2 tax rate hike to finance the 1963 village budget.

The new rate set by the village board at a special meeting is $30.50 compared with a $37.50 rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1961.

Originally it was thought that a 30-cent increase, boosting the rate to about $38 per $1,000 would be sufficient. However, the village's share of the school district budget turned out to be $34,657 compared with $28,628 in the 1962 budget. Its share of county and state taxes is $15,044 in the 1963 budget compared with $12,631 last year.

The complete budget has not yet been prepared for publication but it is expected to total about $99,000. Anticipated revenues from sources other than direct taxes will total about $25,446 leaving about a $73,500 levy for all purposes.

Waupaca Road Employees Gain Wage Increase

WAUPACA — County highway department employees received a 5 per cent wage increase this year, Supv. J. F. Sampsell, Town of Harrison, highway committee secretary, told the board.

Sampsell read the minutes of the 55 highway committee meeting to the county board.

The committee also adopted a resolution pertaining to holiday pay. It stated no one will receive paid holiday times unless he is actively at work, the day preceding the holiday and the work day after the holiday unless he is on vacation or sick due to personal injury or sickness.

It also stated no person shall receive paid holiday time if he is receiving workmen's compensation at the time of the holiday due to injury on the job.

The resolution also said an employee service will be terminated unless an employee requests a leave of absence after one month's absence from work due to sickness or accident not under workmen's compensation insurance.

Hearing Set Nov. 26 for Electors; Tax Rate Won't Change if Expenditures Aren't Altered

CHILTON — A record $435,626 budget has been drafted by the City Council for presentation to the city's electors at the public budget hearing Nov. 26.

Although the total budget is $13,104 higher than the $422,722 budget adopted a year ago and the total levy, $309,965, is up $13,228, the 1961 tax rate of $39.75 per $1,000 of assessed valuation will remain if the budget is adopted without revision. This is expected.

A broadened tax base offsets the hike. Taxes for the 1963 budget will be levied against an assessed valuation of $7,797,865 and will produce the boosted levy without a rate increase. Last year the city's assessed valuation was $7,465,155, about $332,000 under the new base.

Coupled with the increase in taxable property, anticipated increases in revenues from sources other than taxes help equalize the overall hike. The outside revenues next year are expected to amount to $125,661 compared with the $118,932 nine-month actual, three-month estimated figure for the current year. The difference is $6,729.

Expenditures Set

Total expenditures for city purposes in 1963 have been set at $252,498. Subtracting the $125,661 in anticipated outside revenues, the total levy for city purposes is $126,837. This is $12,312 less than the $139,336 levy set a year ago.

While the levy for city purposes increased, Chilton's taxpayers will not be rapped as hard this year for taxes for school purposes and for the first time in several years.

Chilton will pay $125,819 as its share of the Chilton Joint School District budget. In the 1962 budget, the city contributed $131,863 in taxes for school purposes.

Bringing about the $6,044 reduction was the recent school district reorganization that added more than $8 million to the district's tax base and spread the burden over a wider area.

Chilton's county tax apportionment is $34,651 compared with $48,431 in the 1962 budget. Increased county spending, in the record 1963 budget accounts for the $6,220 difference. The new state tax apportionment is $2,657 compared with $2,510 a year ago.

A breakdown of expenditures for city purposes shows the $48,700 appropriation for streets and transportation as the largest single account. The actual and estimated expenditures for this account this year totals $63,945. The entire $15,200 difference between the two years is accounted for by the crush base surfacing used on Memorial Drive, Lehner, Commerce and Columbia streets during the summer. It cost $22,000. Set aside for crush next year is $4,500.

Second Largest

Debt service is the second largest expenditure totaling $38,410, a figure constant with a year ago. Up about $5,000 to a 1963 total of $33,155 is protection of persons and property. Salaries for additional police help and boosted fire hydrant rental paid to the Water Department accounts for the hike.

A $31,000 appropriation has been made for roads and streets outlay compared with $16,000 this year. Blacktop surfacing of the three aforementioned streets next summer is responsible for the increase.

Down sharply is the appropriation for other roadway structures outlay. The 1963 budget gives $21,200 to this account compared with $168,675 spent in 1962. Construction costs totaling about $35,000 for the street department garage and major machinery purchases are the principal factors. Last year's appropriation did not meet the year's expenditures, made largely with money set aside in special accounts during the years.

The general government appropriation is $29,775, an insignificant increase.

Other Expenditures

Other expenditure factors remaining almost constant are health and sanitation, $12,775; education and recreation, $16,097; charity, $1,525; development, $300; unclassified, $3,825; public service enterprise, $1,000; protection of persons and property outlay, $4,400; education and recreation outlay, $1,000.

Two new expenditure accounts were established. Included are a $6,335 contingency fund and $3,000 for public service enterprises outlay. The latter is the first payment to be made on a $15,000 city contribution to Calumet Memorial Hospital's expansion fund. It will be spread over five years.

Anticipated revenues include $61,228 from general sources. Utility tax and income tax from the state come under the general heading.

Gifts and grants are expected to produce $25,868. Other outside revenue sources include licenses, $2,860; permits, $300; fines and forfeitures, $3,025; special assessments, $1,000; all other general revenues, $26,645; commercial revenue, $375; rent, $800; and departmental earnings, $3,560.

NEW LONDON — The Washington High School Camera Club has started showing a series of movies on photography. These movies will be shown each Wednesday noon during the month of November and December.

These movies will point out many facts about taking pictures as well as the tricks of photography and are open for the students of the school.

Chilton School Sets Book Sales Display

CHILTON — A book fair has been scheduled for St. Mary Catholic School.

The traveling display of some 700 new volumes will be placed on sale in the new school corridor for three days, Nov. 30 to Dec. 2. The public is invited.

Proceeds from sales will be used to purchase more books for the school's new central library.

Given Shots in Clinic

Diphtheria-Tetanus Combination
Immunization Series Completed

CHILTON — About 742 elementary school children received diphtheria - tetanus combination immunization during the Calumet County immunization clinic series completed Monday, Mrs. Lois Wilcox, county nurse, said.

The low-cost immunization program was sponsored jointly by the County Board's health committee and the Calumet County Medical Association. The latter's doctor members donated their services to the clinic in their respective communities. Mrs. Wilcox scheduled the series and handled arrangements.

Receiving the serum were kindergarten children, first and second graders from all the county schools. Clinics were held at Chilton, New Holstein, Brillion, Hilbert, Stockbridge and Sherwood.

A follow-up clinic series will be scheduled during the week beginning Dec. 10, Mrs. Wilcox said. This will be to administer the second immunization to about 130 children who received their first shot at the November series.

Mrs. Wilcox also reminded parents of eligible children who for some reason missed the immunization in November that the first of the two-shot series may be obtained at one of three clinics in December. The second immunization would then be administered at the family doctor's office.

Sewer System For Shiocton Nears Finish

Report to Board Shows Project Nearly Completed

Shiocton — Village Board members were informed Monday night that the $400,000 public service building program which includes a sewage system, and water system will be completed within the next 10 days.

Engineer Dennis Shinks in his report to the board said the sewage treatment plant will be completed in about a week and the entire project except the well pumphouse will be completed by Nov. 24. The well and water tower are already completed, he said.

The plans for the pump house and pump have been completed and are at Madison awaiting final approval by the Public Service commission. The well building will be 10x20 feet and the pump will have a 500 gallon per minute capacity.

Shinks said water from the well has been tested and the reports are satisfactory.

In other business the board signed a contract with the Schwandt Implement Co. for the removal of snow. The contract calls for a price of $8 per unit per hour.

The board also granted the Catholic Church permission to install curb and gutter in front of the church.

Wesley Halle, a member of the board volunteered to take the daily readings at the sewage treatment plant and also any minor duties that are required at the plant.

The board also okayed installation of an ice skating rink on vacant lots near State Highway 51 providing the Fire Department agrees to do the flooding.

Brillion WSCS Talks On Frontier Mission

BRILLION — "New Frontiers in Home Missions" was the theme of the Thursday afternoon meeting of the WSCS of the Brillion Methodist Church. Topic leader was Mrs. Alvin Wolfmeyer. The theme dealt with changes taking place in home mission work.

During the business meeting it was decided to give $25 to World Service, and to send cookies to the orphanage in Berea, Ohio. Mrs. Ida Reichardt and Mrs. Gast are in charge.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Philip Bastian.

Weather Forecasting Service Criticized

Whether the Outagamie County Highway Department's storm warning service is a necessity came up for considerable discussion at Tuesday morning's county board session. The board decided to leave money for the survey in the highway budget.

Accused Killer Enters Plea Of Innocent

STEVENS POINT (AP) — A young Wisconsin Rapids mill worker pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity today to two counts of first degree murder in the slaying of a father and son last week.

Ronald Edward Rickman, 23, entered the plea before Portage County Judge James H. Levi in connection with the gunshot deaths of Frank and Robert Wesely, aged 80 and 37, in a remote wooded area where the Weselys were cutting pulp last Wednesday.

Judge Levi appointed Clifford Peickert, a Stevens Point attorney, to represent Rickman, and set Nov. 19 for a preliminary hearing.

Rickman, neatly dressed and showing no emotion, told the court he was without funds to hire counsel. His wife of six months, Judy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rickman, were in the courtroom. All appeared composed.

Authorities filed charges against Rickman after ballistics tests at the State Crime Laboratory indicated, they said, that the shots which killed the Weselys could have come from a weapon found in Rickman's car. Sheriff Emil Meshak said authorities had contacted a witness who claimed to have seen Rickman running from a loaded pulp truck near which Robert Wesely's body was found.

Parent-Teacher League Has Meeting at Clintonville School

CLINTONVILLE — The parent-teacher league of the St. Martin Lutheran Church School met Monday night in the school gym. Following the general theme, "Getting Into Orbit," this month's topic, "Operation Planets on the Growing Child," was discussed in various sessions according to age groups. Mrs. Harry Caskey was the program chairman.

The program opened with a physical fitness performance by eighth grade boys Paul Eberhardt, Tom Bueening, Mike Fillnow, Gregory Steinke, John Sisson, Jerry Schmidt, Robert Kersten and Donald Kirchner. Lester Zimmerman directed the demonstration. Discussion leaders for the program topic were Mr. and Mrs. Florian Felts, for the teen-age group; the Rev. Edgar Barg, the 10 to 13 year olds; Mrs. Vilas Krueger, eight and nine year-olds; Mrs. Victor Schuler, six and seven year olds, and Mrs. Herman Gardner, from birth to five years old.

expenditure was a waste of money because of radio and TV forecasts that are available to everyone. "This is $1,000 that goes down the drain," he charged. Clarence Brownson, highway commissioner, explained that the service, which comes from a Skokie, Ill., firm, predicts the weather, gives the county an alert, tells how long the warning is in effect, and details for various sections of the county just what type of weather will come and how it will affect the area.

They give the probability of trouble on ten different levels, he said. They even give us pavement temperatures, so that we know how heavy a sand or chloride application to take out on the trucks, Brownson said.

Where is that man who takes the pavement temperatures? Supv. Al C. Fischer of Appleton asked. "I think he is in Clintonville," Brownson said.

"Tell me his name and address," Fischer shot back. Before Brownson could answer, Fischer said, "You can't give me his name, because such a man doesn't exist."

Supv. Philip Retson accused Fischer of being "way out of line." He said, "I could supply the same information to the county that they get, but I'd be charging a lot more. We're paying for more than just ability, we're paying for a professional service. They're doing a very good job."

Kloes said, "We've come a long way since the days of the Farmer's Almanac. We can be guided very well by TV and radio."

"Oh yeah," Conradt replied, "I listen to the weather forecast three times a day. One day last summer they said the weather would be fair and clear, so I decided to cut my hay."

"Well," he said, "it rained for 24 hours and I had a lot of wet hay."

Brownson explained that the weather service the county receives is a specialized service which predicts weather specifically for Outagamie County and gives probable precipitation amounts.

Kloes made a motion that the weather warning service be stricken from the budget. The vote was 48 against and four for the motion by Kloes.

Voting for the motion were Kloes, Supv. Sylvester Esler of Appleton's 18th Ward, Supv. Desmond Schade of Appleton's 20th Ward and Supv. Joseph J. Weyers of Freedom.

Indians Favored; Manawa, Paca, Amherst Seen as Top Challengers

CENTRAL WISCONSIN CONFERENCE
(Final 1961-2 Standings)
	W	L		W
Weyauwega	12	2	Waupaca	6
Amherst	9	4	Wittenberg	5
Iola-Scand.	9	3	Bonduel	4
Manawa	8	4	Marion	3

The Central Wisconsin Conference coaches have once again pointed a finger at Weyauwega. Coach Jim Otte's Indians, with eight lettermen returning from a 1962-63 championship quintet, are the favorites for a repeat performance in the coming season.

Manawa, Waupaca and Amherst have been labeled as stiff challengers, with Wautoma tabbed as a darkhorse because of its unknown quantity. This will be the first season of competition in the CWC for Wautoma.

The loop jumps right into conference competition in its initial games Friday. Marion travels to Tigerton in the CWC's first non-conference affair. The entire CWC slate calls for 17 non-conference and 72 conference tilts.

Despite the eight monogram winners, Otte feels his team will be handicapped in early-season games due to the fact that they do not have a big gym in which to practice. A new gym is under construction and is due to be completed sometime in December.

Otte has been taking the team to Waupaca one night a week to get some experience on a big court. With the construction of the new athletic plant, the Indians may not have a "home" contest until late in December, or early January.

A rundown on the teams follows:

WEYAUWEGA — Otte is counting on some of the lettermen to replace fellows like Dick Barker, Jack Paschke and John Buchholz. The letter winners are seniors Jack Wohlt, Ward Weiss, Ed Mathwig, Jim Keeney, Dennis Peterson, Ron Behn, Gary Hoberger, and Harold Barker.

Mathwig and Keeney represent the height at 6-3. Weiss, at 6-2, is also counted on for rebound power. Wohlt suffered a broken nose in football and will get a somewhat late start.

WAUPACA — Coach Al Schlatter has two lettermen at his disposal and apparently the team will be built around the pair. Gary Johanknecht (6-3), a junior, will be a tower of strength under the boards while senior Bill Spiegler (5-10) will lead the backcourt brigade.

Senior Glenn Pasvogel, a transfer from Arlington Heights, Ill., is expected to help the front line. Others that are battling for starting positions are Brian Erickson, Tom Halverson, Tom Berto (currently injured) and sophomore Doug Kolb.

MANAWA — Coach Stu Courchaine has seven lettermen back with the diminutive Bill Rhode leading the way. Rohde (5-8), an intelligent slick ball-handler with a great pair of hands, posted a 19-point per game scoring average last season.

The other lettermen are John Hoffman, Jim Buschke, Gary Jepson, Don Thiel and Cal Pruess. Sophomore Bill Tessen (5-9) might also help.

AMHERST — Seven lettermen, including three starters, are returning to Coach Neil Fuller at Amherst. The starters are Gary Thompson (6-1), Jonathon Oberman (6-0), and Dave Hintz (6-0). John Frizzel (6-0), Wayne Carey

(6-0), and Barry Osicka (6-0) also won letters last year as did John Pitt, who showed good scoring punch as a freshman last year. Fuller reports that he has real good scrap for positions but feels that the team may be a year away.

WAUTOMA — Wautoma, under coach Lyle Schultz, boasts the circuit's tallest cager in 6-5 senior center Dick Baumann. Schultz also has six other monogram winners in David Peterson, Bob Chipman, Kenny Hornig, Chuck Piper, Jerry Caswell, and Kenny Bateman.

Wautoma tied for the 7-C Conference championship, with Adams-Friendship, last season.

BONDUEL — Coach Louis Kroll starts his second year at Bonduel with four lettermen on hand. He lost five veterans, including the leading CWC scorer—Gary Hovey—and playmaker Bill Brecken.

The veterans are Owen Boettcher, Jim Sager, Gene Luepke and Bob Brodthagen. Kroll has an eye to the future, however as 14 out of the 25 candidates are sophomores.

IOLA-SCANDINAVIA — John Gjertson and Jim Sorenson are the only two lettermen returning to coach Dale Weygandt. They were two of the starters on last year's team that deadlocked for second place.

The starters lost are Dennis Biedermann, Dan Roe, and Bill Larson. Candidates to replace them are Terry Erickson, Howie Cleaves, Dick Hoyord and Bob Lantz.

MARION — Marion will get a bye in the first week's CWC slate and will play at Tigerton. Mike Asenbrenner (5-11) leads a host of candidates. Others are Jerry Moericke, Larry Pockat, Dennis Bradenburg, John Pockat, John Hensclin, Dick Beil, Gary Much, and Dave Suehring.

WITTENBERG — Coach John Aton has five lettermen back. All range between 5-11 and 6-1. The quintet is made up of Don Liesch, Mike Swenson, Steve Strong, Jeff Haanstad and Ernst Berndt.

Two sophomores that may help are Steve Bloecher (6-4) and Steve Voltz (6-1).

'62 Tax Rate Difference To be Less in New London

NEW LONDON — A notice of the state sales tax credit to be received in both Waupaca County and Outagamie County portions of the city show the difference in the tax rates between the counties will not be so great this year.

In past years residents living in the Outagamie County portion of the city, the Third Ward, have had a smaller tax rate due to the difference in the two county taxes. Credit for Outagamie County residents of the city for 1962 real estate taxes and personal property taxes will be $3.44 per $1,000 of assessed valuation compared with a credit of $5.70 in Waupaca County. Credit will be deducted from the entire tax bill.

The total amount of credit for the Outagamie portion of the city is $7,601 and for Waupaca County portion of the city $47,013. There also will be a 50 per cent

Brillion Coach Starts to Build '62 Cage Team

Only One Letterman Returning to Squad Which Tied for Title

BRILLION — A major rebuilding task confronts Harry Drier, new cage coach for Brillion High School.

Drier has only one returning letterman. Last year's Lion team rolled to the co-championship by compiling a 17-5 record. Gone are Lowell Reese, Ron Hansen, Don Heimke and Ken Belanger.

Jim Ross, a 5-11 sophomore guard, is the only numeral winner among the group of varsity candidates.

Aside from Ross, top candidates for varsity berths listed by Drier include Gary Koffarnus, a 6-1 senior forward, Don Gotter, 5-8 senior guard, Steve Kinney, 5-6 senior guard, Bob Jansch, 6-0 senior forward, Roney Tikalsky, 6-3 1/2 senior forward, Jay Froh, 6-1 senior guard, Eugene Novak, 6-0 junior forward, Randy Moore, 6-0 junior forward, Henry Carstens,

Car Damaged, Deer Killed in Accident Near Stockbridge

STOCKBRIDGE — A deer was killed and a late model car was badly damaged when the two met on State 55 about 3 1/2 miles north of here at 5:10 p.m. Monday.

Norbert J. Schroven, 37, Stockbridge, was driving north when the deer, bounded onto the highway in front of him. Calumet County police said. Schroven's car skidded a short distance when he applied the brakes in an attempt to avoid hitting the animal. The car wound up in the right ditch.

Damage to the fender, hood, radiator, grille and bumper was estimated at $500.
